

Coming Events Told By Presbyterians

Dr. D. Kirkland West will preach on "It Is Later Than You Think" at both morning services of First Presbyterian church Sunday.

At the 9:30 a.m. service the Westminster choir will sing the anthem, "Be Merciful Unto Me, O God" and at the 11 a.m. service the chancel choir will sing, "Hear My Cry, O Lord." The choir are under the direction of Lynn Sjolund.

At both services Otis Swisher, tenor, will sing the solo, "I Wonder As I Wander."

The public reception of the new members received into the church last week will take place Sunday, June 7, at both services. The sacrament of baptism for infants will be administered on June 14. Parents who are members of the Presbyterian or other Protestant churches and who desire baptism for their infant children may make application at the church office.

There will be no junior high or senior high youth meetings this Sunday due to the Medford high school baccalaureate service.

Ashland - "Consecration of Body" will be the Sunday sermon topic at both the 9:45 and 11 a.m. worship services at Ashland First Presbyterian church. The Rev. B. J. Holland, minister, will speak.

Monday at 6:45 p.m. the property and finance committee will meet at a meeting of the session.

Central Point - "Beyond Politics" will be the sermon subject Sunday by the Rev. Bruce J. Weber, pastor of the Central Point First Presbyterian church, at the 11 a.m. worship service.

Westminster Fellowship will meet at 7 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Foote, scenic ave. June Hopkins will be in charge.

Congregational Sermon Subjects

The sermon by the Rev. Thomas McCamant at the Congregational church for the day after tomorrow will be on "The Fine Art of Forgetting." The service is at 10 a.m. Church school meets at the same hour. Visitors are welcome.

A new series of membership classes has begun, meeting on Thursday evenings. These classes are not for the purpose of "indoctrination," since the church believes in helping people to think for themselves about Christian belief and practice. Consequently, the discussion method is followed in the classes.

The series of four topics now being considered is: "God and Man," "Christian Living," "Churches and Our Church" and "Privileges and Responsibilities."

At the annual meeting of the Congregational Conference of Oregon last week Dr. Perry Avery, pastor of the Federated Church of Corvallis was elected the new moderator. He was the speaker at the fifth anniversary banquet of the Medford church last April. One of the programs of the conference meeting was in honor of the five Oregon Congregational churches which are more than 100 years old.

Memory To Be Sunday Subject

Memorial day will be observed in the services Sunday morning at the First Christian church. The Rev. William C. Piper will preach on the subject "The Importance of Memory" at both worship services. At the first service Miss Jane Daniels will sing a solo and at the 10:35 service the chancel choir will present the anthem "Oh Lord, Redeemer." The graduating high school seniors will be given recognition at the second service.

Mrs. Frank Chapman and Mrs. William Roberts will be hostesses at the coffee hour which will follow the second service.

There will be no Christian Youth Fellowship meetings Sunday night because of the baccalaureate services. June 7 several members of the Youth Fellowship will leave for their annual church camp at Camp Myrtlewood.

Tuesday, June 2, the annual fellowship dinner and business meeting will be held at 6:45 p.m. New officers for the coming year will be elected and the budget presented for approval.

BIBLE SCHOOL. Daily vacation Bible school will begin June 8 and continue through 12 at Forest Acres Community church. The classes will be held from 9 until 11:30 a.m. each day.

Wednesday, June 3, at 7:45 p.m. the third of a series of three membership discussion classes will be held. The topic to be considered is "Presbyterian Government."

Attention is called to church sponsored summer activities. There will be a Junior High camp from June 21-27 and a Senior High conference from June 14-20, both at Camp McLoughlin, Lake of the Woods. Also there will be an adult leadership training school at Lewis and Clark college from July 26 to Aug. 1.

Jacksonville - The Rev. King K. Jones, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Jacksonville, will speak on "The Impossible-God's Speciality" at the 11 a.m. worship service Sunday.

The junior choir will sing "Though Your Sins be as Scarlet."

At 6 p.m. another in a series of classes for new members will be held in the Fellowship hall. The topic will be "Where Presbyterianism Originated." All young people interested in Presbyterian church history are invited to attend.

The Jacksonville Westminster fellowship will meet at 7:30 p.m.

Phoenix - Sunday, the Rev. William Saladin, pastor of Phoenix First Presbyterian church, will speak on "The Unfinished Task" at the 11 a.m. service.

A nursery is conducted for younger children. A junior church is held during the 11 a.m. services for youngsters from 6 to 10 years old. Everyone is invited to the coffee hour following the service.

The youth group has been discontinued for the summer and will continue after school starts in the fall. Bible study sessions are held every Wednesday at 6:45 p.m. for all interested persons and at 10 a.m. Fridays at the parsonage for the women. Mr. Saladin has regular office hours from 3 to 5 p.m. on Wednesdays for all those wishing counsel.

A total of $1,300 is yet to be made in pledges and cash towards the building mortgage. A total of $400 has been collected in cash since the campaign opened a month ago and $1,300 in pledges.

Rogue River - Tuesday, June 2, there will be a family potluck dinner at Hope Presbyterian church in Fellowship hall at 6:30 p.m. High school graduates of the congregation will be honored.

Immediately following the dinner, the children's and youth choirs will present their final concert of the season. Choirs participating include Choral, Celestial, Concord, and Fideles choirs.

Everyone is invited to the potluck dinner and the concert. Those attending should bring their food and table service. Coffee, rolls, and butter will be furnished by the board of deacons.

At the annual meeting of the Congregational Conference of Oregon last week Dr. Perry Avery, pastor of the Federated Church of Corvallis was elected the new moderator. He was the speaker at the fifth anniversary banquet of the Medford church last April. One of the programs of the conference meeting was in honor of the five Oregon Congregational churches which are more than 100 years old.

There will be classes for all ages including teenagers with the program including singing, Bible and missionary stories, handicrafts, and a rhythm band.

The school will open at 9 a.m. and continue until noon daily. Children will register the first day when they arrive.

Mexico Missionaries Tell of Clothing Need. The Rev. and Mrs. Harold Burger, missionaries to Mexico who have visited in the valley, are in the need of clean, wearable clothing to be distributed among the members of their churches, it has been reported by the Rev. Van McCoy, pastor of Full Gospel Tabernacle church, here.

Persons having items that would be suitable for such distribution may contact Mr. McCoy at Spring 3-3814.

Revival Conducted at Jacksonville Church - Jacksonville - The Rev. G. W. Minton, Oceanlake, will conduct a revival at Assembly of God church, through June 14. Meetings will be held nightly except Monday and Saturday nights at 7:30 p.m. He will also conduct Bible classes each morning at 10 o'clock.

SUNDAY SERMONS. Central Point - "Three Questions" will be the subject of the 10:45 a.m. service Sunday at Church of Christ, Central Point. The evening service at the church has been cancelled due to the high school baccalaureate service scheduled. Mr. Jean M. Shelly, minister, will speak on "Promote Me Oh Lord" at the 8 p.m. service at the High School gymnasium.

Minister Appointed Circuit Visitor Here. The Rev. John E. Simon, St. Peter's Lutheran church, 1020 East Main st., has been appointed circuit visitor of the southern Oregon circuit by the Rev. Carl H. Bensene, Seattle, president of the Northwest District of the Lutheran church - Missouri Synod.

As circuit visitor he will be advisory pastor to all pastors and congregations of the Synod from Sutherlin south to the California border.

Mr. Simon came to Medford in January from Hood River. At present he also serves as interim pastor of Grace Lutheran church, Ashland.

Zion Lutheran Tells Sunday Subject. "The Peril of Memorial Day" will be the sermon subject Sunday at Zion Lutheran church by the Rev. H. C. Covert, pastor. New members will be baptized. The senior choir will sing "Rejoice With One Accord."

Sunday at 6:30 p.m. the Junior Lutherae will meet at the home of Lois Slesler.

Thursday the Sunday school teachers will meet at the church at 7:30 p.m.

OUTING PLANNED. Memorial Day outing for members of the Apostolic Faith church will be held at TouVelle State park on the Rogue river Saturday. 200 will attend. Later many members will go to Portland the last of June to attend the annual camping convention of the Apostolic Faith world-wide organization with headquarters there which will open June 28 and continue for three weeks.

Witnesses Plan For Regional Event in Eugene

Announcement was made this week that a regional convention of Jehovah's Witnesses will be held in Eugene, July 9-12. Locally, T. R. Thompson, presiding minister of the Medford congregation, said that delegates from Oregon, northern California and southern Washington will attend.

"Some 90 congregations will be represented," Thompson said. "And, judging from the reaction here, our group will be attending 100 per cent."

The convention, one of six scheduled for the West Coast this summer, will be Eugene's largest for the Centennial year. It is expected to attract visitors from every state.

Preparations Underway. Thompson said that the local congregation is making preparations, not only to attend, but to participate in the various activities connected with the Christian gathering.

"All the preparations and actual operations of the assembly, from the administration on down, are handled by volunteer workers," he explained.

"Why Are There So Many Religions?" will be the subject for the public talk Sunday at 6 p.m. at Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses, 2402 Jacksonville highway. Topic for the Watchtower study at 7:15 p.m. will be "The Perfect Government For All Mankind."

Salvation Youths To Portland Meeting. Saturday eight young people from the Salvation Army will leave to attend a two-day conference for young people, which is to be held at Jennings Lodge, out of Portland.

These councils will include such activities as workshops in which the young people will discuss problems of young people pertaining to school and church, and panel discussions with the subjects geared to the interest level of young people today.

The theme of these conferences is activate the power. The conferences will be led by Lt. Commissioner Samuel Heppburn, Territorial Commander for the Salvation Army in western United States.

An estimated 250 delegates will attend the conferences from Idaho and Oregon. Delegates from Medford include Patrick Bandy, James Bandy, Barbara Bailey, Judy Bailey, Charles Hodges, Edith Wright, Senior Capt. William Ricken and Lieut. David Petersen.

Rolland Hartley, Talent, will be guest speaker for the service at 7:30 p.m., as the pastor is to bring the address for the Medford high school baccalaureate service to be held at Hedrick Junior High school.

In the worship services at 9:45 and 11 a.m. pastor Clynton Crisman will bring messages appropriate for Memorial Day. The choir numbers will be, "The Word Is Like a Garden," by the youth choir, and "God of Our Fathers" by the adult choir. Junior church and nursery will be conducted.

Rolland Hartley, Talent, will be guest speaker for the service at 7:30 p.m., as the pastor is to bring the address for the Medford high school baccalaureate service to be held at Hedrick Junior High school.

In the worship services at 9:45 and 11 a.m. pastor Clynton Crisman will bring messages appropriate for Memorial Day. The choir numbers will be, "The Word Is Like a Garden," by the youth choir, and "God of Our Fathers" by the adult choir. Junior church and nursery will be conducted.

Rolland Hartley, Talent, will be guest speaker for the service at 7:30 p.m., as the pastor is to bring the address for the Medford high school baccalaureate service to be held at Hedrick Junior High school.

In the worship services at 9:45 and 11 a.m. pastor Clynton Crisman will bring messages appropriate for Memorial Day. The choir numbers will be, "The Word Is Like a Garden," by the youth choir, and "God of Our Fathers" by the adult choir. Junior church and nursery will be conducted.

Rolland Hartley, Talent, will be guest speaker for the service at 7:30 p.m., as the pastor is to bring the address for the Medford high school baccalaureate service to be held at Hedrick Junior High school.

In the worship services at 9:45 and 11 a.m. pastor Clynton Crisman will bring messages appropriate for Memorial Day. The choir numbers will be, "The Word Is Like a Garden," by the youth choir, and "God of Our Fathers" by the adult choir. Junior church and nursery will be conducted.

Rolland Hartley, Talent, will be guest speaker for the service at 7:30 p.m., as the pastor is to bring the address for the Medford high school baccalaureate service to be held at Hedrick Junior High school.

In the worship services at 9:45 and 11 a.m. pastor Clynton Crisman will bring messages appropriate for Memorial Day. The choir numbers will be, "The Word Is Like a Garden," by the youth choir, and "God of Our Fathers" by the adult choir. Junior church and nursery will be conducted.

Rolland Hartley, Talent, will be guest speaker for the service at 7:30 p.m., as the pastor is to bring the address for the Medford high school baccalaureate service to be held at Hedrick Junior High school.

In the worship services at 9:45 and 11 a.m. pastor Clynton Crisman will bring messages appropriate for Memorial Day. The choir numbers will be, "The Word Is Like a Garden," by the youth choir, and "God of Our Fathers" by the adult choir. Junior church and nursery will be conducted.

Rolland Hartley, Talent, will be guest speaker for the service at 7:30 p.m., as the pastor is to bring the address for the Medford high school baccalaureate service to be held at Hedrick Junior High school.

In the worship services at 9:45 and 11 a.m. pastor Clynton Crisman will bring messages appropriate for Memorial Day. The choir numbers will be, "The Word Is Like a Garden," by the youth choir, and "God of Our Fathers" by the adult choir. Junior church and nursery will be conducted.

Rolland Hartley, Talent, will be guest speaker for the service at 7:30 p.m., as the pastor is to bring the address for the Medford high school baccalaureate service to be held at Hedrick Junior High school.

In the worship services at 9:45 and 11 a.m. pastor Clynton Crisman will bring messages appropriate for Memorial Day. The choir numbers will be, "The Word Is Like a Garden," by the youth choir, and "God of Our Fathers" by the adult choir. Junior church and nursery will be conducted.

Rolland Hartley, Talent, will be guest speaker for the service at 7:30 p.m., as the pastor is to bring the address for the Medford high school baccalaureate service to be held at Hedrick Junior High school.

In the worship services at 9:45 and 11 a.m. pastor Clynton Crisman will bring messages appropriate for Memorial Day. The choir numbers will be, "The Word Is Like a Garden," by the youth choir, and "God of Our Fathers" by the adult choir. Junior church and nursery will be conducted.

Rolland Hartley, Talent, will be guest speaker for the service at 7:30 p.m., as the pastor is to bring the address for the Medford high school baccalaureate service to be held at Hedrick Junior High school.

In the worship services at 9:45 and 11 a.m. pastor Clynton Crisman will bring messages appropriate for Memorial Day. The choir numbers will be, "The Word Is Like a Garden," by the youth choir, and "God of Our Fathers" by the adult choir. Junior church and nursery will be conducted.

Mother of Academy Principal is Adventist Course Book Subject

"Susan Haskell, Missionary," current reading course book for boys and girls of junior age in the Seventh-day Adventist Missionary Volunteer progressive classwork program is of special interest to students of Rogue River Academy, denominational school located on South Stage rd.

The book was written by Mrs. Ivy Doherty, with whom many of the youngsters are acquainted, and is the story of Susan Haskell Wilbur, mother of Fred D. Wilbur, principal of the academy.

Missionaries to China. Mrs. Wilbur and her husband, Edwin, were the first Seventh-day Adventist missionaries to the mainland of China and the book deals with her life from her first teenage contact with the Seventh-day Adventist denomination and her acceptance of its beliefs, her acquaintance with Mr. Wilbur, their subsequent marriage, and the fulfillment of their shared dream of mission work in China.

When they began their endeavors, white people whose interests were unselfish were scarcely known in China, and they were viewed with suspicion and hostility. Several close escapes from death add to the excitement of the narrative. The manners, customs, and superstitions of the Chinese at that time, the story of the lives of those whom they came to know well, and Mrs. Wilbur's continued devotion to the task they had set themselves after her husband's early death add to the interest of the story.

Worked in Chinatown. When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

Academy Principal is Adventist Course Book Subject

"Susan Haskell, Missionary," current reading course book for boys and girls of junior age in the Seventh-day Adventist Missionary Volunteer progressive classwork program is of special interest to students of Rogue River Academy, denominational school located on South Stage rd.

The book was written by Mrs. Ivy Doherty, with whom many of the youngsters are acquainted, and is the story of Susan Haskell Wilbur, mother of Fred D. Wilbur, principal of the academy.

Missionaries to China. Mrs. Wilbur and her husband, Edwin, were the first Seventh-day Adventist missionaries to the mainland of China and the book deals with her life from her first teenage contact with the Seventh-day Adventist denomination and her acceptance of its beliefs, her acquaintance with Mr. Wilbur, their subsequent marriage, and the fulfillment of their shared dream of mission work in China.

When they began their endeavors, white people whose interests were unselfish were scarcely known in China, and they were viewed with suspicion and hostility. Several close escapes from death add to the excitement of the narrative. The manners, customs, and superstitions of the Chinese at that time, the story of the lives of those whom they came to know well, and Mrs. Wilbur's continued devotion to the task they had set themselves after her husband's early death add to the interest of the story.

Worked in Chinatown. When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

When Mrs. Wilbur was forced to return to the United States because her health no longer permitted her to remain in the Orient, she continued her work for the Chinese people by living with them in San Francisco's "Chinatown."

Eastwood Baptist To Hear Guest Speaker Sunday

The Rev. A. R. Smith, director of evangelism and church extension for the Oregon Baptist convention, will speak at the 11 a.m. worship services at the Eastwood Baptist church, North Keene Way dr. at Ridgeway ave.

Retired two years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Morris will serve the Rev. and Mrs. Walter C. Morris arrived today from Oceanlake to serve the congregation of the First Church of the Nazarene in the capacity of assistant to the pastor during the summer months.

The Rev. and Mrs. Walter C. Morris arrived today from Oceanlake to serve the congregation of the First Church of the Nazarene in the capacity of assistant to the pastor during the summer months.

Retired two years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Morris will serve the Rev. and Mrs. Walter C. Morris arrived today from Oceanlake to serve the congregation of the First Church of the Nazarene in the capacity of assistant to the pastor during the summer months.

The Rev. and Mrs. Walter C. Morris arrived today from Oceanlake to serve the congregation of the First Church of the Nazarene in the capacity of assistant to the pastor during the summer months.

Retired two years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Morris will serve the Rev. and Mrs. Walter C. Morris arrived today from Oceanlake to serve the congregation of the First Church of the Nazarene in the capacity of assistant to the pastor during the summer months.

The Rev. and Mrs. Walter C. Morris arrived today from Oceanlake to serve the congregation of the First Church of the Nazarene in the capacity of assistant to the pastor during the summer months.

Retired two years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Morris will serve the Rev. and Mrs. Walter C. Morris arrived today from Oceanlake to serve the congregation of the First Church of the Nazarene in the capacity of assistant to the pastor during the summer months.

<