

Small Worlds Around Us

By Lynn M. Watkins

Would You Believe It? Some Do, Even Today

We are living in a wonderful world: We are privileged to be alive in a marvelous age and all of us should enjoy every minute of it. We are also asked to believe some strange things, and many of them are true, but there are also a great many myths, superstitions, folk-tales and legends which keep repeating themselves, and which some of us, even in this highly enlightened age, allow to clutter up our thinking and confuse our judgment.

Summer Band Classes Rescued Two Weeks

Summer band classes at Medford High school will be recessed for the next two weeks, Irv Mirick said Friday, but baton and orchestra classes will continue as usual. The band classes will begin again on Monday, July 6. Mirick, supervisor of instrumental music in Medford public schools, will spend the two weeks in Eugene, teaching at the University's band camp.

3/4 A. Oak Trees

Near Phoenix, 2 bedroom plus family, excellent well, lovely kitchen, dishwasher, fireplace, glass doors, w/w carpet, 1/4 bath, large utility. Cheaper than building if you could duplicate it the setting. Financing arranged. $2,000 down. Hurry, it's an exceptionally good offering. FROHNMEYER PHOENIX AGENCY Roy H. Maudlin, Salesman 3744 Colver Road — KE 5-1752

It might surprise you to know that there are many people today who sincerely believe that a chameleon becomes an alligator when it's fully grown, and that a horse hair left in water will turn into a hair-snake. We have all heard that an ostrich buries its head in the sand, although this one is easy to believe because there are so few of these big birds around to check up on; but you can forget it, for they just don't.

Pocket Gopher

Neither did any salamander ever work in your front yard, for this creature is a water-living amphibian that looks like a lizard, and only lives in fresh water ponds. What throws up the dirt in the yard is a pocket gopher. Toads do not cause warts; never have and never will. There's no such thing as a hoop-snake, or a horn-snake, in spite of the fact that some one is sure to claim he saw one in the road a while ago. Neither can a snake charm a bird or bite the rubber tire of an automobile until it swells up and bursts. There is absolutely no truth to the fable that eagles carry away young children; not one ever did, or ever will; it is a physical impossibility.

Tobacco Juice? Grasshoppers do not chew tobacco and spit out the juice: What you do see is the brown saliva, but it cannot be ejected under pressure; and the so-called "spitting bug" cannot do it either. Squirrels do not bury nuts because they anticipate a long, cold winter; they just put away, for another leaner day, what they don't eat at the time. You do the same thing when you put money in the bank, or buy food in a tin can; the squirrel has no can-opener so he has to bury tomorrow's dinner.

The flashes of lightning you see in the eastern sky are not "heat lightning," is simply the reflection of real, honest-to-goodness lightning in the distance. We see the flash but can't hear the report. The people over there, where the flashes occur, don't call it "heat lightning" they call it "too close."

All these things and hundreds of others are only legends and erroneous fables that should have been relegated to the status of the "dodo" bird years ago; believing them merely helps the existing chaos to get better organized into planned and hopeless confusion.
