

Special Session Threatened Over Foreign Aid Measure

Washington (UPI)—President Eisenhower today raised the threat of a special session of Congress as a last resort if the legislators should make what he regarded as disastrous cuts in his foreign aid program.

He suggested this possibility as one of the alternatives open to him. He did so in reply to a question at his news conference about Tuesday's Senate cuts in the foreign aid bill.

The questioner pointed out that the President had spoken of disastrous results if Congress chopped the foreign aid program.

Additional Funds Urged
Eisenhower recalled that he had described his recommendation for $1,600,000,000 in military aid as a minimum and that his commission studying the foreign aid program had urged an additional $400 million for this purpose. The Senate voted Tuesday to cut $383 million from his recommendation.

Eisenhower said he would use all his persuasive power in an effort to get congressional approval of his recommendation. Secondly, he said, if the follow-up foreign aid appropriation bill should be cut too deeply he could ask for a deficiency appropriation next year.

The final alternative he mentioned was a special session of Congress.

He said he never would stop fighting for this nation's security.

At about the same time, independently of the President, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said Eisenhower might want to call a special session this fall. He said the session could give Congress "a second look" at foreign aid and other programs rewritten by the Democratic-controlled Congress.

Johnson Urges Rejection

Dirksen's remark came during a political exchange on the Senate floor with Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson about the congressional program.

Johnson earlier urged the Senate to reject further attempts to cut the foreign aid bill.

VOLUME OF BUSINESS

Rapid City, S.D. (UPI)—Employees at a supermarket here turned on a phonograph while doing some late-night work to help pass the time more pleasantly. What they didn't know—until the neighbors sent police to tell them—was that the market's outside speakers were picking up the music and beaming it over the countryside at 11 p.m.

California Family Honored by Town

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Conner, and their children, Tommy, Colleen, and Donna, of Van Nuys, Calif., was the first family to be selected guest of the Rogue River area merchants in a recent program honoring tourists.

The Conners were chosen after they registered at the stockade on Siskiyou summit Tuesday.

Under the program the first tourists to register at the stockade after 10 a.m. will be guests of the Rogue River merchants.

The treat for tourists, backed by the Rogue River Boosters, will include 27 free items, such as meals, gasoline, produce from various stores, press interview, boat rental, and miscellaneous souvenirs.

The project is part of Rogue River's program for the Oregon Centennial.

Conner is an advertising man with the Los Angeles Mirror. The three children, all under ten years of age, and their parents are en route to Portland, The Dalles and Bend, it was reported.

JUNK TO AID ANGLERS
San Francisco (UPI)—California hopes to improve sport fishing in the Salton Sea by creating artificial reefs out of old automobile bodies. Staff members of the Wildlife Conservation Board said corvina abound in the 345-square-mile inland sea but that they are difficult to catch, except near the wreckage of an old Navy piling. So old auto bodies will be used to create other such artificial reefs.

EXTENUATING CIRCUMSTANCES

Oneida, N.Y. (UPI)—Judge Verne L. Whalen suspended a $10 speeding fine against 22-year-old David Timmerman of Canastota after the defendant told the judge he was en route to the hospital to see his wife and new baby.

"I can't condone speeding," the judge said, "but I can't think of a better reason for hurrying."

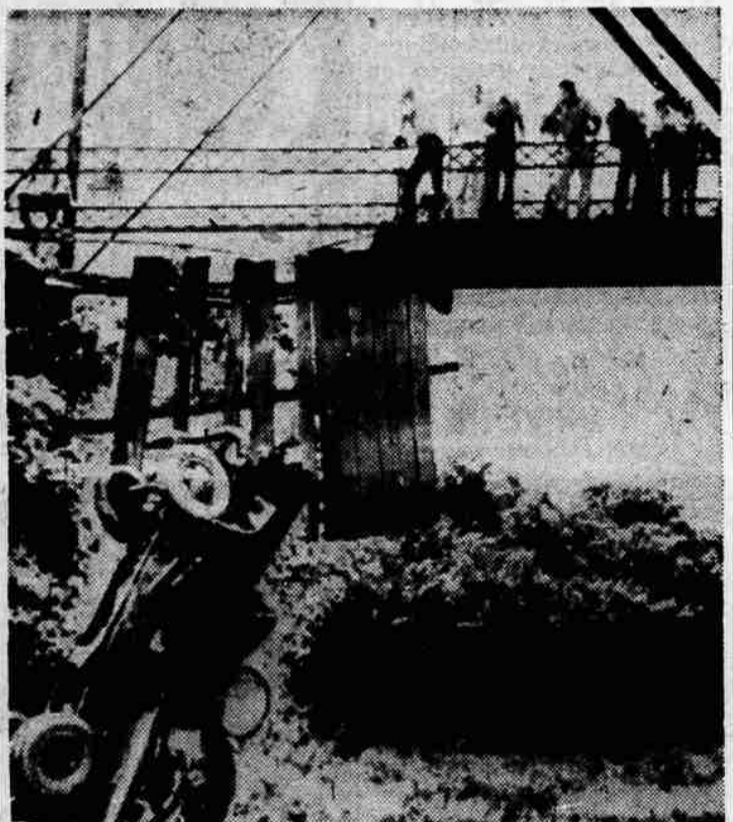

Files Kept on Sex Offenders

Jacksonville, Fla. (UPI)—Files are kept on nearly 500 potential sex offenders known to authorities here.

If a sex crime occurs in Duval county, there is a good chance of identifying the offender on the basis of these files, according to county identification officer Julius Gause.

The information includes clothing known to attract the potential offender, the time of day he is likely to accost someone, his manner, speech, subjects of conversation and fingerprints.

Gause said identification of potential sex criminals is a "specialized field" and investigators must learn to differentiate between types of perverts.

WOULDN'T LISTEN—The driver of this cement mixer sent his helper to check the old bridge before he drove over it, but then when the helper said it wasn't strong enough, he drove over anyway. Almost over, that is. Halfway across, the truck crashed through. The driver is in the hospital recovering, and the helper, who refused to ride across, feels fine. Bridge is located near Falmouth, Ky.

Kozlov Visits Chicago Area To Inspect Huge Steel Mills

Chicago (UPI)—Soviet First Deputy Premier Frol Kozlov visits here today to inspect the brawny muscles of United States industry, the huge complex of steel mills at the foot of Lake Michigan.

A spokesman for the Hungarian Freedom Fighters Association said the group planned no demonstration such as the egg-throwing, oath-shouting, placard-carrying pickets staged by hundreds of angry refugees when Russian Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan visited here last winter.

To Be Welcomed
Mayor Richard K. Daley,

mindful of Detroit Mayor Louis C. Miriani's refusal to greet the Russian No. 3 man, said Kozlov would be welcomed to Chicago "just as he would greet any other visiting dignitary."

Daley sent a representative, Fred Hoehler, to the airport to meet Kozlov and planned to extend a personal greeting to the Russian Thursday in City Hall.

Kozlov and his retinue were to go directly from the airport to Indiana Harbor Works of Inland Steel Corp. at East Chicago, Ind., followed by tours of United States Steel Corp.'s huge Gary Works and tube mill at Gary, Ind.

In Detroit Tuesday, Kozlov toured industrial plants, dined with leading industrialists and conferred privately for an hour with Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Close Together
Williams said Kozlov told him that the United States and U.S.S.R. "are fairly close together" in working out a program for arms inspection by "foreigners."

Williams said Kozlov told him the Russians have almost "come to the point where they could agree to this" but are waiting for answers to some of their "suggestions."

The Michigan governor said he sought, in a series of pointed questions, to punch holes in the deputy premier's claims that Russia advocates self-termination for peoples of other nations. Williams pointed to Russian actions in putting down uprisings in Hungary and East Germany.

Called Propaganda
Kozlov replied that what the governor had heard was merely propaganda, Williams said.

About 30 Hungarian freedom fighters, carrying signs reading "Kozlov go home" and "Do you need some human blood?" picketed a Detroit hotel while Kozlov attended a reception in his honor. Kozlov did not see the pickets.

HONOR HYMN'S AUTHOR

Falmouth, Mass. (UPI)—The 100th anniversary of the birth of Katherine Lee Bates, author of "America The Beautiful," will be celebrated Aug. 12 in this Cape Cod town—her birthplace. The author of the verses which, set to music, have become one of the most widely-sung of America's patriotic hymns, was born in a shingled house on Main street, near the Village Green. The house is marked by a simple bronze plaque on a boulder.
