New York-Soviet Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov, appealing for increased trade between the United States and Russia: "We both stand to learn from one another."

New York-President Eisenhower, on being told by Kozlov that the Russians are using atomic energy for peaceful purposes: "I have been preaching that for six years."

Covington, La.-Dr. Robert Heath, a psychiatrist, disclosing that Gov. Earl K. Long had suffered a nervous breakdown brought on by overwork and aggravated by a stroke and heart trouble: "It is not uncommon to see strokes accompanied by accelerated emotional symptoms."

Washington-Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr. (R-Mich.), fruitlessly urging restoration of $25 million for civilian space activities: "If we should err, it should be on the side of generosity."

Nervous Breakdown, Effects of Stroke Said Bothing Long

Covington, La. - (UPI) - Gov. Earl K. Long is a victim of a nervous breakdown from overwork, his psychiatrists reported, but they warned him that even so he is in better shape mentally than physically. The psychiatrists borrowed Long's own words Monday night to tell him that he is a sick man and may get worse, although he is now rational. Physically, the psychiatrists said, he is suffering from the effects of a small stroke, of series of strokes and his heart is still laboring from the effects of an attacked he suffered nine years ago while chasing a hog. The psychiatrists refused to guarantee he will get well, but said there is now "nothing that would indicate that the governor cannot make another comeback." The psychiatrists-Drs. Robert Heath, Charles Watkins and Victor Leif-told Long what was wrong with him in a motel room conference after he had returned from a week end at his "little pea patch" farm in Winnfield, La. Long, 63, went along with everything except their diagnosis that he had suffered a stroke. "I want to tell you that I respect these men and they're doing what they think is right," he said. "But I highly disagree. I never suffered a stroke in my life." Long sat in trousers and shirt, sleeves rolled above his elbows and sock feet planted firmly on a deep carpet as Dr. Heath read a statement for his colleagues. Legal Troubles Possible In addition to mental and physical troubles, Long may also soon have legal troubles. The district attorneys in both Orleans and East Baton Rouge parishes disclosed that they were looking into a charge that a steamship line's agent paid Long $5,000 in 1956 to veto a bill affecting pilots on the lower Mississippi river. The governor has announced that he will divorce his wife Blanche, whom he called "the most jealous woman God ever put on this earth." Long has been in mental hospitals in both Texas and Louisiana, but the psychiatrists' statement was the first detailed diagnosis of what ails him.

Bus Driver Dies, 19 Persons Hurt In Highway Crash

San Jose, Calif. - (UPI) - A bus driver was killed and 19 persons were injured, three seriously early today when a Los Angeles to San Francisco Greyhound smashed head-on into a private car 15 miles south of here on U.S. 101. The driver of the car told officers he swerved across the center line into the path of the bus when bumped from behind by another car. Smashes Billboard The Highway Patrol said the bus plunged off the highway, smashed through a billboard, sheared off a telephone pole and rolled to a stop in a field. The bus driver, Martin Ward, 57, Mountain View, Calif., was killed outright. It took rescuers about an hour to pry his body out of the mangled wreckage. The bus carried at least 20 passengers. Patrolman Edward Jeffries said Agnes Lane, 59, Vancouver, Wash., suffered compound fractures of both legs when she was pinned for 15 minutes in the seat behind the driver. The seriously injured were taken to Wheeler hospital in Gilroy. They were listed as Mrs. Lane, the driver of one car, David Randall Kannelly, 36, Morgan Hill, Calif., who suffered head injuries; and a bus passenger, Roland March, 46, Fresno, Calif., who suffered head lacerations and contusions. Patrolman Jeffries said Kannelly told him he was southbound when a car driven by Arthur Clinton Berryman smashed into his car's rear. This crash sent the Kannelly auto into the path of the bus, Kannelly told Jeffries. Berryman was not injured.

Wagons Head For Pocatello

Soda Springs, Idaho - (UPI) - The 1959 Oregon wagon train camped eight miles east of here Monday night and today pulled up stakes and moved westward toward Pocatello. Tonight's camp site was expected to be about 13 miles west of Soda Springs, along Fish Creek road. The Soda Springs chamber of commerce and the Daughters of Utah Pioneers arranged for a banquet for the modern Oregon pioneers Monday and each wagon train member was given a bound copy of the history of the Soda Springs area. Soda Springs is noted as an early home site of Brigham Young, 19th century Mormon pioneer, and also for the spring water that gave it its name. The area was a mecca for wagon trains that paused from the rigors of the trail. Members of the Centennial train visited historic "Wagon Box grave" in the Soda Springs cemetery. Buried in a wagon box, because lumber for coffins here in 1861 was non-existent, were seven members of an unidentified family massacred by Indians.

Doctors Attending Alcoholism Institute Hear Drink Problems

Salem - (UPI) - He was a rugged 48-year-old man who had bossed 60 other men and made $8,500 a year until he decided he had crawled into the booze bottle for the last time and went to Oregon State Hospital for help. It was his third trip. He is confident it will be his last. About 40 doctors attending an institute on alcoholism here this week end hope it will be, too. They heard a hair-raising story in an interview conducted by Dr. George Saslow, head of psychiatry at the University of Oregon Medical school. Some items: The patient had lost or quit many jobs because of drink, had lost his wife, wrecked his car, been in jail 30-40 times, seen Chihuahuas dogs that weren't there, had his appendix split while drunk, had lost his sight briefly and had one arm paralyzed for a longer period. Finds Can't Drink "I can't drink like other people at all," he told the doctors. "I beat my head on the wall for a long time, but I'm convinced now." He said friends, bosses, Alcoholics Anonymous and everybody talked to him about his drinking. "You have to be about dead before you quit," he said, "something has to happen inside." Apparently that "something" has happened, but it will take all the man's perseverance and all the doctors' and researchers' skill plus adequate facilities to make him well.

Two Outpatient Clinics

Oregon, with 1.8 million population has only two outpatient clinics at Portland and Salem where alcoholics can be treated without entering a hospital. In contrast, Virginia, with five million population, has six outpatient clinics and is planning another to relieve pressure on hospital emergency wards. Guest speaker, Dr. Ebbe C. Hoff, Medical Director of the Division of Alcohol Studies of the Medical College of Virginia Hospital, told the assembled doctors he thought Virginia's six clinics and two mental hospitals had "improved more than 50 per cent of their patients." Hoff, considered one of the best men in his field, conducted a group therapy session before the two-day institute ended.

The mayor said most homes had a limited supply of water for drinking and other essential needs. In New York City, two Manhattan firemen turning off a hydrant for the third time were attacked Monday night by 25 teenagers. One was hit on the head with a garbage pail and one stabbed in the arm. A youth reported to police for turning on a fire hydrant in the Bronx was blamed for tossing a "Molotov cocktail" from the top of an apartment house into a group of neighbors cooling off on a front stoop. Five persons were burned, one seriously. Ninety-five-degree weather in Indianapolis, the hottest there since Aug. 5, 1956, made a soft drink machine one of the most popular gathering spots in the Chrysler plant.
