Rogue River Basin Meadows Dam Smallest in Study

(Editor's note: This is the third of six articles based on the Army engineers' studies of the development potentialities of the Rogue basin. The corps has suggested five sites for development out of a total of 39 studied. Previous articles have described the proposed Lost Creek and Elk Creek sites.)

The Meadows dam is proposed for Evans creek. This would be the smallest of the five suggested multi-purpose reservoirs. Its primary purpose would be irrigation. In the proposal, Meadows would be a rock-fill type of dam, 87 feet above stream level. It would store a total of 12,200 acre feet of water, 12,000 acre feet of which would be usable. The surface area at full pool would be about two-thirds of a square mile or 420 acres, while extreme minimum pool would be 33 acres. Shoreline of the Meadows reservoir would extend approximately 8.2 miles at full pool and about two miles at extreme minimum pool.

From the standpoint of the fishery, 3,000 acre feet of storage space would be assigned to insure adequate flows in Evans creek during the spring filling season. Facilities for moving steelhead past the dam would be provided and multi-purpose level outlets would aid in downstream migration of fingerlings as well as permitting some control of water temperature in flows released from storage.

Irrigation Water Supplies Being Watched Closely

Managers of Jackson county's irrigation districts are watching their water supplies closely it was reported today. Jack Hoffbuhr, Medford Irrigation district manager, was making a survey today of storage reservoirs at Fish lake and Four Mile lake.

The water supply situation for Talent Irrigation district is only fair, according to Manager Walter Hoffbuhr. "We are going to be pretty short for the end of the season with the possibility of some water users running out. A quota of 18 inches has been set for everyone," Hoffbuhr said.

The irrigation district manager said Howard Prairie reservoir water will start being used the last week in July, but added that it is hoped it will be sooner. This won't effect the total supply appreciably, he noted. It will merely compensate for the water which must be carried over in Hyatt lake for next year's operation. By mid-August the water in Emigrant reservoir should be drawn down to the coffee dam and the water bypassed through the new tunnel, he added.

The irrigation potential from Meadows would supply water to 2,300 acres of new land and supplemental water for about 1,000 acres now having inadequate supplies.

Little Recreation Value Meadows reservoir would not have a high recreational potential because of the early draw-down for irrigation, and competition from other nearby and more desirable reservoirs and natural recreation areas.

Recent Hot Weather Well Below Record

Hot weather continued in Medford over the week end causing residents to flock to the county and state recreation areas.

Today's expected high in the 80s will end four consecutive days of temperatures above 90 degrees. The hot weather started Wednesday with 93 degrees and reached a high Friday with a maximum of 102 for Medford.

Saturday's hottest temperature was 98 while Sunday's high was 95.

Lowest humidity reported by the Medford office of the U. S. weather bureau was 24 per cent on Saturday.

The high temperatures do not come near the highest temperature mark in Medford. On July 20, 1946, the city sweltered in 115 degrees.

Three Diesel Locomotives Dive Off Bridge Near Napa

Napa, Calif.—(UPI)—Southern Pacific and Navy authorities planned to put a giant crane and divers into action today in an attempt to raise three diesel locomotives which plunged into the Napa river six miles south of here.

Power Cruiser Grazed The locomotives, each of which weight 185 tons, and a caboose hurtled off the open end of a swing bridge Sunday, grazing a small power cruiser passing beneath the bridge. The five-man train crew and the occupants of the boat escaped serious injury, although two members of the crew were treated for minor injuries.

Bridge tender Gabe Clark, 36, Napa, said the train roared

by his control booth just after he had opened the span to let the cruiser through. The first locomotive hit the bridge's pivotal center, then plummeted into 35 feet of water, taking the other diesel sections with it. Only the caboose remained above water, standing on end from the bridge head.

Four members of the crew leaped to safety from the cab of the lead locomotive before it left the rails. The fifth crewman, J. H. Traugber, 47, Sacramento, climbed to safety from the caboose.

The occupants of the boat, R. D. Pittsley, and his wife, Hazel, both 38, Napa, were shaken by the accident but uninjured. Pittsley said the im-

A public hearing to discuss a proposed safety code for vehicles used to transport workers to and from work will be held tomorrow at 9 a. m. in the courthouse auditorium.

The hearing will be conducted by Vern L. Hill, director of the Oregon department of motor vehicles.

The legislature this year called for the department to establish a safety code for vehicles used to transport workers. It was an outgrowth of an interim committee study on migratory labor.

At the meeting Travis Roberts, of the sport fisheries and wildlife bureau, will evaluate the U. S. Army corps of engineers' proposal with respect to effects on the fishery of the Rogue River basin project.

The public is invited.

President Irked Over Increased Marine Corps Plan

Senate Debates Defense Measure

Washington—(UPI)—President Eisenhower "has his hackles up" over the Senate Appropriations Committee's plan to increase Marine Corps strength, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said today.

The increase is part of the $39,600,000,000 defense appropriations bill for the fiscal year which began July 1. The Senate opened debate on the measure today.

The bill would provide $346,139,000 more than the President requested in his budget and $746 million more than the House voted.

With an additional $450 million from revolving funds, it would give the Defense Department a $40 billion drawing account. Dirksen (R-Ill.) said the President was concerned with the plan to boost the Marine Corps strength from 175,000 men to 200,000 because such a mandatory floor on forces would involve continuing cost increases.

The Republican leader did not say whether administration forces in the Senate would try to override the appropriations committee and knock out the proposed increase.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) considered offering a proposal for a 900,000-man regular Army instead of the budgeted 870,000-man strength. He was unsuccessful with the proposal in the appropriations committee and its military subcommittee.

There is opportunity and time for settlement to be reached before the strike deadline," Hagerty's announcement said. "In the interests of union members, the steel companies and the public, the President hopes that the union and the industry will continue to work for a settlement."

Sheriff's Deputies Purchase Cars

Jackson county sheriff's officers who have been without cars while awaiting county purchase of five county cars now either have or are obtaining their own cars, according to Chief Criminal Deputy Paul Bettiol.

Two sheriff's deputies who were planning to sell their cars, which they had been using for official work, have kept them. One deputy purchased a car Wednesday, another bought one Saturday and another deputy is buying a car today, Bettiol said.

During last week's county budget hearing, County Judge Earl Miller said that bids for the county cars are not expected to be received until September. A total of $13,000 has been budgeted for the purchase of the sheriff's cars. The court has decided to wait until 1960 models are available and save the first-year depreciation loss on 1959 autos.

The new budget's travel allotment for the sheriff's department was increased $3,000 to cover the cost of the private cars used by sheriff's deputies until county cars are purchased.

Steel Negotiators Heed Plea Made by Eisenhower

Talks Resumed in Effort to Avert Industry Strike

Union Not To Extend Contract

New York—(UPI)—Steel wage negotiations headed a last-minute plea by President Eisenhower and agreed to resume their talks today in an effort to sign a contract that would avert a crippling steel strike at midnight Tuesday.

The union took the initiative in setting up the meeting after President Eisenhower said in Washington that sufficient time remained for the negotiators to reach an agreement.

Union President David J. McDonald emphasized that the union was not extending the contract and said the strike deadline still stands. However, he said he agreed with the President that there is time left to settle the dispute. Eisenhower made his statement through Press Secretary James C. Hagerty after conferring with Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell.

"There is opportunity and time for settlement to be reached before the strike deadline," Hagerty's announcement said. "In the interests of union members, the steel companies and the public, the President hopes that the union and the industry will continue to work for a settlement."

The White House said the President did not plan to intervene directly in the dispute. The settlement was his second appeal for renewed negotiations. The first resulted in a two-week extension in negotiations, ending at midnight Tuesday.

Shortly after the President's statement was issued, McDonald sent a telegram to Eisenhower pledging that the union is "prepared to remain in continuous session" in order to conclude a fair "non-inflationary" settlement. McDonald said an agreement can be reached before the strike deadline "if the industry meets us halfway."

"We are going to give it the all-American try," McDonald said before entering the bargaining session.

Boy Promised Movie Pass After 2 Boys Take His 50 Cents

An 11-year-old Central Point youth who had his movie money taken from him Wednesday while standing in line at the Craterian theater today was promised a pass to the theater by R. P. Corbin, manager.

The pass will admit the boy free to the Craterian theater for three months, Corbin said.

The manager read in the Mail Tribune last week that James Wesley Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Hamilton, 870 Ellen ave., had had a 50-cent piece taken from him by two older youths as he waited to enter the theater. The boy returned to his home without seeing the movie and was later returned to the theater by his father, Corbin said. The father reported the incident to Medford police.

New Parking System Tomorrow in Park

A new parking system will be in effect at Hawthorne park tomorrow, according to Robert L. Haworth, city parks and recreation director. The plan is designed to assure parking space for park and pool patrons. Signs are being erected today, and curbs are being painted, "to instruct drivers who use the lot.

At the east end of the lot, 34 spaces will be reserved for park and pool users and 6 will be restricted to passenger loading only.

There will be eight spaces only for employees at the west end of the lot and 32 will be available on a "first-come, first-served" basis.

The 80-square lot, at the southwest corner of the park, has been available this summer to all who wanted to use it, Haworth said. The new system is designed to reserve space for the users of the park and the swimming pool and to make more efficient use of the overall parking area. It is expected that parking spaces will remain for those who have customarily been using the lot.

Tass Says Another Rocket with Dog Launched in Russia

London—(UPI)—The Soviet news agency Tass said today that another dog-carrying rocket was successfully launched and recovered July 10.

Tass said the ballistic rocket weighed 4,840 pounds and carried two dogs. It said the dogs and the equipment were recovered.

It was the second such space flight reported by the Russians this month. On July 2 Soviet scientists launched and recovered a "space rocket" carrying two dogs and a rabbit.

The United States on May 28 shot two small female monkeys to a height of 300 miles and recovered them alive after a 1,500-mile journey over the Atlantic.

The report of the latest space flight followed a Russian practice of withholding announcements until several days after the event. The July 2 launching was not announced until July 6.

Before the news of the last 2 flights, the Russians had not announced an animal launching for nearly a year. But they indicated that such flights had been made. For example, they said one of the dogs involved in the July 2 space journey was making its third ascent.

The Russians also seemed to be timing their space shots

Butler Accused Of Unfairness By Sparkman

Views Given in Letter To Johnson

Washington—(UPI)—Sen. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.) accused Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler today of unfairness and betrayal of duty for criticizing Democratic leaders in Congress.

He demanded that Butler work for party unity or resign.

Sparkman gave his views on the current dispute between the party chairman and Democrats in Congress in a letter to Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, one of Butler's targets.

Another southern senator, Herman Talmadge (D-Ga.), called for Butler's resignation. He said that if Butler fails to quit voluntarily, the national committee "ought to fire him at the first opportunity."

Talmadge said Friday night he personally believes Butler "has long since outlived his usefulness."

"As someone said, we are paying Butler $35,000 a year to try to destroy the Democratic party while Republican National Chairman Thurston B. Morton would be glad to do it for free," Talmadge said.

Butler said the party needed to influence the congressional leaders to work for a national program instead of a "conservative and moderate" one. He also objected to watering down Democratic legislation in an effort to escape vetoes by President Eisenhower.

Sparkman, a member of Congress for 22 years and 1952 nominee for vice president, wrote that Butler's action was unwise, unjustified and unfortunate. He said it could only furnish ammunition for Republicans.

Bard's Heyday Has High Attendance

An estimated 1,200 persons thronged the Shakespearean theater grounds and Lithia park in Ashland yesterday for the annual Bard's Heyday, sponsored by Tudor guild. This is about twice the largest previous attendance at this event, according to Shakespearean festival officials.

Almost 800 took the conducted tours of the new festival theater which began at 1 p. m. and continued until evening. Thirty-three groups averaging about 24 persons each took the tour, guided by company members and other volunteers. Visitors were shown through all levels and sections of the building, patterned after the old Globe theater of Shakespeare's time.

Costumed guild members and others served Elizabethan type food from gaily decorated booths or trays which were carried about the grounds. A puppet show, fish pond and fortune-telling booth added to the carnival atmosphere.

Festival dancers and musicians provided entertainment at intervals, and in the evening the annual actors' pantomime contest was held, with Philip Hanson winning a prize of $15 for his portrayal of a woman buying a hat.

Herter Demands Berlin Statement Put in Writing

Germany's Wanted At Secret Talks

Geneva—(UPI)—Russia hurled its old Berlin terms back at the West today in spite of a warning from Secretary of State Christian A. Herter that western rights must be recognized in writing if there is to be a summit conference.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko returned from Moscow after the three-week recess in the East-West talks with the demand that the foreign ministers conference "start where it left off" by accepting the Kremlin's already-rejected demands.

Wants Germany's Admitted Gromyko touched off a procedural wrangle by rejecting the western request for immediate secret sessions unless both East and West Germany were admitted. Neither Germany was represented at previous secret meetings here, but had attended plenary sessions.

Herter, leading off after western unity was reaffirmed at a pre-conference strategy meeting of the western ministers, put on record the western demand for written recognition of its rights in Berlin and not some vague "confirmation by implication."

Herter's request for secret negotiating sessions was endorsed by British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

The next plenary session was scheduled for Wednesday. It was not immediately known whether a secret meeting would be held Tuesday.

Herter bluntly told Gromyko that any Berlin "truce" must be put down in writing to minimize the danger of subsequent differing interpretations.

He warned that mere reliance on so-called facts that speak for themselves would not satisfy the West.

Centennial Picnic Attracts 100 Persons

Phoenix—Approximately 100 persons attended the Centennial picnic at the Phoenix community club grounds Sunday afternoon.

A potluck lunch was served with representatives of the Lions auxiliary, Firemen's auxiliary and Thursday club serving punch and coffee.

Following the lunch, 4-H members of the recent covered wagon trek to Corvallis reported on their trip with County 4-H agents Glenn Klein and Miss Marilou Garner. Those speaking included Phil Krouse, Applegate, wagonmaster; Ray Inlow, Ashland, adult wagonmaster; Linda Smith and Cecelia Fichtner, Medford 4-H members; and David Foote, Central Point 4-H member. Miss Garner led the community singing.

Lions club members directed games for adults and youngsters following the program.

A Phoenix community club election will be held during the regular meeting Tuesday, starting at 7:30 p. m. in the clubhouse. A proposed fall carnival to replace the Phoenix May Festival will be discussed.

A sound and color film of an aerial railway, of a type under consideration for possible use at Crater Lake National park, will be shown Tuesday, July 14, at 7:30 p. m. in the county courthouse auditorium.

The film showing is open to the public.

Kozlov Leaves; Wishes U.S. Peace, Friendship

New York—(UPI)—Russia's First Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov left for home today with a partying wish of "peace and friendship" for the United States but still convinced, he said, that President Eisenhower's grandchildren will live to see a Communist America.

Called on Harriman In a busy last day in the United States, Kozlov visited the Empire State Building, the United Nations and a subway, held a press conference and paid a one-hour "courtesy call" on former New York Governor and U. S. Ambassador to Moscow Averell Harriman.

Harriman returned last week from a visit to Russia urging that a Summit conference be held here so Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev could see the United States for himself. Difficult to Say Kozlov was asked, as he left Idlewild Airport at 4 a. m., whether Khrushchev will come to this country. He replied: "It is difficult to say now."
