

Spokane-Calgary Route Hearing Set

Spokane - (UPI) - A hearing on the Spokane-Calgary air route case begins here July 28.

Western, Northwest, Pacific and West Coast Airlines have applied for the route. The Civil Aeronautics Board will decide which of the airlines will take the flights.

An April agreement reached by Canada and the United States permits both U. S. and Canadian air lines to operate between Calgary and Spokane.

Present connections by air between the two cities are through Great Falls, Mont. and Edmonton, Alta., or Seattle and Vancouver, B.C.

New Club for Persons With Cerebral Palsy

I recently heard from the Federation of the Handicapped (211 West 14th st., New York 11, N.Y.) that a club called Larber-Cerebral spelled backwards-was founded in 1953 to bring comfort to many sufferers from cerebral palsy. Activities of the group include visits to theaters, restaurants and night clubs. By going in a group they feel they can the better stand being stared at. They also go each month to bowling alleys and to baseball games. They have an annual luncheon. Their activities are designed to help the members to become accepted in society. A few of the members have already gotten married and more are engaged. There are free services to club members, such as medical examinations, psychological testing, vocational counseling, job-placement and summer camping. I should think there should be a Larber Club in every big city.

Ski-Injuries

I recently read in Scope Weekly that at North Conway, N.H. - a splendid ski area-they have a little hospital in which they treat some thousand skiers every season. These people have suffered fractures, dislocations, abrasions, sprains, and torn ligaments. Every week end the doctors and nurses have to be on an emergency footing. In the season of 1957 to 1958 they took care of 789 ski injuries, with 244 fractures and 189 dislocations. Some 55 more persons required orthopedic surgery. Dr. Shedd, who has been working at North Conway for the past 49 years, says that skiing isn't so dangerous if you are an expert, in good condition, and if you take sensible precautions. The worst thing is for a novice to try to be a hero and to race down one of the most dangerous slopes. Another bad thing is for a person to ski when tired.

In a release by the World Health Organization I find an interesting set of questions which will enable a person to take his own mental health pulse. These questions were written down by Dr. William C. Menninger, of the Menninger Foundation, at Topeka, Kan.

Are you always worrying?
Are you continually unhappy without justified cause?
Are you unable to concentrate because of unrecognized reasons?

Do you lose your temper easily and often?
Are you troubled by regular insomnia?
Do you have wide fluctuations in your moods, from depression to elation, and back to depression, which incapacitate you?

Do you continually dislike to be with people?
Are you upset if the routine of your life is disturbed?
Do your children consistently "get on your nerves"?
Are you constantly bitter?
Are you afraid without real cause?

Are you always right and the other person always wrong?
Do you have numerous aches and pains for which no doctor can find a physical cause?

These are often signs of poor mental health. If your answer is 'yes' to a lot of these questions, you are in need of help.

Special Sedative That is Needed

The other day an able physician of 40 was in the office telling me of the terribly distressing feeling in his brain which was making consciousness so almost unbearable that he would gladly commit suicide if it weren't that he must not desert his children. What happened was that last year his beautiful and well-loved wife began to go insane. She naturally neglected her home duties and soon was treating the children with cruelty. Then the man discovered that his wife was being unfaithful with other men. Naturally, because he knew that with her psychosis, she was not responsible, he did what he could to help her to straighten out mentally, but, finally, for the children's sake, he had to get her out of the home, and get a housekeeper to take care of them. Then the wife sued him for divorce. The judge awarded him the children, but in the process, stripped him of all his savings, plus a good deal more.

With his world collapsing about him, the unhappy doctor got a feeling of tension in his head which, as he says, is almost unbearable. Only two things cause this distress to let up a bit; one is seeing one patient after another and becoming absorbed in work; the other is getting slightly drunk on alcohol. The doctor has tried many quieting drugs, but, as he says, a sedative apparently is not what he needs; what he needs is a drug with a selective action which will leave part of his brain working well, while it wipes out the misery in some other part-perhaps the part that has been terribly distressed by the catastrophe that has overwhelmed him. If only he could stop thinking of his great unhappiness, or perhaps once and for all decide how to settle all the questions about it, he might start life with a clean slate.

Plywood Firm Sues To Obtain Logs

Eugene - (UPI) - Springfield Plywood Corporation has filed suit in circuit court here seeking an injunction against the Booth-Kelly Lumber company, Springfield, to prevent the lumber firm from "making any other disposition of its logs" to which the plywood firm contends it is entitled.

Springfield Plywood charged Booth-Kelly failed to live up to terms of a 1940 agreement between the two that states that Booth-Kelly timberlands that are "more suitable and of greater value for the manufacture of plywood than for the manufacture of lumber" be made available to Springfield Plywood.

Springfield Plywood said the agreement runs through the year 2,000.

PASSES FISH TEST

Purdys, N. Y. - (UPI) - A group of scientists fished in a New York City reservoir yesterday and pronounced the water fit to drink. The scientists said the number and variety of fish which bobbed to the surface as a result of an electric shock proved the water was pure enough to support a healthy crop of fish. And what's good enough water for fish is good for people too, they said.
