

TABLE ROCK Morrison Property Sold

By R. E. NEALON
Table Rock - The Watkins-Malone Realty Co. of Medford report the sale of the J. D. Morrison farm here. The Morrisons started from scratch on this farm, working through the years to make a living and accumulate something for their old age.

Mrs. Morrison hated to part with the farm, she said, but owing to health conditions of her husband, who never fully recovered from an auto accident several years ago, and is now a patient in the Jacksonville sanitarium, she decided to sell and move to Jacksonville.

The purchasers of the property are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Toner, school teachers, who have two sons of high school age.

Sam Glass, ex-marine, and overtime farmer, has a patch of corn planted when the oak leaves were bigger than a "squirrel's ear" that is shoulder high and past the cultivating stage.

The Alan Fleischer family returned Saturday from a vacation trip to Portland, where they attended the Centennial exposition and visited relatives, returning by the coast route and spending some time at Reedsport.

Some 30 members of the Bigham clan held their annual get-together and early morning Fourth of July breakfast at Union Creek.

Dan Matteson left Wednesday for Oakland, Calif., to board a train for Kansas City, Kan., where he will spend some time visiting with his cousins at the Bishop home.

Those in the community who have cherry trees report that birds have eaten or ruined most of this year's crop. The principle offenders are the robins.

The "little cattle" the man from Texas saw in our neighbor's pasture were Fred Smith's big red brood sows. Our Texas friend at Beagle should take notice.

The new bridge being put in over Snyder creek will have a deck 4 1/2 feet higher than the old bridge, making a high fill at each end. The work is being supervised by Wesley Hartman who has been building bridges for Jackson county for more than 40 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nelson and two children, Winston, Ore., are visitors this week with Mr. Nelson's parents at the Guy Nelson farm.

Mrs. Doug Robinson and children left Thursday for their home in Vallejo after a three weeks' visit with relatives here and in Medford. Also going south was Elgin Robinson who returned to Camp Pendleton after a three weeks' furlough spent here with home folks.

Among recent visitors at the local Sunday school were Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Randall of Medford, Mr. and Mrs. Maleson and Mrs. Venson Hunt and children of Meadows.

The last Grange meeting at Sams Valley was attended by more than 100 Grangers, many from other Granges in the valley. We noticed that many beautiful beards had fallen victims to Delila's scissors. No prizes were won on beards, but Herb Carlton got honorable mention on his well-groomed vandyke.

The lecturer's program was up to its usual standard and his report on the State Grange convention, which he attended, was particularly interesting. According to the Grange Bulletin, Victor Croxton, the Sams Valley lecturer, has been appointed state Grange lecturer.

Norman Matteson, the flying pill dispenser, reports getting his private pilot's license, and also being elected secretary - treasurer of the Medford branch of the Oregon Pilots' association.

The Arlis Hendersons have returned and are now living again in the small cottage on the Ray Baker farm. Mrs. Baker reports that all is quiet and peaceful at their home after 15 months of remodeling, and listening to saws, hammers, jackhammers, cement mixers and the usual noisy tools connected with this kind of work.

The next task, according to Mrs. Baker, will be landscaping and Dick Fawcett, husband of the former Betty Lou Baker, will plan and help with this work.

The Misses Barbara Wheeler and Anita Pierce, of the local Sunday school are attending Bible camp at Fir Point.

The Bud Robinson family spent the Fourth of July holiday in the Bay area and other California points.

Mrs. Frank Myers was among those attending commencement exercises at Oregon State college, where her niece, Miss Bernice Bigham, graduated in physical education.

Mrs. Mary Howsley is offering her home and five acre tract of irrigated land on Fumice lane for sale as she finds it too much work for her to keep it up.

The RNA Central Point camp held their annual picnic at the home of Mrs. J. S. Richardson Tuesday of this week.

PIANEGGISSIMO - Mrs. Pearl Lee was playing the piano for a few friends when a pigeon flew in, landed on the piano, laid an egg and went to sleep. "She didn't budge all night," Mrs. Lee said Friday, "but was gone when we came down this morning. I had left the window open."
