Ministers Seek Solution To Stalemate at Geneva

Hatfield Vetoes Six More Bills, But Signs Three

Salem—UPI—Gov. Mark Hatfield Friday vetoed six bills and signed three others to wind up the 20-day period he had for passing on legislation of the 50th Oregon Legislature. His deadline was midnight Friday. He vetoed a record total of 19 bills. The last bills vetoed by the governor would have extended lien rights of sawmill workers to include lumber or slabwood in custody of public warehousemen, and allowed creation of legislative interim committees by joint resolution of the House and Senate. Such joint resolutions would have had the full force and effect of law.

HOLIDAY DEATH TOLL SHOCKING

By United Press International. Memorial holiday week end highway deaths mounted shockingly last night and safety officials begged motorists to at least think of the other fellow if not of themselves. The death toll jumped to a figure way above last year's and the national safety council pleaded with drivers that before taking a chance on the road, they should remember they not only are risking their own lives but the lives of their passengers and persons in oncoming cars. The death toll rose rapidly last night. By 2 a.m. (EDT) Sunday, United Press International figures showed at least 149 persons killed in traffic accidents since 6 p.m. local time Friday. In addition, 40 persons had drowned and 26 others died in miscellaneous accidents for a total of 215. Tennessee ranked first among the states in the grisly death race with 13 traffic deaths, followed by Ohio and California with 12 each and Michigan with 10. By early today, nine states had reported no holiday accident fatalities of any kind. These states were Wyoming, Washington, Vermont, New Jersey, Nevada, New Hampshire, Mississippi, Idaho and Delaware. The corresponding figure on highway dead for last year at 10 p.m., (EDT) was 75. By early Sunday morning 1 a.s.t. year, the figure was 114 dead.

Meeting in Secret Follows Failure At Public Session

Khrushchev Assails 'Horse-Dealing' Tricks Geneva—UPI—The Big Four foreign ministers worked late at a secret session last night seeking a stalemate-breaking interim settlement on Berlin. The Russians reported the talks "moving ahead" despite cold water thrown by Nikita S. Khrushchev. A Western informant said both sides made an effort to "find a concrete approach." Diplomatic sources reported Soviet feelers toward a temporary truce on Berlin which would allow the whole issue to be thrashed out at a summit meeting. The U. S., British, French and Soviet ministers admitted they were stalemated at 2 1/2-hour public meeting yesterday. But then they went into secret session, away from the glare of publicity and the temptation to speak for propaganda purposes. Nearly Three Hours Ministers spent nearly three hours at a dinner conference in the Soviet villa. On the departure of the Western diplomats, a Soviet spokesman said: "I can say that the atmosphere was very good and that the whole business moves ahead and not backward." Nikita S. Khrushchev meanwhile rejected U. S. Secretary of State Christian Herter's proposals for Berlin and Germany at the Geneva conference and accused the west of "horse-dealing tricks" in the crucial negotiations. Denounce Package The Soviet premier, in a speech delivered at Tirana, Albania, specifically denounced the package proposal presented by Herter on grounds it "does not contain a single element of negotiation." He warned that Russia would offer no concessions because it had "no reason to." He said Russia was willing the Berlin and German issues to work for a settlement of but only on the basis of trying to reach a "reasonable solution" which "would not harm either side." Would Never Agree Khrushchev particularly attacked the leaders of West Germany for trying to make the Geneva conference a horse trade, concession for concession. And he warned that Russia would never agree to do business this way. The official Tass news agency reported on the premier's speech. The Communist Chinese New China news agency added that he also signed a "joint statement" with top Albanian Communist officials. Its contents were not disclosed immediately. Khrushchev insisted that Russia "sincerely wants to reach agreement" at Geneva.

Sprinkler System Order Challenged In Court Maneuver

A Medford ordinance requiring installation of sprinkler systems in basements over a certain size has come under fire in circuit court. Eight complaints by owners of downtown buildings, filed Friday, ask that the ordinance be nullified. They ask further for an injunction against enforcing the sprinkler requirement. Named as defendants are the City of Medford, as a corporation; Mayor John W. Snider; City Manager Robert A. Duff; Fire Chief Gordon Barker; Fire Marshal Truman Nelson, and Chief of Police Charles Champlin. Circuit Judge James M. Main Friday ordered the defendants to appear June 22 to show cause why a temporary injunction should not be issued. Mayor Snider, Duff and Champlin declined to comment, while Barker and Nelson could not be reached. City Attorney Joel B. Reeder was out of town.

Hubbard: the Hubbard building, 335 East Main st. The complaints allege that the ordinance in various particulars is retroactive, affecting buildings erected in compliance with regulations then existing; and unreasonable, confiscatory and unconstitutional in its failure to set forth standards, the excessive cost of compliance, its manner of enforcement and its delegation of legislative authority to the fire chief or fire marshal.

North Entrance Open to Traffic

Klamath Falls—UPI—The North Entrance road to Crater Lake National Park opened Friday, about two weeks earlier than usual, Park Superintendent Tom Williams reported. He said good weather was the reason for the early opening. The road cuts down from Bend on highway 97 and merges with 230 toward Diamond Lake. Williams also said crews have been working on Crater Lake's Scenic Rim drive and it may be open to traffic in a week or 10 days. Lower than normal snowfall last winter makes the early openings possible, he said. The scenic drive usually does not open until late June.

Shaves will be $1.50, he said, and tonic applications are being reduced from 50 to 25 cents. All other service prices remain the same. Tams said the minimum weekly guarantee will be $50.
