Complaint To Be Amended in Suit On Girl's Behalf
An amended complaint in the damage suit on behalf of 5-year-old Jana Sue McCall against Medford's mayor and city councilmen, among others, must be filed by June 26, according to an order by Circuit Judge James M. Main.

The suit was initiated in April in connection with injuries sustained by Jana Sue March 12 when her bicycle and a patrol car operated by Medford Patrolman Donald Pursel collided on Summit ave. The girl's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Doyle McCall, 523 Haven st.

The original complaint asked $140,000 in general damages, and $7,500 in special damages to cover doctors' fees and other medical expenses.

Granted Motion
Judge Main last week granted a defendants' motion to strike the special damages on the ground that they were not an obligation of the girl herself.

He overruled, however, a motion to strike the names of Mayor John W. Snider, the eight city councilmen and Police Chief Charles P. Champ-lin, as defendants.

The motion contended they were not liable. In an opinion, Judge Main stated the allegation that they were personally negligent in continuing to employ Pursel despite his alleged incompetence to operate a motor vehicle was permissible.

Another motion asking that Pursel's accident record be specified in the complaint was overruled on the ground that this was within the defendants' scope of knowledge.

A motion in connection with the general damages to strike Jana Sue's alleged life expectancy of 74.2 years was also overruled.

Karl Clinkinbeard, defendants' attorney, said Friday he would decline to comment on future steps until the amended complaint has been filed. Jana Sue is reportedly represented by a Portland firm.

July 20 New Date For Show-Cause In Sprinkler Suit
A defendants' show-cause appearance in the suits against Medford's fire ordinance requiring sprinkler systems in basements of large buildings has been postponed to July 20, according to City Attorney Joel B. Reeder.

The postponement, granted last week by Circuit Judge James M. Main, was requested by both city officials and plaintiffs for the convenience of witnesses.

The appearance was ordered for a show of course cause why the defendant city officials should not be enjoined from enforcing a June 30 deadline against at least two of the buildings in question.

A total of eight complaints were filed in circuit court May 29 by owners of a number of downtown buildings. The plaintiffs are asking that the city's 1957 fire prevention ordinance, or at least that part concerning the sprinkler system requirement, be nullified.

The Medford city council last December set a general deadline of Dec. 31, 1959 for compliance with the sprinkler provision, with the stipulation that earlier deadlines could be set by the fire department in situations considered particularly hazardous.

According to Fire Chief Gordon Barker, the June 30 deadline applies only to the medical center building, 33 North Central ave., and the Fluhrer building, 5 South Central. The city is stipulating it will not enforce the deadline until the court rules on the plaintiff's injunction request, according to City Attorney Reeder.

Mrs. Iholts Pleads Misdemeanor Guilt
The felony complaint against Della Louise Iholts, 401 East 12th, Medford, who was charged with making a false statement in writing to obtain benefit, was dismissed in Jackson county district court Friday.

A new complaint was then filed, charging her with a misdemeanor. District Court Judge E. Roy Basaw gave her an one-year suspended sentence after she pleaded guilty. In requesting dismissal of the felony the district attorney's office said investigation showed the defendant was coerced by her husband into committing the crime. Her husband obtained all the money then left her, the district attorney's office added.
