Bond Ups Interest in Drag Races

The $100 savings bond, which is being offered by Southern Oregon Timing association should the Camp White strip record be broken this Sunday, is creating increased interest among dragster entries of the speed.

Noel Black, Medford speed merchant, it is reported, may have a new, more powerful engine for his sleek machine. If so he may be seen reaching speed in excess of 130 miles per hour on the one-fourth mile strip.

He'll have to do much over 130 mph, however, to win the bond. Strip mark, set last September, is 144.46. "Super Stock" Class Gates will open at 9 a.m. Sunday at the strip. Time trials will be in the morning with eliminations after lunch. Also adding interest in the races is the opening of an entire new class for "super-stock" autos with automatic transmissions.

SOTA officials again reminded drivers of the safety regulation which requires a 360-degree safety shield around bell housings on all cars other than stockers and sports cars with less than 2700 cubic centimeters displacement. They warned that contestants not having a shield deemed safe by the safety committee will not be allowed to compete.

Florists Defeat American Linen Portland - (UPI) - The Erv Lind Florists defeated American Linen, 4-1, Wednesday night in a women's softball clash at Farragut park here.

The Florists wrapped up the win with a three-run outburst in the fourth inning on four successive singles. The lone American Linen run came in the sixth on an Elsa Werronen's triple and a single by Jess Safarich.

Centennial Sports Day On Friday to Honor Oregon Stars

Portland - (UPI) - The state game commission today issued its weekly fishing report.

Governor Mark Hatfield has called upon all Oregonians to observe Oregon Centennial Sports Day Friday, July 10, with commemoration of Oregon's great athletes at the Centennial Exposition, following the Moyer-Jordan welterweight championship fight at Portland Meadows.

The Oregon Centennial commission announced it will hold a public reception for Oregon's greatest athletes and sportsmen from 7:30-9:30 p.m. Friday in the forestry pavilion at the exposition. Centennial officials suggested that Oregon sports fans to meet and chat informally with the sports greats at the reception, after taking in the welterweight championship fight at Portland Meadows.

Top athletes and sportsmen, as determined at the annual Hayward Banquet of the Oregon Athletic Association, will be honored at the reception.

Becerra Captures Bantam Ring Title

Los Angeles - (UPI) - Jose Becerra, 23-year-old two-handed puncher from Guadalajara, today was Mexico's authentic hero for his eighth-round knockout Wednesday night over Alphonse Halimi of France that brought him and his country the bantamweight championship.

Mexican pride had been injured by the defeat of its former bantamweight idol, Raul (Raton) Macias, in Halimi's first title defense here 18 months ago. But Becerra avenged that defeat by knocking out the champion in 2:02 of the eighth round.

Halimi went in at 117, and Becerra at 117½ for the title bout in the new Los Angeles Memorial Sports Arena.

It was sweet revenge for Becerra. The bronzed challenger had fought on the same Halimi-Macias card and suffered a knockout by Dwight Hawkins after having been plunged into despair by the defeat of his idol.

Becerra recovered and went on to score 11 knockout victories for the right to challenge Halimi for the title. He did what Macias, now retired, could not do - nor any other boxer - he knocked Halimi down and then put him out for the count.

"I hit him with a good right to the body in the seventh," Becerra revealed after the bout. "And I could see his legs were folding. I knew I had him then."

It was a right and left hook combination that finally put Halimi away in the eighth.

Jordan 12-5 Choice To Win Over Moyer

Portland - (UPI) - Welterweight Champion Don Jordan was installed as a 12-5 favorite today to whip 19-year-old Denny Moyer in their scheduled 15-round scrap in the great out-doors here tomorrow at sun-down.

Jordan, putting his title on the line against a youngster who never has known defeat, is the solid choice in the nationally-televised bout which will attract about 8,000 fans to Portland Meadows race track.

Because Portland is on standard time, the fight will get under way at 6 p.m. - in broad daylight.

The two battlers wound up their training yesterday and today just went through light limbering-up exercises as they awaited the going to send them into action.

Jordan, who successfully defended his crown against Virgil Akins in his last outing, has been sharp in training and his punching has been stiffer than that of young Moyer.

Moyer, managed by Sid Flaberty, is unbeaten in 20 fights - all except one in the west. In a big TV conquest in New York City, he whipped Gaspar Ortega to win the shot at the crown.

Both the lads are confident of victory - without being boastful.

But Jordan realizes he may be in for trouble.

"I'm not underestimating Moyer," says Jordan. "But I think I can whip him. I know we are fighting in his home town. But the last time I fought Akins, it was in his home town of St. Louis. And I don't think I had a friend in the audience."

Tickets for the out-door battle have been scaled from $20 for ring-side down to $5 for the bleachers. Promoter Tommy Moyer, Denny's uncle, thinks the fight may gross $80,000. The weather forecast is for "clear and warm" on the banks of the Columbia.

Beaver-Tribe Exhibition Off Portland - (UPI) - Hopes of a Portland Beaver - Cleveland Indians exhibition baseball game here on Aug. 31 died this week when Frank Lane, general manager of the American league leaders, notified Portland Mayor Terry Schunk and officials of the Portland Baseball club that the Indians would not be able to fill the date.

Legion Ball Nines Clash John Ahorn is expected to have the pitching call Saturday night when the Central Point Cheney Studs host Lakeview in an Area 4 southern division American Legion junior baseball fracas.

The tangle will be at Cheney field at the south edge of Medford.

Central Point with a victory would take over at least temporary lone first place in the league. Medford, now tied with the Studs at the top of the heap, will take on Lakeview on Sunday at Camp White.

Klamath Falls contends at Grants Pass in other division action. Central Point, Medford and Klamath Falls all are favorites in the week end scuffles.

The Studs hold a previous decision of 23 to 3 over the Lakeview club.

Medford-Lakeview activity is tentatively planned as a double bill with the first game at 1:30 p.m.

Owners of Major League Clubs Discuss Inter-Loop Trade Rule

By ED SAINSBURY Chicago - (UPI) - American and National league club owners were to discuss two major problems, and to the minor leagues a n d inter-league trades, today prior to a joint meeting in an attempt to settle both issues Friday.

Inter-league trades without waivers already has been approved for a one-year trial period, from Nov. 23 to Dec. 15 this year, but Commissioner Ford Frick has expressed disapproval of the idea and requested reconsideration of the matter.

It appeared that the only concrete action which might come out of the joint meeting would be to repeal or reapprove the trading issue. Approval of the proposal at the winter meeting was by a close margin and a shift in position by two or three clubs could bring about repeal.

National Wants Repeal National league sentiment, it was believed, favored repeal of the plan on the grounds that "we ought to keep our own strength in our own league," while American league owners were believed to favor the new plan as "worth a try."

Baseball rules in the past have prohibited inter-league trading of any player unless all clubs in the league from which he was being traded waived on him. The new rule would allow trades without such waivers.

Aid to the minor leagues will get a thorough going-over but probably the joint meeting will appoint a committee to study the matter and recommend future legislation.

SF Giants Hope To Break Hex Of Newcombe

Cincinnati - (UPI) - The San Francisco Giants will be out to spoil Freddy Hutchinson's return to the big leagues and break the Don Newcombe "hex" when they open a three game series against the Cincinnati Reds here tonight.

Hutchinson, who is replacing Mayo Smith as pilot of the seventh place Reds, will probably call upon his most potent mound weapon, the rejuvenated Newcombe, who has won eight straight.

Newcombe has made the Giants look like patsies in three previous appearances. It was against the Giants that Newcombe first found himself this season. He was 1-4 when he surprisingly fired a seven-hitter against Bill Rigney's belters.

Since then, Newcombe has been unbeatable. In his two subsequent appearances against the Giants, he's tossed a three-hitter and a six-hitter while going the route for Yogi Berra.

The key blows were the successive shots by Skowron and Berra, which produced the five-run fourth-inning rally that put the Yankees ahead, 8-5, and paved the way for Shantz' third victory against two losses.

It was the only major league game of the day.

Hutchinson New Pilot Of Redlegs

Cincinnati, Ohio - (UPI) - Lantern-jawed Freddie Hutchinson, who thinks the Cincinnati Reds are a "good" team that just "hasn't jelled," replaced Mayo Smith as manager of the Reds today in a move that everybody's been expecting for days.

The "open secret" that Smith was out and Hutchinson was in was officially confirmed Wednesday night when general manager Gabe Paul of the Reds announced the switch.

The change had been widely predicted for days and became a virtual certainty when the mild-mannered Smith, who had been the Reds' pilot only since last Sept. 29, failed to show up at the meetings of big league officials that accompanied Tuesday's All-Star game.

"There's nothing to say," commented Smith when he got the bad news in nearby Fort Thomas, Ky. "That's what baseball is."

Left Rainiers Hutchinson, who formerly managed the Detroit Tigers and the St. Louis Cardinals, left his post as manager of the last-place Seattle Rainiers of the Pacific Coast league to take over the seventh-place Reds. He was due to arrive here by plane early today and to be at the helm when the Reds clash with the San Francisco Giants tonight.

Quast Beats McIntyre In Western

Chicago - (UPI) - Two former champions and two American Curtis Cup players were in the quarter-finals of the Women's Western Amateur golf championship today.

Feature mix of the quarter-finals matched the two Curtis Cup players, Anne Quast, Everett, Wash., and Jo Anne Gunderson, Seattle, Wash., in a head bumping which could spotlight the potential champion.

Miss Quast, who won from the Western champion Barbara McIntyre, Jupiter, Fla., Wednesday, 3 and 2, to avenge her loss in the finals of the 1958 event, and Miss Gunderson gained a 1-up triumph over Mrs. Frank Stranahan, Toledo, Ohio.

Lindsay in Running The other former champion still in the running was Marjorie Lindsay, Decatur, Ill., who won the title in 1951. She will tangle today with Judy Bell, Wichita, Kan. Miss Lindsay Wednesday beat Mary Mills, Ocean Springs, Ga., 3 and 2, and Miss Bell tripped Lois Drafke, West Chicago, 3 and 2.

Two youngsters will tangle in another quarter-final battle, Sherry Wheeler, an 18-year-old Arizona State student from Glasgow, Ky., against the California state champion, Barbara Williams, Richmond, Calif. The fourth quarter-final battle also pits two youngsters, Andrea Cohn, a North-western student from Waterloo, Iowa, against Nancy Roth, 20, Elkhardt, Ind.

Top-Seeded Net Entrants Cop Portland Frays Portland - (UPI) - Most seeded players came through with second round victories here Wednesday in the 61st annual Oregon State Tennis championships.

In men's singles, top-seeded Doyle Perkins, Seattle, defeated Charles Crow, Santa Monica, Calif., 6-2, 6-0. Second-seeded Jack Neer of Portland downed Seattle's Barry Davidson, 6-1, 6-3 and Mike Crane, Berkeley, Calif., third-seeded, won over Don Willner, Portland, 6-1, 6-0.
