

Brakeless Bus Loaded With Boys Takes Wild Run

Arcadia, Calif.—UPI—An out-of-control bus loaded with 99 boys and men returning from an outing careened brakeless down a steep hill Tuesday, killing a girl in one of three cars it rammed before toppling over on its side.

Twenty-seven boys aboard the Catholic Youth Organization bus suffered minor cuts and bruises and four motorists were injured, one of them seriously.

Had No Horn

"I tried to keep from hitting traffic," said bus driver Brady Bolt, 29. "I hit a power pole on purpose to try to slow us down but I had no horn, no air, no brakes."

The large bus rumbled down Santa Anita ave. past the busy intersection of Sierra Madre dr. at speeds up to 55 miles an hour. It struck two cars, one of which in turn smashed head-on into another auto, knocked down several trees and a power pole before hitting a parked car and overturning on top of it.

Crushed Nearly Flat

The parked car was crushed nearly flat. It was unoccupied.

The eight young men and adult counselors in the bus were credited with preventing their charges, aged 7 to 12, from panicking after the bus overturned at the end of the approximately one-block wild ride.

The dead girl was identified as Corrine Matson, 3, of nearby Sierra Madre. Seriously injured was A. E. Deblais of Pasadena.

Mine Searched For Booby Traps

Petros, Tenn.—UPI—Prison officials searched today for dynamite booby traps believed planted by 95 convicts who surrendered after holding up for two days in a mine at Brushy Mountain State Prison.

Earl Hensley, about 50, one of four hostages held, said four of the convicts told him the prisoners had set booby traps in the mine.

The prisoners, haggard and worn, filed out of the shaft Tuesday. Two hostages, Ben Davis, about 36, and Hensley, the last of four mine foremen held by the prisoners, walked out of the shaft ahead of the prisoners.

The convicts had listed nine complaints, ranging from the quality of their food to unsafe conditions in the mines, as the reason for their rebellion.

The highest auto highway in the United States winds up about 14,260 feet to the peak of Mount Evans, one of the highest in Colorado.

Quotes From the News

By United Press International

Morrisville, Pa.—United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald, addressing steelworkers gathered outside the U.S. Steel Fairless plant here:

"We're absolutely determined on this strike and by the eternal gods we will win. . . . When the final chips are down I will come back to you with the finest labor agreement the union has ever had."

Havana—Capt. Herman Marks, American ex-convict who has just been given a new assignment in the Cuban army, on his former post as chief executioner for Fidel Castro:

"It was not a pleasant job, but one that had to be done."

Petros, Tenn.—Acting State Corrections Commissioner A. W. Patterson, addressing 95 prisoners whose two-day rebellion collapsed suddenly under threat of a starvation siege:

"You all realize you haven't won in the long run."

Baton Rouge, La.—Louisiana Secretary of State Wade O. Martin Jr., on Gov. Earl K. Long:

The thinking people of Louisiana are very embarrassed concerning Gov. Earl K. Long's actions."

Navy Polaris Explodes in Air

Cape Canaveral, Fla.—UPI—A Navy Polaris test rocket exploded in the air moments after it was launched today.

The 28-foot rocket, forerunner of the Navy's submarine-launched ballistic missile, leaped from the launching pad at 8:59 a.m. (p.d.t.).

The rocket, streaming a white band of smoke, rose smoothly at first, veered sharply making almost a complete arch, and then blew up. Three flaming fragments plummeted into the sea.

The defense department said the rocket developed "a malfunction and was destroyed by the range safety officer."

Phoenix Club to Elect Officers

Phoenix—Ballots to elect officers of the Phoenix Community club will be mailed out soon to the club's directors, Mayor Arthur H. MacKintosh said today.

An election of officers was scheduled last night at the club meeting. However, only seven people attended. Allen Harris agreed to accept the nomination as president.

Harris said today that a series of board meetings will be held to consider community projects. One of the projects, he said, will be to clean up and improve the Community club grounds. Members of Harris's 4-H Beef club worked on the grounds last week to clean them up for the Phoenix-Talent 4-H pre-fair and community Centennial picnic.

A proposed Phoenix fall carnival was discussed but no action taken pending election of new club officers. Another meeting will be called soon, it was announced.

St. Cecilia Mass Scheduled at Park

Ashland-Gounod's "St. Cecilia Mass" will be presented by a mixed college-community chorus of more than 100 voices in Lithia park July 27 at 8 p.m.

Directed by Louis O. Clayton, Southern Oregon college music staff member, the mass is set for soprano, tenor, and bass soloists with full chorus.

Soloists for the production include sopranos, Tresa Matlack, Medford; Dolleen Lewis, Ashland; tenors, James Baker, Medford; James Kempster, Medford; bass, Maynard Hadley, Medford, and David Deller, Ashland.

Concert accompanists are Mrs. J. W. McCoy, organist, and Michael Johnson, SOC student, as pianist.

Gounod, who wrote masses of every kind, including a capella, simple organ, orchestra accompaniment, and one for orchestra alone, was also familiar with the Gregorian chant and the Palestrina style of composition. Making Italian church music one of his chief studies, Gounod's "St. Cecilia" is probably his best known mass.

REJECT RED PROPOSAL

Ankara, Turkey—UPI—The Foreign Ministry disclosed today that Turkey has joined the United States and Britain in rejecting the Soviet proposal for a nuclear-free zone in the Balkan and Adriatic Sea areas. The rejection, delivered verbally by the Turkish ambassador to Moscow, said the proposal would deprive Turkey of the right of self-defense.

NOT WATER WHEELS

Tokushia, Japan—UPI—Pilot Iao Ohashi and four passengers escaped with minor injuries today when their amphibious plane bounced off the waves as it came in for a water landing and flipped over on its back. The Nitto Aviation Co. said later, "it appears pilot Ohashi forgot to raise the landing wheels before he attempted a water landing."

Wagon Train Due At Mountain Home

Mountain Home, Idaho—UPI—The On-to-Oregon wagon train was to camp near here tonight, just a few miles away from its next major stop in Boise.

The train is due in Boise on Saturday morning, but not before some economy-sized welcoming ceremonies along the way.

On Friday at a point 12 miles south of the capital city, jet fighters from the 124th fighter squadron will buzz the train in a simulated "Indian raid." To make it look real, the pilots will wear Indian headaddresses.

A food drop from a cargo plane and a visit by helicopter of Boise Mayor Robert Day also is planned.

The wagon train will enter Boise about 9 a.m. Saturday and will immediately parade through the streets. The 59ers will then go to a ranch on the outskirts of Boise for a comparatively restful week end.

Chiloquin Man Killed by Auto

Klamath Falls—UPI—Gerald Roy Lalo, 20, of Chiloquin, was killed about 2 a.m. today when he stepped onto U. S. highway 97 into the path of a southbound automobile driven by Richard James Church, 17, Bellingham, Wash., according to state police.

Owner of the car, David White, 20, of Eugene, who has been attending college in California, was asleep in the vehicle. The boys were going to Los Angeles where Church was planning to enroll in college with White.

SAFETY MEASURE FAILS

Memphis, Tenn.—UPI—T. R. Edlemon, 34, was expected to be released from a hospital today after treatment for injuries suffered while he was avoiding the hazards of the highway. Edlemon, a farmer, said he habitually walks on railroad tracks because he fears he'll be hit by a car or a truck if he walks along the highway. He was hit by an engine Tuesday.
