

PROPOSED BUILDING—Above is an artists sketch of the proposed Eagle Point Community hall and Scout building. The building, which will be constructed of pumice brick, will cost about $5,000, according to community representatives. The project was started by the troop committee of the Boy Scouts. It will be chiefly a meeting place for youth activities, including Boy and Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, and other organizations. A campaign to raise funds for the building has started in the Eagle Point area, and construction is expected to start in the near future. The building will be located at the north end of North B st.

Chamber Members Tour Domiciliary

Over 20 Jackson County Chamber of Commerce members Thursday visited the Camp White domiciliary for luncheon and tours of inspection.

Henry Herzog, domiciliary manager, informed them that the veterans' institution injects about $2½ million a year into the local economy through salaries and through pensions and other compensations which domiciliary members spend in this area.

The 1,025-bed domiciliary has an annual budget of about $2 million, he reported. He said it employs about 200 local residents and about 150 domiciliary members.

Average Membership

The average total of domiciliary members is about 925, Herzog said. The present age range, he reported, is from 22 through 93. The average age, officials said, is about 62.

Herzog explained that being a veteran and possessing a chronic disability that prevents normal employment are prerequisites for admission.

Officials stated that the domiciliary is administered with an eye to rehabilitation. Only one social worker is on the staff and there is no staff psychologist, one official reported.

John W. Sindors, personnel officer and leader of one of the tours, told chamber members that many domiciliary members leave the premises during the warm months and seek re-admittance "when the first frost hits."

For this reason, he said, while the waiting list may vary from 100 to 200 during part of the year, "We don't have one right now."

About 100 to 150 members are excluded from the domiciliary each year for disciplinary reasons, Sindors said.

Chamber members on the tour saw such varied sights as art, craft and hobby facilities, a model railroad, a room full of jig saw puzzles, the infirmary, dentists' offices, a new barracks, the library, the movie theater and the chapel.

The tour was arranged by Miller Huggins, chairman of the chamber's visitation committee.

Fruit Trees Need Spraying Soon, County Agent Says

Home orchardists who have not sprayed apples and pears for codling moth, should do so as soon as possible, Don Berry, extension agent, said today. Since the pest causes wormy fruit, by using one heaping tablespoon of 50 per cent DDT per gallon of water, and spraying at 20 day intervals, worms can generally be controlled, he said.

Aphides are also showing up on many fruit and shade trees. The addition of one tablespoon of Malathion per gallon of water to the DDT spray, will control a phides and psylla.

On ornamental trees and shrubs, Malathion is generally effective and safe to use. It controls a wide variety of insect pests, but should not be applied on edible food plants, or fruits, closer than three days before harvest, Berry said. Thorough spraying is required for good aphid control, and repeat applications are sometimes necessary.

Aphides vary in color and size, according to the species, Berry noted. There are thousands of different kinds, ranging in colors from gray, green, yellow, and black. They are seldom more than an eighth of an inch long, and sometimes have clear wings, making them resemble some flies.

Backyard cherry growers should spray immediately, to prevent worms in cherries. One heaping tablespoon of Malathion in a gallon of water, repeated at 10-day intervals, until harvest, will control these worms — where aphides are a problem add Malathion.
