

Braves Win Another Game From San Francisco and Move Into Second Place

Philadelphia—UPI—The San Francisco Giants, still in first place but smarting from two straight setbacks by Milwaukee, take on the Philadelphia Phillies in a two-night doubleheader tonight.

The Phillies, firmly established in the National League cellar, are best remembered for handing the Giants a double loss the last time they entertained them in a twin bill.

Manager Bill Rigney plans to send Mike McCormick (8-7) to the mound in the first game. His second game choice will be either Stu Miller (4-3) or Eddie Fisher (1-2).

The Phillies will counter with the best they have—Gene Conley (7-5), and Robin Roberts (7-8).

In the eighth, Jim Davenport and pinchhitter Andre Rodgers got infield hits, but second baseman Johnny O'Brien made a great play on a hard ground smash off the bat of Willie Kirkland to end the threat.

Yanks Lose, 13-3 To Drop Fifth In Row to Bosox

By FRED DOWN United Press International

That was the Braves' famed 1-2 punch that hit the Giants but even Casey Stengel can't tell you what hit the Yankees.

It was Lew Burdette Sunday and Warren Spahn Monday night as the Braves cooled off San Francisco's "golden boys" with a pair of victories that suggest Milwaukee may be ready to stage its "annual" July-August pennant push.

But there were just too many tormentors to count over Stengel's extra-long, lost week end as the Red Sox cleaned up the Yankees five straight times and battered no less than 20 New York pitchers for a total of 50 runs.

Braves 1/2 Game Out

Spahn, following up Burdette's 4-2 Sunday triumph with a six-hit, 3-0 victory Monday night pitched the Braves to within a half-game of the Giants. The Cincinnati Reds bashed the Los Angeles Dodgers, 13-5, in the only other game and dropped the losers into third place one game behind the Giants.

The Red Sox, who staggered the Yankees with consecutive 14-3, 8-5, 8-4 and 7-3 drubbings in the first four games of the series in Boston, "buried" the floundering world champions with a 13-3 shelling that dropped them two games under 500, 7 1/2 games behind the idle first-place Cleveland Indians. The Yankees hadn't lost a five-game series to the Red Sox in 20 years and never had lost one at Fenway Park.

Spahn had a worthy opponent in hard-throwing Sam Jones but led Matheus gave the brilliant lefty a 2-0 lead with his 27th homer of the year after Johnny O'Brien walked in the third inning. The Braves added their third run off Stu Miller when Matthews walked, went to third on a double by Hank Aaron and scored on Frank Torre's sacrifice fly.

7 for 8 Under Jurgas

The Red Sox, who have won seven of nine games under new manager Billy Jurgas, took a 4-2 lead over the Yankees in the first inning and then humiliated them with a nine-run sixth-inning rally. Jackie Jensen smashed a three-run homer in the first inning and Gene Stephens climbed the sixth-inning shindig with a grand slam homer.

Frank Sullivan, who won the first game of the four-day series, was tapped for 10 hits, including Yogi Berra's homer, but went the distance to win his sixth game of the year against five defeats. Don Larsen, who was invited to leave after pitching the first inning, suffered his fourth setback compared to six wins.

Frank Robinson drove in three runs with two homers, a double and a single and Gus Bell knocked in four with a homer and a single to lead the Reds' 15-hit attack on six Dodger pitchers. Brooks Lawrence went the last 6 2/3 innings to win his fourth victory and end an eight-game losing streak. Clem Labine dropped his eighth decision against only three wins.

Next Sunday, July 19th, local drag fans will be traveling to Redding, Calif. for the monthly meet of the Shasta Roadsters. The next local meet will be held in two weeks, on Sunday, July 26.

Eight Put On All-Star List

San Diego—UPI—Eight additional players have been selected to the north squad of Manager Charlie Metro of Vancouver for the annual Pacific Coast league all-star baseball game here Monday.

Those selected: Pitchers Connie Grob, Spokane, and Jay Hook, Seattle; infielders Bob DiPietro, Portland, and Bobby Adams, Seattle; outfielders Barry Shetrow, Vancouver, and Frank Howard, Spokane, and catcher Norman Sherry, Spokane.

Cyclist Bert Beck Is Top Eliminator

A motorcycle triumphed over its four-wheeled competitors Sunday at the Southern Oregon Timing association races held at Camp White.

Bert Beck, Rogue River cycle driver, rode off with the top eliminator trophy without ever having to compete against the other top machine on the trip, the Wheeler's Zombie from Medford. Beck garnered the top award when the Zombie crew was disqualified for not being able to meet the required time limit in reporting to the line for the top eliminator race. The Wheeler's entry, with Bob Hewitt at the wheel, had previously edged the Fleming-Miller "3" competition machine to qualify for the big race of the day.

The day's top time award went to Ashland's Lou Wolff for his 109.75 miles per effort during the time trials. Wolff, driving the Ford powered Wolff-Wiley machine was unable to be present for the afternoon eliminations.

Casey: 'We'll Get Going'

New York—UPI—'I've been in worse spots before—we'll get going eventually.'

That was Casey Stengel's message to the New York Yankees in their darkest hour of the season following Monday's 13-5 loss to the Boston Red Sox.

If the panic is on in the New York camp, there was no sign of it on the five-hour train trip from Boston to New York Monday night and none when Stengel announced southpaw Whitey Ford will start against Cleveland's Herb Score tonight in the first game of a four-game series at Yankee Stadium.

Following the series with the Indians, the floundering world champions must play four more games with the second place Chicago White Sox.

'We're not panicky and we're not planning any sensational changes,' Stengel told newsmen with the club. 'We're just going to keep plugging away and we'll come out of the slump.'

Ol' Satchel Keeps On Pitching

By JIM BROOKS

Beloit, Wis.—UPI—The oldest active player in baseball—pitcher Satchel Paige—is dreaming of another shot at the major leagues.

That old black magician of the mound, who has been pitching for more years than anyone can accurately estimate, is, in fact, playing more now than he did during the two preceding seasons when he worked for the Miami Marlins of the International League.

Satch is barnstorming with a semi-pro outfit called the Cuban Giants, Dempsey Howard, owner of the 20th Century Enterprises in Beloit and Paige's manager, says the Giants have already played 53 games this year and that Satch has played in all but two or three. The group has 120 games slated.

For Satch it's a business, but not a happy one. He would rather be in the major leagues, where he tasted briefly some of the glory that could have been his in the 1920s and '30s had there been no color bars.

The old master, who reached the major leagues with Cleveland at a time when most baseball players are retiring, does not, of course, pitch full games.

But for two or three innings every night in "disorganized" baseball, Satch is on the hill, wowing the fans and making good money.

On base he is as much of a clown as he is on the mound but as a pitcher, Paige still has talent. He uses a fast ball about one out of eight pitches. The remainder of the time he tosses one so slow that the umpire could go out to lunch on it and changeups. The curves seem to baffle the boys in the small towns.

Off the field Satch is a glum man. He sits quietly in the dugout, talking to no one unless they ask him a question. Occasionally he wanders out to get a sip of water and then is often mobbed by fans from the old days who invariably ask, "Satch, you remember me, don't you?"

the first slot remains to be seen. It's still an eight team race although the season is almost two-thirds over. Only seven games separate last place Seattle and the Mounties. Already there is speculation about an eighth way tie.

Dodgers In Third As Reds Win, 13-5

Pittsburgh—UPI—The Dodgers dropped back to third place after a disastrous series with the seventh-place Cincinnati Redlegs, and try their luck tonight against the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Ace hurler, Johnny Podres (8-4) recently returned from a bout with an old back ailment, was tabbed by Manager Walt Alton to pitch the opener of the two-game series against the Bucs, Vern Law (9-5).

The Reds, who about this time are taking on the label "Most Hated" for the Dodgers, combined two homers by Frankie Robinson and one by Gus Bell and 15 hits Monday night to humble Los Angeles 13-5.

The loss, which gave the Reds both games of the two-game series, placed the Dodgers third and one full game behind the pace in the National league ratings. Milwaukee, beating San Francisco again, moved into second place a half game behind the Giants.

The Redlegs opened up in the first inning Monday night with three runs on four hits and a walk off starter Danny McDevitt, but two of the runs went down as unearned because of an error committed by rookie shortstop Maury Wills when he tried to handle a grounder hit by Robinson.

Wills redeemed himself in the third frame by starting off the inning with a single. McDevitt forced him, but Jim Gilliam singled to score McDevitt and Gilliam, and Gil Hodges singled in the tying run.

Red starter Joe Nuxhall was replaced by Brooks Lawrence who retired the side and went on to get credit for the win, his fourth. He had been on an eighth-game losing streak.

McDevitt served up Robinson's 21st homer with Pete Whisenant on in the third to give the Reds a 5-3 lead. Clem Labine took over for three innings, long enough to take the loss before being replaced by Art Flower and then Gene Snyder.

The Dodgers evened things up in the next inning when Wills again started things off with a single and Gilliam hit a grounder which was fumbled by Eddie Koko. Neal then forced Gilliam and Wills scored. Moon singled to score Neal. Both runs were unearned.

The Reds moved out ahead again and stayed there with a homer by Robinson in the fifth followed by a three-run home run blasted out by Bell in the sixth. The Reds collected the rest of their runs in the eighth.

LINE SCORE: Los Angeles 003 200 000—3 10 0 Cincinnati—302 013 044—13 13 1 McDevitt, Labine (3), Klippstein (6), Fowler (6), Snyder (8), Lunn (8) and Pridstano, Nuxhall, Lawrence (3) and Dotterer, Winner Lawrence (4-9), Loefer—A. Blaine (3-8), HR—Robinson 2, Bell.

Holman, Auxier Nab Net Wins At Grants Pass

Two first-place victories were picked up by four Medford tennis players in an exhibition match at Grants Pass high school on Sunday. In the number one singles match, Phil Holman of Medford defeated Larry Otis, Grants Pass, 8-7.

The Jack Kramer professional set was used for scoring, the first player winning eight games being declared winner. Otis is the number one netman at the University of Oregon.

Don Auxier of Medford defeated Bruce Merrill of Grants Pass, 6-4, in the number two singles match, to account for the other victory.

In the number three match Jim Blackburn was defeated, 8-3, by talented Grants Pass high school sophomore John Root, and Norm Frohwein was defeated, 8-7, by Dick Newman of Grants Pass.

In doubles play, Otis and Merrill defeated Holman and Root, 8-3.

About 50 spectators were on hand.

Legion Sets July 21 Date For Play-Off

A tight Legion schedule has caused the play-off date of the first game between the area 4 southern and northern division champs to be moved from July 19 to July 21. Roseburg has won the northern division race but the southern battle won't be over until July 19.

The first game of the 2 out of 3 play-off series is scheduled for this area on Tuesday, July 21. The second game will be played at Roseburg on July 22, with the third game scheduled there for the same night in the event of a tie.

And speaking of ties, the southern division race could possibly lead to further schedule headaches. Medford and Central Point, with 5 and 1 records, are currently knotted for the lead, with Klamath Falls just one-half game off the pace. And—all three teams have games scheduled before the league winds up.

If the Stubs beat Medford and lose to Klamath Falls, and if Medford beats Lakeview, the league will end in a three-way tie for first and the play-off games might be in for some further shuffling.

The winner of the play-off series is scheduled to meet the coast division leader on July 26 and 27. North Bend is currently leading the coast division.

Two Leading Denver Publik Tourney

Denver—UPI—Young Hal McCommas, short Texan with a long drawl, and Dr. Donald Keith, a dentist from San Diego, Calif., were the surprise leaders today in the National Public Links golf tournament after the first 18 holes over Welshire Municipal Course.

They toured the 6,617-yard course with 67s Monday, and figured to be among the leaders after today's final 18 holes of medal play. Par for the course is 71.

The 64 low scorers among the 150 entrants after today's rounds will qualify for match play, beginning Wednesday. The tournament ends Saturday.

Sacs Idle, Lose PCL Lead As Mounties Beat Spokane

By DON BECKER United Press International

They've finally dislodged Sacramento from first place in that amazingly tight Pacific Coast league pennant chase.

The Vancouver Mounties grabbed a one percentage point lead over the Solons Monday night as they defeated Spokane, 6-4, while the Sacs were idle.

But just how long the Mounties will be able to hold who leads the league in every pitching department, notched his 11th victory as he quelled the powerful bats of Phoenix on five hits.

Salt Lake won the game last night, Bob Mabe tossed a two hitter as the Seattle Rainiers blanked the Portland Beavers, 1-0.

Hall, who belongs to the Pittsburgh Pirates, may not be around much longer. His record, 11-3, may get him a shot with the Pirates. He's tossed six shutouts and walked only 18 men in 125 innings. His earned run average is under 1.40.

The big batting hero for the Bees was Buddy Pritchard. He slammed an eighth inning homer to give them their margin. He doubled home the Bees' first run in the sixth inning and scored the tying run in the same frame.

Marcelino Solis and reliever Don Hyman allowed Salt Lake only six hits. The Bees chased starter Solis in the sixth when Hall led off with a single and scored on Pritchard's double. Harmon singled Pritchard home.

Win Streak Snapped

The loss ended a four game winning streak for the Giants. Bob Mabe pitched two-hit ball as Seattle whitewashed the Portland Beavers 1-0 in a Pacific Coast league series opener Monday night before a crowd of 6,395 in Multnomah stadium, Portland.

Rudy Regalado supplied the lone Rainer run by hitting a homer in the second inning to left field. It was his eighth of the season.

Mabe needed no help on the mound in notching his second victory. He has one defeat. The Beavers never got a man past second base.

Marty Kutyna went all the way for Portland for his sixth loss against eight victories. He allowed four hits.

Last year, Mabe had a 9-10 record with Omaha and St. Louis.

The current series in Portland is three games.

Olmedo Plays Second Round Match Today

River Forest, Ill.—UPI—Wimbledon champion Alex Olmedo, opening his quest of the National Clay Courts tennis championship today, was expected to have little difficulty in his initial match.

Olmedo of Peru and Los Angeles, top-seeded for the men's singles crown, launches his drive with a second-round match against Gordon Fleming of Flint, Mich., a virtual tennis unknown.

Olmedo drew a first-round bye in the 50th annual tourney. But the No. 2 seed, Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, had a first-round match with Dave Nelson of Spokane, Ill.

Both Olmedo and MacKay were expected to be the center attractions of today's action, which also includes the opening of women's singles competition.

Meanwhile, defending champion Bernard Bartenz of Dallas, Tex., and a number of other seeded men players advanced through the first and second rounds Monday with ease.
