

SEEING HIS QUADRUPLETS the first time is Alex Kajouras, 30-year-old Columbia University law student. The quads, three boys and a girl, were put in incubators at Staten Island's Marine Hospital, all doing well, as was their mother, 26-year-old Bessie. They are her first born. She'll have to quit college now to keep house.

Girl Injured in Fall from Horse

Mary F. Hinton, 17, of route 1, Talent, was reported in "fairly good" condition yesterday at Sacred Heart hospital, following a fall from a horse in which she suffered a head injury.

According to Medford Ambulance service, the accident occurred Friday evening at Anderson creek near the trout farm. Hospital officials said she suffered a laceration on the back of her head, and that X-rays were taken. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Hinton of Talent.

Two Men Killed on Baker Dam Project

Concrete, Wash. (UPI) - Two carpenters working on the Upper Baker dam north of here fell more than 200 feet to their death Friday.

The victims were identified as Ryan Glenger of Laurel in Whatcom county and Al Drake of the Skagit county community of Bow.

They were stripping forms 200 feet up on the face of the 300-foot high dam when the forms they were standing on gave way.

The deaths were the fourth and fifth on the project since construction started more than two years ago.

Canby Post Office Will Be First Class

Canby (UPI) - As of July 1, the post office here will have a first class rating according to postmaster Helen L. Brown. The up-grade is reflected in 1958 receipts, totaling $42,959.

The new rating brings the number of first class post offices in Clackamas county to four. Others are Oregon City, Oswego and Boring.

DAV Urges Camp White Expansion

Salem (UPI) - Oregon's disabled American veterans Saturday expressed discontent with Veterans Administration hospital facilities.

Several resolutions calling for expansion and improvement of VA hospitals were passed by the group at a session here.

N. L. Williams, Concord, Mass., National DAV commander, said that "in hospital after hospital there is a crying need for repair and replacement of important units."

The vets also favored expansion of the Camp White domiciliary hospital and admission of women to the facility. It is located near Medford.

Williams urged the vets to make expansion of VA hospitals their major project of the year.

He said expansion was greatly needed in Oregon.

Visiting American Governors Inspect Sights Around Moscow

Moscow (UPI) - Nine visiting American governors fanned out around Moscow Saturday to investigate the Russian way of life. They wound up inspecting the waterworks, murals, the Kremlin and pig-tails.

In the morning Govs. Le Roy Collins of Florida, and Robert E. Smylie of Idaho visited cathedrals, government buildings, museums, and the famous ancient bell and cannon inside the walls of the sun-drenched Kremlin.

Collins commented, "What fascinates me is the beautifully preserved ancient relics when you'd think this is what they are trying to forget."

Love for History

"School children come pouring into the Kremlin as they do in the national monuments in Washington. The Russian people have a deep love for history and a surprising appreciation for the symbols of the old way of life," he said.

Collins then visited a new housing project where he examined the pig-tails of little girls playing on a grassy courtyard.

"I'm interested in pig-tails so I can tell my 9-year-old girl about them," he said. "The interesting fashion here is how they weave colored ribbon into the pig-tails, cross them in the back, and loop them."

Collins climbed into a sandbox with six Russian children to examine their pig-tails. He posed for photographs with them, shaking their hands and patting their heads.

Govs. George D. Clyde of Utah and Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey visited the Moscow waterworks. They saw purification chambers and laboratories.

Machinery Outdated Clyde said he thought the water system machinery "interesting but outdated."

Meyner scheduled an afternoon tennis game with his

Russian interpreter, Tashkent tennis champion Ibrat Yakubov.

After lunch at their hotel, Clyde, Meyner and Gov. Cecil H. Underwood of West Virginia visited the permanent Soviet exhibition of industry and agriculture, a show sprawling over 500 acres and containing 71 pavilions.

Gov. Luther H. Hodges of North Carolina also showed up. The governors saw murals showing Soviet citizens marching toward peace. Hodges said, "I hope they succeed."

spent the day walking around the city.

The governors attended a soccer match between Olympic teams from Bulgaria and the Soviet Union and saw a dance concert.

The governors arranged a train trip to Leningrad on their tour of the Soviet Union. But Underwood and Gov. William C. Stratton of Illinois were scheduled to leave the group after seeing Kiev. The others will return to Moscow July 13 in hopes of meeting Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

American housewives, industries, restaurants and other consumers purchased two billion, 100 million dollars worth of coffee in 1957.

More Than 5,300 Hurt in Traffic

Salem—More than 5,300 people—almost equal the population of Dallas, Ore.—were injured in automobile accidents in Oregon during the first one-third of this year, according to the Department of Motor Vehicles.

That's almost 300 more injuries than were recorded for the same January through April time period in 1958.

More than 1,000 persons were carried from the scene of motor vehicle accidents, suffered bleeding wounds or had a limb distorted. Close to 2,500 injuries were in the "painful movement" category such as bruises, abrasions, swelling or limping.

Another 1,859 people blacked out momentarily or complained of pain without visible sign of injury. March had the highest number of injuries for the four-month period. It recorded 1,412 injuries.
