

Teacher Found Slain in Motel At San Francisco

San Francisco—(AP)—A young English teacher who came to San Francisco seeking inspiration for a great novel instead found only death.

Joseph E. Mazeski, 31, of Phoenixville, Pa., was found fatally stabbed in his downtown motel room. He had been knifed once in the chest and four times in the back.

'Some Serious Writing'

Mazeski came from Pennsylvania to Fresno, Calif., last fall to teach at nearby Sanger Union High school.

He came to San Francisco Monday "to do some serious writing."

On the mirror over the dressing table was scrawled the word "Mafia" with a lipstick of the type used for chapped lips. This brought the entire homicide squad to the scene, but Inspector Ralph McDonald quickly discounted the killing as having any connection with the underworld syndicate.

Instead, police sought a man who was thought to have been drinking with the victim at the time of his death.

Discovered by Maid

The body was discovered in a closet by an upstairs maid. There was great disarray suggesting a struggle. Mazeski's wallet, wrist watch and car keys were missing. Time of death was fixed at around 10 p.m. Tuesday.

Homicide inspectors late Wednesday night were questioning Donald Bump, a former roommate, but officers stressed that no charges had been placed against Bump.

Mazeski had resigned his post at Sanger in March - effective when the term ended last week - in order to devote his attention to writing.

He is survived by his mother, Agnes, and a sister, Anna, both of Phoenixville.

Two Sharks Seen Off California

San Diego, Calif.—(AP)—Two sharks were reported seen Wednesday in the area where an experienced skin diver was killed last Sunday by a 20-foot shark.

The reports were made to Wheeler J. North, a biologist at nearby Scripps Institute of Oceanography, which has installed buoys, anchors and drops with shark hooks baited with dried cows' blood. The items put in the area of the sightings were marked by fluorescent flags so bathers could see them easily.

A swim fin was recovered Wednesday from the water and identified as having belonged to the skin diver, Robert L. Pamperin, 33, whose body has not been recovered.

Farther north at Santa Monica, lifeguards Wednesday drove off a seven-foot blue killer shark which was lurking 100 yards away from bathers.

Prisoner's Study Brings New Trial

San Diego, Calif.—(AP)—Luis Cervantes, 52, studied enough law while serving a prison term to win a new trial.

Cervantes, of San Diego, was convicted in 1956 of importing and concealing narcotics and was sentenced to eight years in prison. He had been arrested at San Clemente, Calif., in 1955 by immigration officers who said they found heroin and marijuana in his car.

Cervantes did his studying at McNeil Island penitentiary, Wash., and won his new trial on grounds the government failed to show the alleged contraband was seized legally.

Under the ruling granting him a retrial, the government must bring a witness from Bellingham, Wash., subpoena witnesses for Cervantes and give him a jury trial which he previously waived.

Brigitte Bardot Weds Film Actor

Paris—(AP)—Brigitte Bardot was married today to French movie actor Jacques Charrier in the town of Louveciennes near Paris.

They were married by the mayor of Louveciennes. The fathers of both movie stars acted as witnesses.

The ceremony was kept secret until the last minute. But the news got out and people gathered at the mayor's office from all over the neighborhood.

The announcement ended days of confusion during which various members of the Bardot and Charrier families either confirmed the couple had been married or said they didn't know.
