Ambulance Firm Starts Branch

The Medford Ambulance Service is opening a branch in Ashland July 20, according to Dale Waltermire, owner of the firm.

The branch, to be called Siskiyou Ambulance and Sick-room Supply, will be located at 399 East Main st., in Ashland.

Waltermire, who will manage the Ashland firm for the first several months, reported that two ambulances, including one new vehicle, will be operated in the area. Waltermire will be in charge of the Medford service.

Waltermire explained that the local service has handled calls in the Ashland area and with the new branch will be available to supply more fully southern Oregon with ambulance service. Sick room equipment, now supplied to the area from the Medford office, will be available in Ashland.

The Ashland firm will employ three or four persons in the area, Waltermire said. The Waltermires have operated the Medford Ambulance Service for five years.

Market Traders Ignore Old Axiom

New York - (UPI) - Stock market traders ignored an old Wall Street axiom today and sold steel shares on strike news.

The axiom says: "Never sell on strike news." Today the action of the steel shares, with declines ranging to nearly 3 points in U. S. Steel, was the reverse of what market men had anticipated.

Chemicals fell sharply with wider losses than the steels. At the lows Allied Chemical and DuPont were off more than 2 points.

Aluminum issues ruled strong all day. Reynolds Metals ran up nearly 4 points at its best. Alcoa set a new high on a gain of more than a point. Strength also was noted in Kaiser and Aluminum.

Coppers lost 1 to nearly 3 points on lower prices for the metal. Gen Alden was active and firm and so was Fairbanks Whitney.

Two Injured As Vehicles Collide

Two persons received minor injuries as the result of a collision Saturday night, according to state police.

Elmer Elwood Stokes, 77, of 401 Valley View rd., Grants Pass, a driver of one of the cars, was charged with following too closely.

The accident occurred on Highway 99, two miles south of the Josephine - Jackson county line, according to state police. Both cars were northbound on Highway 99 when the car, driven by Robert Cyril Thorpe, 16, Grants Pass, stopped to allow southbound traffic to clear before making a left turn into a private driveway. Stokes was not able to stop to avoid colliding with the rear of the Thorpe car, officers said.

Kathy Thorpe, 11, passenger in the Thorpe car, received a bump on the head. Effie Stokes, also of Grants Pass, and a passenger in the Stokes car, suffered minor bruises.

Church Services Held for Wagoneers

Buhl Idaho - (UPI) - Unusual Sunday morning services for the On To Oregon covered wagon train were conducted by the Twin Falls, Idaho, state mission of the Latter Day Saints church at the state labor camp here.

Missionary Lee McCracken delivered a special sermon in honor of the covered wagon train in which he compared the modern day trek to that taken by his forefathers 100 years ago in their journey to Utah.

The service Sunday was a only one of many held for the seven-wagon cavalcade since it left Independence, Mo., on April 19. Trail officials have tried to have Sunday morning services conducted by a different church or denomination each week.

March tentatively has been set for the first launching of the Sky Spy because it will take five to six months to complete electrical installations at the site, the magazine said.

Point Arguello, about 150 miles north of here, borders on Vandenberg Air Force base, launching point of the Discoverer satellites.
