Congress in Midst Of One of Busiest Weeks of Session

Washington—(UPI)—The 86th Congress is in the midst of one of its busiest legislative weeks so far this session.

Both the House and Senate were pushing through legislation of consideration including housing, a wheat bill, a Commerce Department appropriation, and the hotly disputed nomination of Commerce Secretary Lewis J. Strauss.

The Senate set the pace, meeting for 12 hours Wednesday in a tempestuous session. Another night session was scheduled for today.

Wheat Bill Approved

Major congressional news: Wheat: The Senate at midnight shouted approval of a compromise stop-gap wheat bill designed to cut surpluses by lowering planting allotments and boosting price supports. The House was expected to quickly approve the measure, a product of a House-Senate conference committee. But the proposal may run into a veto from President Eisenhower, who objects to boosting price supports on wheat from 75 to 80 per cent of parity.

Strauss: Supporters of Commerce Secretary Lewis J. Strauss claimed significant gains in the cloakroom tug-of-war over his Senate confirmation. They said the number of senators committed for Strauss was close to the total which can assure confirmation.

Appropriation Vote Near

Appropriation: The Senate prepared to vote on a $715 million Commerce Department appropriation bill. Wednesday night it beat down an effort to trim over $1 million in ship subsidies from it. The matter prompted heated debate during which Sen. John J. Williams (R-Del.) referred to "Texas steam roller tactics." The statement apparently was a slap at Sen. Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.).

Housing: Congress was moving toward approval of a catch-all housing bill that may not be acceptable to President Eisenhower. The bill, shaping up in a Senate-House conference committee, would actually increase spending on housing over the next two years by about 50 per cent over levels recommended by the administration. The President has recommended a housing budget totaling $1,750,000,000.

State GOP Chief Raps Disinterest

Salem—(UPI)—Republican State Chairman Peter M. Gunnar, Salem, Wednesday told a luncheon meeting of the Salem Exchange Club that the "ignorance and disinterest of business and professional people" in political affairs is one of the "strangest phenomena" in the country today.

Gunnar said that business and professional people have "actually hidden their heads in the figurative sand in an attempt to deny the existence of our political life." He said the results have been "disastrous" and has encouraged the rise of the welfare state and is "threatening the continuance of the independent business and professional man in America."

Gunnar said there is, however, a "stirring" among business people.

"We are slowly realizing that democracy is only good when the people actively exercise the very political rights that democracy assures them," he said.

Three in Custody For Bank Robbery

Portland—(UPI)—The FBI here announced late Wednesday that three persons were taken into custody in connection with the $450,000 June 9 holdup of the East Side branch of the Bank of America in Stockton, Calif.

Arrested on a complaint filed in Stockton charging them with being accessories were Gilbert Duwayne Layman, 22, both of Portland, and Kathleen Rae McLean, 19, of St. Helens.

The FBI said a fourth person, Richard Windell Holt, was in custody in Stockton charged with the robbery.

The trio arrested here appeared before U. S. Commissioner Claire Mundorff and bond was set at $5,000 each. Mrs. Mundorff said a removal hearing would be held.
