

Mature Women Find Insurance Good As Career

United Press International
Evanston, Ill. (UPI) — Mature women can find a career and lifetime security in a field dominated by men — insurance counseling.

So says Orrin M. Neiburger, president of the Old Equity Life Insurance Co.

"There are many special advantages for well-informed women in insurance," he said. "A qualified agent sets her own hours and works from her own home. Most insurance is sold for protection of women and children — and only a woman knows how important this can be."

Few women have entered the insurance field because, Neiburger said, "financial matters once were considered entirely man's province. But times have changed. The modern housewife plays an important role in setting up the family budget. Decisions on buying insurance today are almost always family decisions, and a woman's counsel is respected."

Neiburger believes the field is ideal for women whose children are grown and for the widow who wants to be self-supporting but remain at home to care for school-age children.

Most women who sell insurance get into the business as partners to husbands, Neiburger said.

"But there's no reason why any woman with a pleasing personality and a good supply of common sense can't break into the field. There are excellent training programs for applicants with no experience," he added.

Bird Authority Speaks for Club In Cave Junction

Cave Junction — Members and guests attending the meeting of the Illinois Valley Garden club last week in the Masonic hall in Kerby, declared the program to be one of the most outstanding of the year.

James O'Donahue, Klamath Falls bird photographer and lecturer, was the guest speaker. The talk was accompanied by colored slides of birds.

Mrs. Harry O. Smith reported on the Oregon Federation of Garden clubs conference held earlier in the month at Lewis and Clark college, Portland.

It was announced the garden club will sponsor Mrs. Raymond (Daisy) Baldwin as a candidate in the Jubilee Grandmother Queen contest. Mrs. Baldwin, a Gold Star Mother, was born in the valley, educated, married and raised her own family here.

The next meeting will be the annual club picnic at the home of Mrs. J. J. Villair on July 24, at 12:30 p.m.

Mrs. Baldwin, in Centennial dress, presided at the tea table during refreshment hour, assisted by Mrs. Harry Floyd, Mrs. J. J. Villair and Mrs. Raymond Heidenreich.

Guests for the afternoon included Mrs. Des Byrnes, Mrs. Herbert Watts, Mrs. Alna Benedict and Mrs. Ellen Brown.

Former Residents Here as Visitors

Visiting here from Los Angeles this week are Mrs. Charles D. Stacy and her daughter, Mrs. Opal Cromwell. Mrs. Stacy is a member of a well-known pioneer family and lived here many years before going to California.

Mrs. Stacy and her daughter are receiving friends at the home of the former's grandson, Robert L. Stacy, 1220 East Main street.

Delegate Reports On Girls' State

Illinois Valley — The newly installed officers of the auxiliary to Glenn Morrison American Legion post, conducted their annual meeting July 1, in the Auxiliary room.

Joyce Larson, delegate to Girls State, gave an hour long detailed report of the outstanding daily events of the session recently held in Salem.

Miss Larson spoke of the strong feeling of fellowship and sincere friendship which prevailed among the 257 girls attending from all over the state. She voiced her "deep appreciation" to the auxiliary for making it possible for her to share in the experience which broadened her understanding of all levels of government.

The highlight of the session was the impressive candlelight ceremony held on the last night of the week in the capitol, she said.

Miss Larson displayed the Girls State program and brochure and demonstrated the special songs sung by the group.

The annual Poppy day program to be held in the fall, and the Auxiliary Centennial project is scheduled to get underway in the near future, were discussed. The project will be an established tourist rest and aid station with baby sitter service available. The traveler's aid station will be set up in the newly re-decorated Auxiliary rooms and will be open daily.

Plans for attending the Oregon Legion and Auxiliary convention to be held in Salem July 23 through 25 were made. Delegates named are Mrs. Harold Crowl, president; Mrs. Les Henry, first vice president; Mrs. Gilbert Clayton, past president and Mrs. Harold Haslock who is replacing Mrs. Arthur Kellert, formerly named delegate.

Mrs. Haslock provided an unusual flower arrangement for the president's table, of red, white and blue flowers.

Lions, Auxiliary Hold Ceremonies
Shady Cove — Trail Lions club and auxiliary held installation of officers recently at Rogue River lodge. Neil Smith, Gold Hill, served as installing officer for the Lions, and Mrs. Athel Dudley installed the auxiliary officers.

New auxiliary officers are Mrs. Harry Goode, president; Mrs. Donald Harmon, secretary; Mrs. Earl Sheppard, treasurer; Mrs. Delbert Spain, lion tamer.

Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Mayfield, Bend; Mr. and Mrs. George Kanowski, Oakland, Calif., and Mrs. Paul Bulkin, Shady Cove.

Medford Couple Observes 40th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Brewer, 307 Laurel street, recently held open house at Girls Community club in observance of their 40th wedding anniversary.

Here for the event were the Brewer's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hill, and their three children, Bobby Frank, Jack Jr., and Brian, Kingston, N.Y.; their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Brewer and sons, Jeffrey and Jimmy, Portland; another son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Brewer Jr. and Barbara, also from Portland. Mrs. Robert Brewer Jr., is the former Mary Glasscock of Medford.

Bureau Revises Standards For Peanut Butter

Washington, D. C. — A new food standard for peanut butter has been proposed by the Food and Drug Administration.

FDA said a survey of products labeled "peanut butter" shows the amount of peanuts used in some brands has been reduced as much as 20 percent by substitution of cheaper vegetable oils or hydrogenated oils for more expensive peanuts and peanut oil. The practice tends to mislead and confuse the consumer and would be corrected by a standard setting minimum requirements which meet consumer expectancy, the agency added.

Under FDA's proposal, peanut butter would consist of at least 95 percent by weight of the food made by grinding shelled, roasted, and blanched peanuts. No more than 5 percent of the product would be provided by one or more optional ingredients, including salt, sugar, dextrose, honey, or hydrogenated or partially hydrogenated peanut oil. The proposed standard would require a listing of optional ingredients on the label by their common names.

Written comments are invited on today's proposed standard and must be received within 30 days of its publication in the Federal Register.

Group Attends Class Reunion

Hornbrook — Among the 40 members of the 1939 graduating class of Yreka High school who attended their 20th anniversary dinner and dance at the Yreka Inn on June 27th were all six of the pupils who had graduated from the Hornbrook grammar school in 1935.

One of the class was Gordon Bray, who served with the 101st Airborne division during World War II. He is married and has three children, and has been with Cooley and Pollard company of Yreka for 17 years. Another was Mrs. Marge Bloomingcamp Snyder, Medford, who has two children and is employed in Medford. A third was Mrs. Margaret (Peggy) Grieve Lange, who has one child, and whose husband is in the real estate business in Yreka.

Mrs. Madeline Chapman Burnert, Mountain Home, Idaho, won the prize for coming the longest distance to attend the reunion, and, with five children, tied with her high school classmate, Mrs. Shirley Spangle Peters of Yreka for having the most children.

Also present were Clifford Conley, now of Sacramento and with the division of architecture of the California Department of Public Works, one child, and Jim Yarbrough of Crescent City, editor for several years of the Del Norte Tri-plate.

Club Names Committees

Eagle Point — The program for the coming year was outlined and discussed at the last meeting of Eagle Point Garden club. It was held July 1 at the home of Mrs. Ben Gardner. Luncheon preceded the meeting, with Mrs. Victor Hay as co-hostess.

Mrs. Wilford Davis, named committee chairman for the year. They are Mrs. A. Watnburg, program planning; Mrs. Glenn Hale, year book; Mrs. Charles Cushman, corsages; Mrs. Steven Wilson, membership; Mrs. Earle Jossy, birds; Mrs. Augusta Perry, librarian; Mrs. Ruby Stowell, rosemary; Mrs. Frank Putman, plant exchange; Mrs. Leiland Meyer, arrangements; Mrs. Victor Hay, conservation; Mrs. Gardner, horticulture; Mrs. Force, publicity.

The club is making plans for a flower show in September. The group also entered a float in the July Fourth parade in Eagle Point.

The next business meeting will be September 2 at the home of Mrs. Perry.

Hustons Return From Trip North

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Huston and children, Craig and Karen, 2229 Ruhl way, recently took a vacation trip to Wrangell, Alaska, where they were guests of Mrs. Huston's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lawton.

The Hustons motored to Seattle and made the trip from there by plane. While in Alaska, they made several boat trips among the islands in that area.

The Hustons are enthusiastic about the hunting and fishing in this new state.

Visitors Here

Mr. and Mrs. Cloyd Smith and daughters, Dennis Lee and Gayle Ola, left for their home in Saratoga, Calif., last Thursday after visiting here with Mr. Smith's mother, Mrs. Ola Smith, 826 East Jackson street.

While here the visitors were registered at the Medford hotel.

Don Loper To Design For Western

United Press International
Looks like a TV western is gunning for a place on the best-dressed list. Hollywood designer Don Loper will do the costumes for Bat Masterson next season. As played by Gene Barry, Bat Masterson is a dandy clad in black suit, brocade vest, and black derby, carrying a gold-headed walking stick. He romances beautiful, elegant women — who will become more elegant when Loper gets through with them. The designer dresses such stars as Marlene Dietrich, Anita Ekberg, Ginger Rogers and Suzy Parker. He also designs TV clothes for Lucille Ball, Barbara Hale and Shirley Temple.

Late-day dresses have a new look this summer—they're wider at the top. So say fashion analysts for Women's Wear Daily, a trade publication. A popular way of achieving this look is with a cape collar. On some dresses, the collars completely cover the shoulders.

New Groups Announce Meetings

Gold Hill — The newly organized World War I Veterans, Barracks No. 1835, and the auxiliary will meet Thursday, July 9, at 8 p.m. in the VFW hall at Rogue River.

The two groups were organized recently in Rogue River to accommodate those eligible in the area between Grants Pass and Medford. Both the barracks and auxiliary will meet regularly on the second Thursday evening of each month in Rogue River. The principal aim will be to promote the interest of the $100 a month pension plan for World War I veterans, a spokesman for the new organization said.

All World War I veterans are eligible to belong to the barracks and wives, widows and daughters of World War I veterans are eligible for membership in the new auxiliary.

Officers were elected for both groups at a recent session. They include V. D. Stewart, barracks commander; Lee J. Kile, senior vice commander; W. Morse, junior vice commander; Rufus O. Hoover, chaplain; Harry R. Shevington, quartermaster; Glen W. Hutchinson, three year trustee; Carl W. Knapp, two year trustee; Charles Austin, one year trustee; Carl W. Knapp, sergeant at arms; and Ervin C. Hoffman, guard.

Auxiliary officers elected include Mrs. Harry R. Skevington, president; Mrs. Gladys Stevens, senior vice president; Mrs. Charles Austin, junior vice president; Mrs. Ted Schoenemann, treasurer; Mrs. Nancy B. Wilkinson, secretary; Mrs. Carl W. Knapp, three year trustee; Mrs. Dorothy Leven, two year trustee; Mrs. Grace Hixon, one year trustee; Mrs. Breda Mae Connell, conductress; Mrs. Glen W. Hutchinson; and Mrs. Carl W. Knapp, publicity.

Following each session a social time will be held and refreshments will be served.

Court to Hold Annual Breakfast

Roxy Ann court, Order of the Amaranth, will hold the annual outdoor breakfast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoppe, 305 Lozier lane, Sunday, July 12, from 8:30 a.m. until 1 p.m.

The breakfast is under the supervision of Mrs. Frank Salyers, associate matron and Marshall Day, associate patron of the Court and is one of the fund raising projects for the year.

All members and their guests are invited.

Use of State School Funds Topic of Convention Talk

St. Louis — The growing tendency of state governments to assume a larger share of financial responsibility for the cost of public school education calls up for re-examination some fundamental principles about how state funds are to be used, delegates of the annual National Education association convention were told.

Dr. Erick L. Lindman, chairman of the department of education at George Peabody college, Nashville, Tenn., pointed out that state governments today have a 40 percent share in public school budgets. In 1930 their share was but 17 percent. The trend is still upward, Dr. Lindman said.

As an example of the problem Dr. Lindman asks: Should state tax revenues be used only in an effort to provide an adequate minimum program for all children in the state, or should some of the money be used in certain communities in the pursuit of educational excellence?

He had no ready answer, but suggested that the question should be reviewed in the light of conditions as they now exist in each state.

Funds earmarked
Also troublesome, according to Dr. Lindman, is whether state funds should be earmarked to establish local compliance with state established salary scales and pupil-teacher ratios. This makes sense, he said, if the state's goal is to enforce an adequate minimum program. But if the goal is to facilitate local improvements and innovations in the school systems, such controls cannot be justified, he believes.

Dr. Lindman asked also whether state funds should be so distributed among localities as to "reward" with relatively larger allocations those communities which are making the greatest effort to help themselves educationally. He indicated he was inclined to favor the reward-for-effort principle.

Recent efforts to separate responsibility for educational finance and for instructional planning have not made the solutions to these problems any easier, Dr. Lindman said. The quality of instruction depends on financial policy at each level of educational government, he pointed out.

Indian Beauty To Be Chosen At Encampment

Pendleton—A special beauty contest to select the loveliest Indian maiden in North America will be a special feature of the National Indian Encampment in Pendleton, July 18-26.

Contestants will be presented to the judges during each evening performance of the night show, with a winner selected for each night and finalists to appear in competition for the grand trophy July 25.

Nightly winners will receive cash prizes, while the grand trophy winner will be presented with a $250 check. Other finalists will receive $100, $50 and $25.

Judging will be based on appearance in Indian regalia; talents in Indian song, dance or drama; conduct during the encampment and personality.

Every tribe in North America has been invited to send a representative, or entry, for this contest, with the winner to rule over Indian nations for the coming year as does Miss America for the white man's beauty contest.

Special feature for encampment visitors will be the unusual opportunity to see and photograph the princess Indian trappings worn by contestants and their horses, most of which have never been seen outside Indian homes and villages before.

Each of the girls will be presented on horseback, with her mount's decorative trappings being judged along with her own tribal regalia.

Shower Given In Eagle Point

Eagle Point — Mrs. Larry Wilson was honored June 26 with a shower in the home of Mrs. LeeRoy Draper, F street in Eagle Point. Mrs. Charles Fry was co-hostess.

The evening was spent in playing games and then the honored guest opened her gifts.

Those attending were Mrs. Lee Cushman, North Highland, Calif., Mrs. Wayne Ash, Mrs. Robert Sanderson, Mrs. Jack Carlton, Jacque Carlton, Mrs. Carl Proctor, Mrs. Arleigh Anderson, Minnie Anderson, Mrs. Ted Hoffman, Mrs. Glenn Albert, Mrs. Delvin Elder, Mrs. O. T. Wilson, Mrs. G. S. Elder, Mrs. Russell Elder and Stevie, Mrs. Ed Leaming, Mrs. Gene Weltman, Mrs. Steve O. Wilson, Mrs. Orval Oliver, Mrs. Gene Anderson, Mrs. Harry Tonn, Mrs. Richard Dunn, Mrs. David Schneider and Duane David, Mrs. Carl Robbins, Mrs. Eugene Eccleston, Mrs. Carl E. Christian, Miss Jean Bitterling, Mrs. Neil Dusenberry, Mrs. Edward Gray, Mrs. Raymond Anderson, Mrs. Lewis Dusenberry, and Mrs. Lester McFall.

Dessert in a jiffy: syrup parfait. Arrange layers of vanilla ice cream, chopped toasted almonds and dark corn syrup in serving glasses. Serve with spice cookies.

Thick slices of ripe tomatoes chilled with California rose wine, finely chopped mint and chopped green onion go wonderfully well with barbecued foods.

Excellent Casserole Makes Whole Meal

Here's an excellent casserole that makes a whole meal, with a green salad as an accompaniment. Cook a pound of noodles or spaghetti in boiling salted water. Meanwhile, brown a pound of ground beef and a half pound of sausage (or all beef). Add a chopped green pepper, 2 or 3 tablespoons instant minced onion, 2 cans of tomato sauce, a can of cream style corn, a can of pitted ripe olives, undrained, and one of mushrooms. Combine with drained noodles, season to taste with salt, pepper, Worcestershire sauce and chili powder. Turn into a large casserole, top generously with grated American cheese; cover and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about an hour.

About 9 million Americans have a form of heart disease.

Pretty Pickle Squares

New York — (UPI) — Youngsters will go for a pickle luncheon squares. For 8 servings, combine 1 12-ounce can of luncheon meat, chopped, with 1/4 cup each of chopped sweet mixed pickles and chopped walnuts, and 1 tablespoon of chopped parsley. Mix well, spread on 8 bread slices and top each one with 1 slice of process American cheese. Broil from 5 to 6 minutes until about 3 to 4 inches from heat source.

Recent efforts to separate responsibility for educational finance and for instructional planning have not made the solutions to these problems any easier, Dr. Lindman said. The quality of instruction depends on financial policy at each level of educational government, he pointed out.
