

Amendments To Plug Loopholes In Taxes Sought

Washington—A band of northern Democrats carried to the Senate floor today their fight to plug tax loopholes which cost the government about $2 billion a year in revenue.

They will try to tack four or more amendments to a bill which would extend for another year the high Korean war tax rates on liquor, wine, beer, cigarettes, autos and corporations.

Four of the amendments were rejected by the Senate Finance Committee Wednesday when it approved the bill. However, the group accepted one proposal which would repeal the 10 per cent tax on domestic train, airplane and long-distance bus tickets.

House May Kill It

The Senate was expected to approve this amendment but the House probably will kill it. The northern Democrats added to the Korean tax extension last year an amendment to repeal the levies on passenger and freight travel. The house went along only with the freight provision.

The loophole amendments would reduce the oil and gas depletion allowance, repeal part of the tax concession on dividend income, restrict business deductions for entertainment and apply a withholding tax on interest and dividend income.

Other congressional news: State Rights: Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), a member of the Senate Judiciary Committee, said he would press for Senate action on a states rights bill similar to the one the House passed Wednesday. The House bill would prevent a federal law from nullifying a similar state statute.

Could Be Sheltered

Atom War: Scientists said an H-bomb attack would catch the nation's population "practically naked and completely unprepared and unprotected." They told a congressional atomic subcommittee that a much could be done to shelter people from the blast, heat, fire and radiation of nuclear war. It is not being done, they said.

Highways: Congressional opponents of an auto gas tax hike were not swayed by President Eisenhower's warning that work on the interstate superhighway system would start shutting down this month unless new funds were provided. The President said work on the 41,000-mile road network would cease in 36 states and the District of Columbia within a year unless the highway trust fund was replenished.

Superman's Will To Be Contested

Hollywood—The mother of George Reeves, the Superman of TV films, was to arrive today to contest the will of her son which left most of his estate to a woman he accused of annoying him.

Mrs. Helen Lescher Bessolo, of Galesburg, Ill., retained Hollywood attorney Jerry Giesler to investigate her son's June 16 suicide. She said she planned to contest the will at a July 10 hearing.

Giesler said Wednesday he was convinced Reeves had committed suicide.

The will left the bulk of Reeves' $50,000 estate to Mrs. Toni Mannix, wife of film studio executive Eddie J. Mannix.

Reeves' fiancée, New York cafe society girl Leonore Lemmon, 35, said Reeves had made another will favoring her, but it was not found. She is not a beneficiary in the will filed for probate.

Mrs. Bessolo retained Giesler after she said she doubted her son had taken his own life. A second autopsy was performed and a report given to Giesler.

Timber Carnival Set In Albany July 2-5

Albany—A pair of giant spar poles, reaching 100 feet in the air, have been erected here in preparation for the 1959 world championship timber carnival July 2-5.

The crowning of a queen opens the carnival July 2 and a $1,500 fireworks display closes the event. Loggers battle it out for $4,000 in prizes during the time in between.

Contests will include speed climbing, tree topping, log rolling, axe throwing, log chopping, bucking, bull-of-the-woods, and beard classifications.

St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York City seats 4,500.
