

Ministers' Wives Here For Methodist Meeting

Ministers' Wives of the Oregon Conference of the Methodist church gathered in Medford this week during the annual session of the Conference, planned election of officers this afternoon. The women attended a luncheon at First Presbyterian church this noon, with the business session following. Mrs. Brooks Moore, wife of the pastor of First Methodist church, Salem, is the retiring president of the Ministers' Wives.

Guests of honor for the luncheon were Mrs. A. Raymond Grant, Portland, wife of the bishop for the Portland area of the Methodist church; Mrs. Roy Nichols, Oakland, Calif., whose husband addressed the Conference last night, and the wives of the four district superintendents of the Portland area. They are Mrs. Rector Johnson, Salem; Mrs. Ernest Wilson, Portland; Mrs. Lawrence Guderian, Forest Grove and Mrs. Meredith Groves, Eugene.

Mrs. George Roseberry, wife of the pastor of First Methodist church, Medford, took charge of luncheon arrangements. She was assisted by Mrs. Donald A. Faber, Central Point, who decorated the luncheon tables. About 100 attended the luncheon and business meeting.

Yesterday afternoon the women were honored at a tea given at First Methodist church here. Wives of Methodist ministers of the Rogue Valley sub-district of the church were hostesses, with Mrs. Roseberry as chairman.

A program for the tea was given by the Rev. and Mrs. Brooks Moore, Salem. Entitled "Around the World in Eighty Days," the program featured pictures and commentary on the recent travels of the minister and his wife.

Pouring during the tea were Mrs. Herschel Hall, Ashland; Mrs. Melvin Dixon, St. Luke's church, Medford; Mrs. Wesley Turner, Grants Pass, and Mrs. Harold Mackey, Cave Junction. Eighty guests attended the tea.

Oregon Education System Plans Centennial of Arts

Salem - The Oregon State System of Higher Education has scheduled a summer-long Centennial of the Arts in connection with the Centennial Exposition.

The program will start with the International Holiday of Film, sponsored by the Oregon Historical society and the Portland Summer session at Portland State college. Films from the seven principal nations with which Oregon trades will be shown at the Oriental theater, S.E. Grand avenue and Morrison street, with nominal admission.

The Hollywood String Quartet will present the same cycle of three concerts featuring the Beethoven Quartets that it performed at the Edinburgh Festival in 1957.

This series, to be performed in the Portland State college auditorium, is scheduled for Sunday night, June 21; Tuesday night, June 23 and Thursday night, June 25.

Quartet Workshop That week there will be a workshop for string quartets each afternoon of that week. A student recital Friday night in the Portland State Recital hall will climax this activity.

From June 29-July 12 internationally noted dancer Charles Weidman of New York will conduct afternoon and evening workshops. July 10, 11 and 12 he and his master dance class will perform in the college auditorium.

A musical version of the popular 100-year-old dramatic comedy, "Our American Cousin," will be presented in the auditorium. It will incorporate "Songs That Lincoln Loved" and original dance numbers done in the period 1859-65. Students of the summer session theater workshop will make up the cast. Production will be directed by a staff headed by Charles Gaupp, head of the college's theater arts department.

Starting July 27, Francis Chapin, well known Chicago artist and one of the country's most creative colorists, will conduct a two week-long advanced painting workshop in water colors. A comprehensive selection of his works will be exhibited in the college center for one month beginning July 12.

Chapin also will give public lectures July 31 and Aug. 5. Plan Conference Portland State will hold its second annual writers' conference August 3-14. There will be workshops, panel discussions and lectures on techniques in such fields as the novel and the short story, juvenile writing, poetry, playwriting and non-fiction.

Lecturers will include Karl Shapiro, winner of the Pulitzer prize for poetry in 1945 and former editor of Poetry magazine; Evelyn Sibley Lampman, the Northwest's best known writer of girls' books; and Jacques Barzun, scholar, teacher and author of "The Teacher in America."

Dr. Barzun is dean of faculties and provost of Columbia university. His latest book, "The House of Intellect," was published this spring. He will deliver a public lecture in the auditorium August 12.

Blind Woman Declares Fear Is Greatest of Handicaps

By LILLIE PITTS
San Francisco - (UPI) - Fifteen years ago, Elena Zelayeta went blind. Eighteen months later her husband, Lawrence, was killed in an auto accident.

Today, at 61, this vivacious little woman is a popular lecturer, owner of a small frozen foods firm, and author of a new cookbook that explores the spicy delights of Mexican eating.

In spite of heartbreak and handicap, Mrs. Zelayeta discovered the recipe for a full, rich life. She sums it up as "learn to cooperate" with the "inevitable."

Left with her young sons, Lawrence Jr., and Bill to support, she turned to her one talent, cooking. She and her husband had operated a Mexican restaurant in San Francisco.

"My main handicap in learning to cook again was not blindness but fear," said Mrs. Zelayeta. "I was especially afraid of the stove and knives. But now when anyone asks me if I ever burn or cut myself, I have to laugh. After all, doesn't everyone now and then?"

Gradually Mrs. Zelayeta developed new kitchen techniques through sound and feel. She learned to separate eggs by letting them slide across her palm, to "feel" the correct heat of the oven, to time her recipes by radio announcements.

"Most important, I was able to take care of my boys," she added. "I could feel that I was being a real mother even if I did spill spinach all over Billy's face when I fed him."

It was not long before she was asked to start the first cooking school at the San Francisco center for the blind. Since then, she has taught hundreds of similarly handicapped persons to conquer their fears in the kitchen.

Mrs. Zelayeta is never too busy to invite two or 20 friends in for dinner. She will

Gold Hill Girls Present Annual Event for Mothers

Gold Hill "Garden party" was the theme for a spring fashion show and tea held Wednesday, May 20, in the Hanby school gymnasium by girls of the seventh and eighth grade home economics classes.

The event was arranged by the teacher, Mrs. Shirley Anderson, to honor the mothers of the students.

This was the sixth annual style show to be given by the classes, and was first open to the public. The show was held so the girls could model garments completed during the school year in the home economics classes.

Miss Marilou Garner, Jackson county 4-H agent, attended the event as well as Gilbert Mack, principal of the two Gold Hill schools, and Mrs. Audree Beman, school secretary.

Mrs. Ruth Brewster, music teacher, was pianist and Mrs. Anderson welcomed the guests.

Miss Jenny Lou Thompson, eighth grade student, was commentator for the garden party of fashion which included fashions for daytime and evening wear. Miss Thompson modeled a light blue cotton shirtmaker frock accented with pearl buttons.

Arrangements of spring flowers formed the background setting for the occasion.

Others were Miss Marion Payne in a Dan River stripe cotton dress; Miss Zona Call, who wore a black corduroy sheath frock; and Miss Penny Flener in a floral print sun dress. Miss Lyndel Munday selected a brilliant orange frock with sleeveless bodice and wearing a white bark-cloth jumper, was Miss Karen Petterson.

First Projects A first sewing project was modeled by Miss Cheri Jerolaman, who wore a colored gathered skirt; Miss Karen Griggs modeled a blouse and skirt of variegated polka dot print accented by a plain blue blouse.

Miss Marie Jones wore a dress with unpressed pleats in the skirt and a shirtmaker bodice. Miss Carol White modeled a black and white skirt with white blouse and Miss Joyce Dye selected a sheath of olive green rayon flannel, flocked with tiny polka dots.

Miss Toni Morrow and Miss Judie Post modeled their first garments, which were skirts of checked cotton fabric. Toni chose a black and white skirt with white blouse and with a red cummerbund. Judie wore a lavender and white check skirt and white blouse accented with a lavender cummerbund. An aquamarine cotton frock designed with bolero was modeled by Miss May Brown while Miss Dianna Merrington wore a multicolor printed cotton sheath.

Black Included Miss Charlotte Dillon modeled a black corduroy sheath with a jacket. Miss Gail Ross wore a black and white frock and Miss Janie Alsenz wore a trim straight skirt of cotton sailcloth, topped with a blouse designed with slash front and collar.

Following the modeling of the frocks for evening wear tribute was paid to mothers of the seventh and eighth grade girls by the choral sex-

Shower Honors Miss Jan Smith; Rites Saturday

Miss Jan Smith, whose wedding to Stephen Edward Foster is set for Saturday, May 30, was honored at a shower given Tuesday evening by Mrs. G. T. Hauptert and Mrs. R. E. Mencke at the former's home, 222 Valley View drive.

The wedding is to take place at three o'clock at First Presbyterian church here. The reception will be held at Girls Community club.

Mrs. Hauptert decorated her home with Japanese parasols for the party. One half-clothed parasol was filled with roses and another, which hung over the gift table had ribbons attached which led to yellow iris arranged on the table.

Among the guests were Mr. Foster's mother, Mrs. Virginia Foster of Woodland, Calif. Others invited to the shower in addition to the guest of honor and her mother, Mrs. Niles Smith, were Mrs. E. C. Bartholomew, Mrs. R. C. Beatty, Mrs. Joseph Chez, Mrs. Fred Chez, Mrs. N. H. Gladfield, Mrs. J. A. Griggs, Mrs. L. Josephine Hauptert, Mrs. Robert Lee, Mrs. Stewart Milne, Mrs. Frank Morgan, Mrs. S. R. Mosher, Mrs. R. J. O'Sullivan, Mrs. Edmund L. Simmons, Mrs. Wayne Wely, Mrs. J. D. McPherson, Mrs. A. C. Fries Jr., Ashland; Mrs. M. W. Caldwell, Mrs. K. S. Campbell, Mrs. Lee Hayes and Mrs. Thomas Van Etten, both of Eagle Point.

Decorations were a profusion of yellow flowers, arranged by Mrs. Raymond Reter.

Menagerie at Home All told, I met, petted and was licked by 28 animals - Mrs. D'Essen's count, not mine. I lost track of totals as I wandered through a menagerie which included a white lamb named "Amy"; a talking crow called "Emma"; a prairie dog, "Peanuts"; a kangaroo named "Victoria"; a graceful, blue-eyed Siamese called "Jester"; plus assorted basset hounds, sheep dogs, puppies, a manx kitten, a stray cat named "Red" whom the D'Essens adopted, and the "house mother" of this modern Noah's Ark - a gentle Dane called "Deborah."

These are just the regular, and free to roam, occupants of the D'Essens' five-story greystone house on Manhattan's lowest west side. "It's a wonderful old house with a bathroom on each floor," said Mrs. D'Essen. "Oh yes, even Linda gets a regular washing... she likes to soak in the tub."

The other four-legged critters belonging to Animal Talent Scouts, Inc., are kept at the 27-acre Phifer Animal Farm in Norris County, N.J.

The D'Essens supply talent to television and Broadway shows, for commercial photography, the movies, and public relations and promotion stunts.

"Jester," the pro of their Siamese flock, earns $65 an hour - the highest hourly rate. Business Grew Naturally The D'Essens got into this business the easy way - Mrs. D'Essen, went looking for some lambs to help promote wool while she was in the advertising field. Finding them - white, clean and the right age - took some scouting. Then the idea for a "central casting" for the animal world was born.

But it didn't grow much until 1947 when Mrs. D'Essen, walking a family pet-a great dane named "Dickie", now deceased-was spotted by a television producer. "Dickie" and a feline friend, "Mingie" made several TV appearances and it wasn't long until people started calling her to locate other animals.

In 1950, she incorporated the firm and her husband, a former Navy man, left the pharmaceutical business to come in as secretary and treasurer.

Since, the D'Essens have rounded up a live shark, camels, elephants, a python for a movie, a burro who starred along with Cyril Richard in "La Perichole" at the Metropolitan Opera company and Refreshments were served by several sixth grade girls.

Committee chairman for the affair were the Misses Carol Whaley, program; Cheri Jerolaman, refreshments; Penny Flener, decorations; Barbara Schatz, serving and ushering; Loraine Hixon, records and music; Judie Post, guests; and Janie Alsenz, cleanup.

Five-Story House Holds Family Plus Menagerie

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
New York - (UPI) - Most animals are gregarious, says Mrs. Lorraine D'Essen. After an afternoon at her house, I know what she means.

I interviewed this unique businesswoman while a black and white toy poodle named "Maestro" slept in my lap; a "gregarious" Yorkshire terrier called "Chowzie" chewed my pencil; a white llama dubbed "Linda" investigated the organdy tucking on my white hat; and a tiny monkey called "Gigolo" clung to my arm like I was a long lost cousin.

Only a handsome, all-white Russian wolfhound named "Brother" was a bit cool. Later, I understood why. Mrs. D'Essen said that "Brother" and Marilyn Monroe are great friends... have been ever since the two worked for a color picture series for a national magazine.

"Brother" came home with lipstick on that white coat... the dickens to shampoo out," said Mrs. D'Essen. "He's been putting on the dog ever since."

Ceremony Held By Relief Corps

Central Point - William H. Harrison post, Women's Relief Corps, draped the charter at the last meeting, held at the Legion hall.

The draping was in honor of Mrs. Edwin Jones, secretary of the group, whose death occurred April 29. Expressions of deep regret were heard from many members, since Mrs. Jones had served as secretary of the corps for many years.

Mrs. Loyd Hays was elected senior vice-president after the resignation of Mrs. Wallace McDowell, who was appointed to fill the secretarial vacancy. It was voted to purchase flags for the graves of GAR veterans and these will be used on Memorial day.

Phoenix Teacher Honored; To Retire After 39 Years

Phoenix - A faculty potluck dinner honoring Miss Mabel Moore was held recently in the Phoenix grade school cafeteria. Miss Moore is retiring upon completion of the present school year after almost 39 years of teaching.

This was also the last business meeting of the Phoenix chapter of the Oregon Education association. Husbands and wives of the faculty were invited.

Following the dinner, John Myers, principal of the grade school, presented Miss Moore with a gift of money from the faculty members. Along with the gift was a pictorial scroll about 15 inches long indicating wishes and desires from the faculty members for Miss Moore. This scroll was made by Mrs. Shaffer.

Later all members went into the gymnasium where they participated in folk and round dancing.

Miss Moore's first school was located 16 miles above Butte Falls. It was a one-room log cabin and was unnamed as a school or district. She lived with a family there named Zimmerman. Her next school was at Galls Creek, where she taught for two years. She then taught at Willow Springs, Lone Pine and Griffin Creek for small periods, at Gold Hill for 12 years, and for the past 17 years she has taught the fifth grade in Phoenix.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and the co-hostess.

May 7 the Phoenix PTA honored Miss Moore during a meeting. Bird study is a hobby of Miss Moore, and at this meeting she was presented a book on birds.

Lake Creek Unit Installs Officers At Final Meeting
Lake Creek - Miss Mary Pat Lucy, Jackson county county extension agent, installed new officers of Lake Creek Extension unit at the last meeting. It was held at the home of Mrs. Wallace Ragsdale.

The new officers are Mrs. Murray Bartling, chairman; Mrs. Charles Gansel, vice-chairman; Mrs. Lee Rogers, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Bartling reported on the meeting of the Oregon Extension council in Corvallis on the Oregon State college campus, which she attended.

Miss Mary Ann Clark, student from Oregon State college who spent a period working in the Jackson county extension office, gave a lesson on making of men's shirts.

Mrs. Leland M. Charley reported on coming events in Josephine and Jackson counties in connection with Oregon's Centennial celebration.

Guests for the meeting were Mrs. John Bohmert and Mrs. Birdie Sallee.

This was the last meeting of the unit until fall; an organizational meeting will be held in September.

Some of the craters on the moon are estimated to be 140 miles across.

A Tribute To Memorial Day!

Across the nation men and women in all walks of life visit the graves of loved ones who sleep in eternal serenity. Silently they place wreaths of lovely, living flowers on the resting places of their departed loved ones; trees are in blossom all around, and the world of work and worry seems far, far away. Let us all set aside this occasion for deep contemplation, and be genuinely grateful that we are here to carry on the great traditions of our blessed land. It's Memorial Day. Make it a point to do your personal "remembering."
