

Drysdale, Wynn Starting Hurlers for All-Star Tilt

Pittsburgh (UPI)—Don Drysdale, Los Angeles fire-balling righthander, and Early Wynn, veteran Chicago White Sox workhorse, today were named starting pitchers in Tuesday's 28th annual All-Star game.

The selections were announced at a news conference this morning by National League Manager Fred Haney of the Milwaukee Braves and American League pilot Casey Stengel of the Yankees.

Haney said Milwaukee's Lou Burdette, hero of the 1957 World Series, would be the National League's second pitcher, "depending on how things go."

Odds-makers make installed the National League an early 13-10 favorite to score its 11th victory in the classic which started in 1933.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon will throw out the first ball.

It will be Drysdale's first All-Star game appearance. The 22-year-old hurler, who leads the senior loop in strikeouts with 122, has an 8-6 record this season and an earned run average of 3.31.

Last Year's Winner

Wynn, 38, a right-hander, has appeared in four All-Star classics and was the winner of last year's game. He leads the American League in victories with an 11-5 mark, and has an earned run average of 3.83.

Before the announcements, there was speculation that Baltimore's Hoyt Wilhelm, a National League castoff, possibly would start against Burdette.

But Stengel bypassed Wilhelm, who has won nine games against four losses, because the knuckleballer had pitched six innings Sunday in losing to the Red Sox, 6-3.

Haney and Stengel announced the following batting orders:

National League—John Temple, 2b; Eddie Mathews, 3b; Hank Aaron, rf; Willie Mays, cf; Ernie Banks, ss; Orlando Cepeda, 1b; Wally Moon, lf; Del Crandall, c, and Drysdale, 0.

American League—Minnie Minoso, lf; Nellie Fox, 2b; Al Kaline, cf; Bill Skowron, 1b; Rocky Colavito, rf; Gus Triandos, c; Harmon Killebrew, 3b; Luis Aparicio, cc, and Wynn, 0.

Odds-makers here quoted the National League 6-5 favorites on the basis of the senior loop's slugging power and a better starting pitcher.

Portland (UPI)—The 58th annual Pacific Northwest Golf association championship opened here today, with Dick Yost, two-time champion from Columbia-Edgewater here, one of the top contestants.

Yost in a final practice round Sunday posted a three-under-par 69, but he said the rough was heavy.

Gene Holland, the defending champion from Seattle, said of the Portland Golf club course where the men's tourney is being played: "It's a bearcat. Fortunately I will be just out there improving my game the next two days as I don't have to qualify." Holland was one of several talented players Sunday who were three over par at 75.

At the conclusion of the final two days of practice, Yost and British Columbia Amateur champion Ron Talley of Vancouver, and Holland were considered the favorites.

The women's championship play is at the Columbia-Edgewater course.

Dairy Maids Beat South Hill Queens

Memorial Stadium, Camp White—Depend on the Rogue Valley Dairy Maids for the dramatic touch. They had that in both their week end games as they swept a Northwest Women's Major Softball league series here with the South Hill Queens of Vancouver, B.C.

Ellen Callaghan's solo home run in the bottom of the seventh frame was the winning blow in a 4 to 3 verdict Saturday night. Then, yesterday afternoon, the Dairy Maids piled up six runs in the last of the sixth inning for a 7 to 5 victory.

The series completed regular league play between the two clubs with the Maids taking three of the four scraps with the Canadians.

Next softball action for the Rogue Valley Dairy Maids will be on Thursday evening when they engage the Roseburg Lumberjills at Memorial stadium, Camp White.

Miss Callaghan sparked the Rogue Valley offense on Saturday with three hits in three times up and three runs driven home. Jean Main batted in the other marker. Diane Wall had three for four in the Sunday batting, while Shirley Hanson had two hits in three trips, including a double.

Vancouver Catches

Before Saturday's game-busting roundtripper with two out in the final frame, the Maids saw the game almost slip away from them.

Rogue Valley went into the top of the seventh leading 3 to 1. Marg MacDonald started off the Queens' turn at bat by drawing a base on balls. She went to second base on a wild pitch, gained third on an error, when a throw by catcher Main took a bad bounce, and scored on a groundout by Elaine Callaghan. June Minette followed with a single down the third base line and into left field. The ball got by outfielder Nadine Brood and Minette went all the way around the bases to tie up the game.

Vancouver bid for another run when Pat Harrison doubled and stole third base. However, Laura Malesh grounded for the third out.

Two In Second

Rogue Valley put over two of its counters in the second inning on a single by Doris Hickson, a walk to Jan Bateman, a sacrifice flyout by Main, bringing in one run, a walk to Bernice Bigham and an infield single by Ellen Callaghan, scoring the second tally.

Ralston and Earnhart teamed in the final match of the day to take the 18-year-old boys' double title from Paul Palmer, Phoenix, Ariz., and Henry Kamakana of Honolulu, 15-13, 6-3, 9-7.

David Blair of Garden Grove, Calif., defeated Rodney Kop of Honolulu, 6-2, 6-3, to win the 15-year-old boys' singles title.

Victoria Palmer, Paul's sister, lived up to her billing as top seeded in both the girls 15 and 18-year-old singles by capturing both titles.

The Bears swept a double-header from Eugene Sunday to take over undisputed possession of first place thanks to the booming bat of catcher Pete Gongola and a pair of nifty pitching performances by Roger Clapp and Cliff Adams.

Gongola homered with two on in the fifth inning of the first game to put Yakima out of trouble and the Bears went on to win, 8-4. In the night-cap Gongola homered in the fourth with none aboard to
