Medford High's 1959 football schedule has just arrived on our desk and reminds us that we've had the Crater slate in our files for ages and just haven't got around to publishing it.

The Medford Black Tornado of Coach Fred Spiegelberg has three new regular season foes and will have a total of six home games to the joy of local football fans. Coach Leonard Warren's Crater Comets play the same teams they did last year, including Ashland twice. Crater has just three games on its home turf but four others will be within easy traveling distance of Crater followers.

GRANTS PASS LISTED
This is the Medford slate:
Sept. 11 - At Beaverton;
Sept. 18 - Marshfield at Coos Bay; Sept. 25 - Orland, Calif., at Medford;
Oct. 2 - South Salem at Medford; Oct. 9 - Crater at Medford; Oct. 16 - At Klamath Falls; Oct. 23 - Eureka, Calif., at Medford; Oct. 30 - Ashland at Medford; Nov. 6 - Grants Pass at Medford.
Crater will play: Sept. 11 - Cottage Grove at Central Point; Sept. 18 - At Eagle Point; Sept. 25 - At Redmond; Oct. 2 - At Ashland (non-conference); Oct. 9 - At Medford; Oct. 16 - At Yreka, Calif.; Oct. 23 - At Grants Pass; Oct. 30 - Klamath Falls at Central Point; Nov. 6 - Ashland at Central Point.

SOUTH SALEM ADDED
Beaverton, although no stranger to Medford in athletics, Orland and South Salem are the additions to the Tornado schedule. They replace North Salem and David Douglas and fill one date which was vacant in the 1958 season. Medford met Beaverton in 1957 in state A-1 quarter-finals after the regular season. Orland defeated Klamath Falls last season. All-in-all it's a real good football menu for the Black Tornado.

PRELIMINARY
For the first time that we can remember, a Medford High varsity grid game will have a preliminary. Orland and Medford junior varsities will clash before the main game. Jayvee game time will be 6 p.m. One member of the office staff maintains we should refer to the games as a doubleheader. The school administration probably agrees. For the Junior Tornado. Orland will provide the opener of a seven-game slate.

Terry Maddox, ex-Medford High and ex-University of Oregon baseballer, has been discharged from the Army and is back with the Salem Senators of the professional Northwest league. Maddox was with the Solons just before going into the service. He has been stationed at the San Francisco Presidio where he was a member of the baseball team. This spring, however, he has been playing with a San Mateo semi-pro club.

LARGEST BOWLING ALLEY
When present construction is completed, Medford will have the largest bowling emporium in Oregon. The addition at Medford Bowling lanes with its 16 alleys will boost capacity of the establishment to 38 lanes. Biggest kegling facility in the state at present is the 36-alleys Powell lanes in Portland. Medford lanes proprietor Fred Anderson said that it is hoped to have the 115 by 120-foot addition completed by Aug. 1. Anticipated date for start of installation of the alleys is June 15. The construction involves putting in a nursery and changing around of the lunch counter.

Portland-Marg MacDonald, Vancouver, B.C., outfielder, led Northwest Women's Major Softball league hitting in games up to June 6.

Statistics compiled by Carl Cluff of the Oregon Journal show the Canadian team player with a .600 average among players with 10 or more times at bat. She has six hits in 10 times up. Her teammate Shirley Topley is next with 8 for 15 for a .533 mark.

Ev Bonneville, another Vancouver player, headed pitching with a 4-0 record. Louise Mazuca (2-0) of the Portland Erv Lind Florists has a spotless mark. She had not yielded a hit or run in 14 innings of league ball.

Saturday and Sunday games this week end have Rogue Valley Dairy Maids in Portland against the Florists, Vancouver at Eugene and American Linen at Seattle, Wash.

Cantello Smashes World Spear Mark With Heave Of 282 Feet 3 1/2 Inches

Compton, Calif. - (UP) - Al Cantello, a slightly-built Marine officer, confidently looked forward to throwing the javelin 290 feet after setting a world mark of 282 feet 3 1/2 inches Friday night in the Compton Invitational meet.

The self-coached athlete's previous best effort was 249 feet, 3 1/2 inches last year, exactly 33 feet less than his performance here.

"I felt my big job was to get past 265 feet," Cantello said. "Now that I have gone past that mark I wouldn't be surprised to do 290 feet."

Cantello achieved his performance on a windless night, surpassed the world record of 281 feet 2 1/2 inches set by Egil Danielsen of Norway in the 1956 Olympic games. On his second throw of 279 feet, 9 1/2 inches, Cantello bettered Bud Held's American record of 270 feet.

Extra Satisfaction
Held finished second to Cantello with a throw of 245 feet 3 1/2 inches but drew additional satisfaction from the fact that the new record holder used the Held-devised metal javelin to set his mark.

Cantello used what he terms the "chest first" style in which he throws the javelin as he hurls himself through the air. He adapted the style from that devised by Frank Janacelli of Franklin and Marshall and finds it works well for a man his size.

Cantello is 5 feet 7 1/2 inches tall and weighs 163 pounds. He attended La Salle university prior to entering the Marine Corps and his hometown is Norristown, Pa. In the final running event of the meet, the University of Texas mile relay team broke its own national collegiate record of 3:09.1 with a mark of 3:08.1.

In the 440 yard dash Mike Larrabee of the Southern California Striders won by nearly five yards in 46.1, fastest time in the nation. World record holder Glenn Davis finished fourth as Chuck Carlson of Colorado and Eddie Southern of Texas were ahead of him.

The Compton Mile drew attention to the third place finisher than it did to the winner. Jerome Walters of the Striders won the race in 4:06.2 with Bob Shankland of Southern California second but Archie san Romani Jr., son of the famed distance runner of the 30s, was timed in 4:08.9, fastest mile ever run by a high school boy.

Other top performers included the throw of 184 feet in the discus by Jay Sylvester of Utah State as another high school boy, Karl Johnstone of Phoenix, Ariz., was fifth at 169 feet, 3 inches, best mark ever made for a prep school boy with a college discus.

Parry O'Brien, returning to shot competition, won his specialty with a throw of 62 feet, 7 inches to beat Dallas Long and Bill Nieder.

Pedestrians comprise up to 60 per cent of the traffic fatalities in U. S. cities. Since 1927 U. S. pedestrian deaths have totaled more than 345,000.

The president and vice president of Brazil are elected for a five year term, and are not eligible for re-election.

Extended Week End Lopped Off For Hunting in Evans Creek, Applegate Management Units

Portland - (UP) - The State Game commission Friday established final 1959 hunting seasons for deer, elk and antelope with only two slight changes from tentative rules adopted two weeks ago.

Under the final rules the buck deer season will run from Oct. 3 through Oct. 25.

The elk season will extend from Oct. 31 through Nov. 11 along the Coast range and from Oct. 31 through Nov. 22 on the Cascade and eastern Oregon elk ranges.

The antelope season was set to run from Aug. 15-19.

In one of the two changes, archers were given an additional week of hunting in several areas. These include the Wasco, Mt. Emily, Starkey, Baker and Keating game management units and the Keno area where the season runs from Sept. 5 through Sept. 27.

The other change from the tentative rules was lopping the extended week end of hunting off the Applegate and Evans Creek deer management units. The season in these units for either-sex deer on a permit basis runs from Oct. 17 through Oct. 25, the same dates set for most of the other deer management units.

All other tentative proposals were retained by the commission and adopted as final rules for the 1959 seasons. A complete hunting synopsis will be available to the public shortly after mid-June, the Commission said.

Hunters were urged to be on the alert for news releases pertaining to filling for special tags and permits.
