Firmness Seen In Fir Dimension

Portland – There are gathering signs of firmness once again in the green Fir dimension market this week. The low side of prices has advanced at least one dollar, here, while timbers are showing unusual strength. Prices on this type of cutting are up an additional dollar also this week, according to Crow's Lumber Market News Service.

The lower grades, No. 4 and No. 5 in Ponderosa Pine are strong, and trading has been highly active, Crow's said.

Stock Market Runs Into Selling Spree

New York–(UPI)–Stocks ran into more selling today which sent the market lower.

There were a number of bright spots in the main list as stocks responded to individual corporate developments.

Fears that a long steel strike may have an adverse effect on railroad operations and earnings sent that group lower by more than a point in Southern Pacific.

The steels were lower as a group, although Youngstown countered with a gain of around 2 at its high and Keystone ran ahead around 4 at its best in the specialty steels. Motors were off a point or more. IBM was weak in the electronics. Dow and DuPont were under pressure in the chemicals. Spencer Chemical was wanted and at its high was up more than 2.

Showgirl To Hear Perjury Sentence

Los Angeles – (UPI) – Liz Renay, 34, was to go before a federal judge today for sentencing on one count of perjury, a charge which carries a maximum sentence of five years in prison and a $2,000 fine.

The showgirl and sometime girl friend of ex-gambler Mickey Cohen, spent 90 minutes Thursday answering questions about Cohen before a special federal Grand Jury looking into his finances.

Contrary to her previous visits before the panel, Miss Renay was shy and unwilling to talk to reporters Thursday after her lengthy session.

It was in one of her earlier appearances that she committed perjury when explaining about loans totaling $5,500 she raised for Cohen. She made a surprise plea of guilty Wednesday to the perjury charge.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Robert Jensen said Miss Renay answered all questions Thursday and had stipulated that her answers were true.

Fairs Association Selects President

Portland – (UPI) – Duane Hennessy, manager of the Multnomah County Fair, has been elected president of the Oregon Fairs Association.
