

Homes Opened for Annual League Tour

The use of bright colors as accents for interior decorating was in evidence in the six homes open for the third annual house tour of the Medford Junior Service league Tuesday.

Between 200 and 250 persons toured the homes and attended the tea held between 2:30 and 4:30 p.m. at the Rogue Valley Country club. Proceeds from the tour benefited the League's kindergarten for Hard of Hearing children.

Pale green and lavender accented the J. W. Burba home on Old Military road. The home is a ranch type dwelling with a combination bathroom and guest home near the swimming pool. The cool green colors are also found in the bathroom.

A large French mirrored coffee table was the focal point for a grouping in the living room. Nearby was a four foot hand blown Swedish glass lamp in bottle green.

Although Mrs. Burba explained that the family does not actually collect clocks, through the years they have accumulated a wide variety of interesting and unusual time pieces which may be seen throughout the house.

In the kitchen at the Burba home, as well as several others of the houses open for tour, were large planters containing vines which were used in decorating not only the walls but the ceiling.

Friendly Visitors To Hold Meeting

A meeting of all volunteers in the Friendly Visiting Service for nursing homes will be held Friday, June 12, at 1:15 p.m. in the Red Cross building on Hawthorne avenue.

Also invited to the meeting are nursing home operators and both men and women who would be willing to help with this new service.

The program for the meeting will include a talk by James Pullman, director of the Jackson County Welfare department, on the importance of the Friendly Visitor to the Welfare Department and to the community and a film depicting activities of the service in another city. There will also be a general discussion and suggestions for ways the volunteers can help.

The Friendly Visitor program has been organized by the Rogue Valley Council on the Aging with the support of the Welfare department and local churches to provide cheer and help for patients of nursing homes and homes for the aged. Though more than 40 volunteers are now helping with the service, there is a great need for additional help, the committee in charge states.

The Burba home also contained a walk-in refrigerator and large freezer.

A purple front door at the C. O. Lovejoy home greets visitors there. The purple accents are used throughout the home.

The plan at the house is of particular interest as connecting halls provided wall area for many storage cabinets. The halls connect the laundry area off the kitchen with the master bedroom and bath while another on the other end of the house makes easy access from the den to the living room.

The den is paneled in polished black limba wood while kitchen paneling is of white limba. The wood resembles birch and is imported from Africa.

The living room fireplace is of stone from the Eagle Point area. Nearby stands a very tall lamp with its stem encircled at intervals with gold petals.

Both the Lovejoy and Burba homes are built high on a hill with a majestic view of the valley.

A walk in checkerboard effect with alternating blocks of black material and white pebbles leads to the tangerine front door at the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. G. Bishop, 2425 Niemo Way.

Recently completed, the home features a hexagon shaped living room which includes a fireplace of palos verde stone. The fireplace is also in the family room-kitchen. The stones are held together by mortar of a pale off-pink shade.

The majority of the rooms face into a patio and swimming pool. The kitchen light fixture, suspended from the ceiling in different heights, are six black tube shaped lanterns. Inserted into the shades are colored glass slides which reflect the various colors when lighted.

A hall of gray blue goes from the living room the entire length of the house and sets the tone for colors in the other areas. To the left of the front door are sliding doors of white parchment in a black frame which conceal the wall closet.

Furniture ordered by the Bishops for the living room failed to arrive before the open house.

The Arthur R. Dubs home on Dellwood avenue has two fireplaces, one of grey palos verde stone from California. Tangerine accents are found in the kitchen which is separated from the family activity room by a work island. The tangerine accents blend with the pink sink, refrigerator and built-in oven.

The family room features many built-ins and opens on to the large lawn and play area for the couple's small children. The landscaped lawn includes several "islands" of native rock.

The dining area off the living room has a polished steel floor and matches the built-up ledge around the living room fireplace.

A double brick fireplace faces into both the living and dining rooms at the Gordon Hudson, Windsor avenue residence. The fireplace contrasts with the highly polished cherry panelling which covers one wall of the living room. When the fireplaces are not in use, Mrs. Hudson has them filled with pine branches and cones.

White woven draperies in the dining room area, painted with multi-colored figures may also be seen in the Dubs' residence. At the Hudsons the many colors of the draperies are repeated throughout the kitchen and adjoining rooms.

The aquamarine kitchen blends pleasantly with the tangerine ceiling and wall near the laundry room.

Artificial pear branches with pears are used as candleholders in the hall leading to the wing containing the bedrooms. A combination dressing room and double bath room serves that wing of the house.

Ruby and antique glass and china may be seen throughout the rooms at the R. W. Gray home on Cherry lane. Antique brick is used in the living room fireplace and for one end of the kitchen. The kitchen brick wall also serves as a partition in the entranceway.

The bricks were individually cleaned and scrubbed by Mrs. Gray prior to their use in the contemporary ranch style home.

Green is used through the main rooms especially in the wallpaper in the dining room. The walls, with a dado of paneling, are papered in a scene pattern while a geometric design, also of green is used on the ceiling. A third pattern is used on the walls in the adjoining entranceway and complements the other designs.

Of particular interest were the pull out shelves in the dining cabinets for easy access to the table linens and crystal. The shelves holding the crystal are made with individual slots for each piece and may be removed from the cabinet and taken to the table for setting.

All of the homes visited had planters, either in the kitchen or bathroom, while the Grays had one on the Pouring during the tea at the country club were Mrs. Oscar Halboth, Mrs. J. H. Enders, Mrs. James Cummins, and Mrs. Berwick Wood.

The tea table was centered with a bouquet of white and red peonies and coralbells with pink candles. - P.H.

Morris Boughner, 302 South Orange street, was installed associate grand patron of Oregon Grand Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, in ceremonies held in Portland Thursday night to close the 70th annual session.

Mother Child Swim Class Set

Summer sessions in swimming for mothers and children will start at the YMCA Wednesday, June 10, at 3 p.m.

Instruction in swimming, water safety and some life saving techniques will be given to both mothers and youngsters. No age limit is set on children when they are accompanied by their mother, Y officials stated.

The first session June 10 will be free to anyone who wishes to attend. Artificial respiration for young children will be taught and demonstrated. Mothers are especially urged to attend to avoid possible serious accidents in the home.

Mrs. Roy Wilkes will be instructor. At least one other qualified lifeguard will be in the pool area.

Society to Hold Training Class

A training day will be held Tuesday, June 9 for all new officers of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of First Methodist church. The training classes begin at 9:30 a.m. with a potluck luncheon at noon. The usual executive meeting will be held in the afternoon beginning at 1:30 p.m.

OES Group Home From Portland

Delegations from all four Order of Eastern Star chapters in the Rogue valley returned home Saturday after attending the 70th annual grand chapter session in Portland. A Medford man, Morris Boughner, was installed associate grand patron Thursday night.

Mrs. Ernest M. Dickinson, Corvallis, is the new worthy grand matron and Ronald L. Gilson, Lebanon, worthy grand patron. Mrs. Jens Herman, Seaside, took office as associate grand matron.

During the sessions a total of $9,500 in scholarships for religious education were awarded. One winner was Stanley Palmer Culy, Medford, who will do graduate work at Boston University Theological seminary.

The Reames chapter delegation included Mr. and Mrs. Boughner, Mrs. Earl McKinney, worthy matron, Mrs. E. G. Randolph, grand representative of the District of Columbia in Oregon, Mr. Randolph, Mrs. Roy Nordwick, Mrs. John Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Elliot, and Mrs. Lloyd Caton.

Miss Mikely Boughner attended the installation ceremonies to see her father take office.

Reames chapter members will hear grand chapter reports at a stated meeting Thursday, June 11, at 8 p.m. in the Medford Masonic temple. Initiation is also planned.

Mrs. McKinney and Herbert Morris, worthy patron, will preside. Mrs. Herbert Morris will be chairman of refreshments.

The chapter elected officers for the ensuing year at a meeting May 28. Elected were Mrs. Frank Roberts, worthy matron, Carl Oestreich, patron; Mrs. Roy Nordwick, associate patron; E. G. Randolph, associate patron; Mrs. Ray K. Bailey, secretary; Mrs. Alva Perkins, treasurer; Mrs. Lloyd Caton, conductress; Mrs. Eugene Dyke, associate conductress.

Evaporated Milk Uses Dairy industry survey revealed that families use evaporated milk in the following ways; in tea and coffee, in infant feeding, on cereals, as a beverage, in food preparation and for pet food.

DRYCLEANED CARPETING

Lasts Longer—Looks Lovelier

Here's the truth about cleaning wall-to-wall carpeting!

Deep-down dirt and grime, if not removed, will permanently damage colors and appearance of tacked-down carpeting and cause it to wear down quickly. Everyday vacuuming alone cannot remove the grime. Professional rotary brush shampooing in the home does not remove deep-down dirt—it is a surface cleaning. Water and suds drive the dirt down into the carpeting. To remove dirt, tacked-down carpeting either should be DRY CLEANED in the home or taken up and cleaned in a rug cleaning plant.

• MOST DRY CLEANING is the answer!

- No shrinking or fading
- Preserves original color and texture
- No waiting for drying
- Removes the dirt
- No acids or liquid

Our Guarantee

Thorough cleaning without changing texture and color of your carpeting. No shrinkage. Complete satisfaction.
