

Omedo, Laver Gain Final at Wimbledon

By ROBERT MUSEL
Wimbledon, England (UPI)—Darlene Hard, Monticello, Calif., won the opportunity to become America's 16th consecutive Wimbledon women's tennis champion today by advancing to the tournament final with a 6-4, 6-4 victory over Sandra Reynolds of South Africa.

However, Maria Bueno, 19, the Brazilian bombshell, ruined the prospects of an all-American women's final Saturday when she defeated Sally Moore, Bakersfield, Calif., 6-2, 6-4, in the day's first semifinal match on the center court.

Miss Hard was seeking to reach the women's finals for the second time in three years. She reached the final round in 1957 only to lose to fellow American Althea Gibson. Miss Gibson, who successfully defended her crown in 1958, did not compete in this year's tourney.

Victories by Miss Reynolds and Miss Bueno today would assure Wimbledon of its first non-American women's champion since Dorothy Round of Britain in 1937.

Top-seeded Alex Olmedo of Peru and Los Angeles and unseeded Bob Laver of Australia won their semi-final matches in men's singles in sharply contrasting fashion.

Olmedo, hero of the U. S. Davis Cup triumph last December, romped easily to a 6-4, 6-0, 6-4 victory over eighth-seeded Roy Emerson of Australia pretty much as expected.

Laver Upsets Mackay

But young, red-haired Laver, only the second unseeded player in history to reach the men's singles final, had to do it the hard way by beating Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, 11-13, 11-9, 10-8, 7-9, 6-3, in a match that lasted three hours and 45 minutes.

MacKay, on leave from the U. S. Air Force, fought off five match points before bowing. It was the second longest match in the tournament in the post-war era.

MacKay attributed his downfall to 24 double faults, possibly a record for a major match but "not so many for me," according to MacKay, and to loss of stamina after the 62-minute first set.

Olmedo and Laver will meet in the finals Friday. They met once before in the Western Australian Championships last January when Olmedo won in five sets.

Linksmen Paired in Club Meet

Pairings have been announced for first round play for the Rogue Valley Country club men's golf championship tournament.

A total of 95 are entered in three flights. Thirty-two each are listed in the championship and second flights and 31 in the fourth.

First round losers will drop into the first, third and fourth flights. The opening round matches must be completed by Sunday, July 12.

Heading the championship flight upper and lower brackets are Alan Holmes, defending champion, and Eddie Simmons, a past champ. They and Dr. Ralph Odell tied for medalist honors.

Qualifying for the senior club championship tourney concludes this Sunday.

Rogue Valley is being represented in the Southwestern Oregon Golf tournament at Coos Bay by Miles Doran, Tom MacLeod, Jim Varga, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Flink and Jack Lewis. The tourney opened with qualifying today and continued through Sunday.

Medford, CW Postpone Fray

Two changes in the Rogue Valley league baseball slate were announced today.

Medford Bowling lanes and Camp White have postponed their game, which was billed for this Sunday, until Friday, July 10. Also, the tussle will be at Camp White instead of at Cheney field.

The Ashland-Grants Pass contest will be at Ashland. It had been planned for the Climate city but installation of a sprinkler system prevents use of that diamond.

Medford asked postponement of its Camp White scrap because of a bowling event in San Francisco and because of other conflicts.

Williams AL All-Star Selection

Boston (UPI)—Manager Casey Stengel, who plays strictly to win and damn the sentiment, named Ted Williams to the American league All-Star team today while announcing the reserves and pitchers for the 1959 classic at Pittsburgh Tuesday.

"Who would you pick for a pinch hitter if you looked down the bench and had Williams available?" Stengel asked with disarming logic.

"I'll take the big bat," he answered for himself. "Whether for the base hit, long fly or base on balls. You couldn't find any better around the league."

The selections were announced here through Joe Cronin, president of the American League.

The 40-year-old Williams, who drew only 10 votes from the league players, managers and coaches, has appeared in 14 previous All-Star games. He failed to make the team only in 1939, as a rookie with the Boston Red Sox, and in 1944, 1946, 1952, and 1953, when he was in the service during World War II and the Korean War.

Not Righthanders
Ted, off to a slow start this year, is currently batting around the .200 mark. He needs 13 more home runs to enter the charmed 500 homer circle.

Stengel named four righthanders and three southpaws to the ninth squad he will manage. The righthanders are Early Wynn of Chicago, Hoyt Wilhelm of Baltimore, Jim Bunning of Detroit and his own reliever Ryne Duren. The lefties are Bud Daley, only member of the Kansas City Athletics to make the team, Whitey Ford of the Yankees and Billy Pierce of the White Sox.

Stengel went along with the players' first and second choices with two exceptions.

He chose Williams instead of long-hitting Jim Lemon of Washington and selected Roy Sievers of the Senators as an infield reserve instead of Detroit's Rock Briles. Sievers will be used for pinch-hitting.

The others reserves were Harvey Kuenn of the Tigers and Mickey Mantle of New York in the outfield; Frank Malzone and Pete Runnels of Boston, Gil McDougald of New York and Vic Power of Cleveland in the infield and Yogi Berra of the Yanks and Sherm Lollar of Chicago as catchers.

Cheney Downs GP; Plays KF on Friday On Medford Field

Central Point Cheney Studs bounced Grants Pass 4 to 1 last night and, just one-half game out of first place in the southern division of Area 4, looked forward to a crucial American Legion junior baseball conflict on Friday night with Klamath Falls.

The Friday encounter will be at Cheney field here with 8 p.m. first pitch time.

Cheney triumph over GP's Mock Ford nine gave the Studs a 3-1 loop record. Klamath and Medford are 4-1 after Medford's 2 to 0 win over KF last night. A victory tomorrow for the Studs would tie them with Medford at the top of the heap. Klamath decision would restore that club to lone leadership.

Anchor Two-Hitter
Central Point in the game last night at Cheney field had all its markers before Grants Pass scored. Pitcher Bill Anhorn held Mock to two hits, struck out 14 and walked five. The Studs got only five hits, with two each by Harley Dickerson and Steve Harris, but put free passes, errors and wild pitches to use.

Opening run by Central

Point, in the first frame, was on a Dickerson single, Harris's sacrifice, a walk in a wild pitch. In the second two runs crossed on singles by Jim Doster and Harris and two errors. Harris's hit was a bunt. Doster headed for third and on a late leave the base was overthrown allowing him to score and Harris to go to third. Harris tallied when Jackson's blooper was dropped.

A hit batter, a Harris hit, a walk and a wild pitch gained the fourth run in the fifth inning.

Mock Scores
Grants Pass tabulated in the sixth. Lee Holmes walked and Cole singled. A throw to third base in effort to catch Holmes after the hit was in time but baseman Doster dropped the ball. Cole went to second and Rex Benner was purposely walked. The bases were full with no outs. Holmes came home when Jere Patterson bounded out. Anhorn then struck out two batters to retire the side.

Cole walked six and struck out the same number.

It was the third win, second in the league, for Central Point over Grants Pass which

Johansson, Patterson Switched

Milwaukee, Wis.—(UPI)—The stunning upset of Floyd Patterson by Ingemar Johansson for the world's heavyweight championship showed up today as a simple exchange of listings in the National Boxing association's June ratings.

Johansson, who had been No. 1 challenger before the June 26 bout, stood at the top as champion in the heavyweight class. Patterson dropped to one below the Swede as top-rated challenger for Ingo's crown.

The NBA did the obvious, and named Johansson the boxer-of-the-month for June for flooring Patterson seven times in the momentous third round.

The NBA made another major switch, however, in restoring Sugar Ray Robinson to the middleweight ratings after disqualifying him from his title for failure to defend it.

By order of the NBA executive committee, Robinson—who was ignored completely in the May ratings—was placed third behind Carmen Basilio and Gene Fullmer who are number one and two challengers for the NBA's open title in the middleweight ranks. The NBA said it will re-
