

Martin Receives Suspended Sentence

Roy Lee Martin, 32-year-old ex-office manager of the Crane company here, reversed his previous position Friday afternoon and requested 3½ years suspended sentence. Circuit Judge James M. Main granted his request.

Friday morning Judge Main announced he was giving Martin a 3½ years suspended sentence. However, Martin refused the suspended sentence. One of the conditions imposed was that the ex-office manager make restitution of $3,291.85 for plumbing fixtures he had taken.

Martin, represented by Jim McGoodwin, Medford attorney, Friday afternoon stated in court he actually had wanted probation and didn't mean his previous statement.

SOMETHING WRONG?

Jacksonville, Fla. — (UPI) — Directors of the Jacksonville Police Credit Union Friday ordered an investigation of possible check forgeries after they reported shortages of more than $150,000.

James Jenkins Named To 10 Most Wanted List

James Francis Jenkins, 37, has been named to the "10 most wanted fugitives" list by the federal bureau of investigation. He replaces George E. Cole, who was caught this month in Iowa for the 1956 slaying of a San Francisco policeman.

Jenkins, who is white American, is 5 feet, 9 inches tall, weighs about 205 pounds, has dark brown hair which is slightly receding at the forehead, and has hazel eyes. He has worked as a welder, interior decorator, and milkman.

A federal warrant for his arrest was issued May 1 of this year for escape from confinement while awaiting federal trial for bank robbery. He had been indicted on the bank robbery charge in Philadelphia March 12.

Jenkins and two cellmates escaped through the ceiling of their cell after digging 13 days with a concealed screw driver, according to FBI information. The trio then used torn sheets to lower themselves to the ground.

He is armed and considered dangerous.

Among the other "10 most wanted fugitives" by the FBI is Eugene Francis Newman, 30, who is wanted for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for robbery.

According to FBI information, Newman was one of three armed men who attempted to rob an armored truck Aug. 3, 1955, in Buffalo, N.Y. Two of the men were captured shortly afterwards, but Newman escaped, possibly traveling to Canada.

Wounds Guard

Newman is reportedly the individual who wounded one of the truck guards with machine gun bullets during the robbery.

Newman, who uses numerous aliases, is 5 feet, 8 inches tall, weighs approximately 175 pounds, is of medium build, had light brown or blond wavy hair, which may be dyed red and is a white American. He has worked as a bricklayer, clerk, laborer, counterman and construction worker.

Among his tattoos is the number "13" within a dotted circle on the back of the left hand at the thumb base, and a heart over the name "Danny" on his right forearm.

He is known to have had in his possession several revolvers and a machine gun and is considered extremely dangerous.

Persons having information regarding Jenkins or Newman are to contact the nearest FBI office.

Fire Danger May Force Closure of Garbage Dumps

Following two serious fires at small community garbage dumps recently the state department of forestry is seeking community cooperation to prevent further forest fire danger.

State department of forestry officials stated that garbage dumps at Prospect and Shady Cove and the one operated by the state highway department at Siskiyou summit may all have to be closed.

A meeting was held with Prospect residents Thursday night and Bob Krell, U. S. Forest Ranger stationed at Prospect, was appointed chairman of a committee on the garbage dump problem. The Prospect Lions club is sponsoring community action on the dump problem, it was reported.

Meeting on Monday

State department of forestry officials plan to meet with the Prospect residents again Monday to consider definite steps to be taken regarding forest fire danger from the community dump. Meanwhile, the department officials are considering also the Shady Cove dump although no definite steps have been taken.

At Shady Cove Thursday night a 150-acre forest fire started from the garbage dump there. The state department of forestry had men at the fire when it was only 1½ acres in size. However, because of explosive forest conditions it spotted small fires three-fourths of a mile ahead of the main blaze.

The Prospect dump caught fire last week end and endangered a stand of nearby timber. One member of a fire-fighting crew was injured when he fell down a cliff while returning to the guard station.

Flames Destroy Mill at Baker

Baker (UPI) — Fire starting from the spark of a welding outfit resulted in a $100,000 loss to the Baker Lumber Mill here Friday night.

One man suffered injuries in the blaze, Kenneth McCollough, an employee of the mill, was working in the building at the time. He said the fire literally "exploded."

McCollough told firemen he was unable to make it to the door of the building before the flames overtook him. He suffered severe face, arm and back burns.

The blaze which lasted about three hours, was controlled by Baker firemen.

PTA Officials Speak at Class

Ashland—Mrs. Dorothy Gustison, state president of the Parent-Teachers association, and Mrs. Jessie Fitch, local PTA officer, appeared before Dr. Alva Graham's class in public and professional relations at Southern Oregon college last week.

The size and influence of the organization were said to be second only to the National Education association in numbers and influence. Mrs. Gustison said. She also discussed the objectives of the PTA, listing education and child study, which are sometimes misunderstood by the public and by teachers.

Mrs. Fitch illustrated the nature of child study programs by reference to the Ashland organization.

Both leaders emphasized that the PTA does not attempt in any way to dictate to school officials and that it is non-partisan in its political and educational beliefs.

Others who have appeared before the class during the summer session included Dr. Elmo N. Stevenson, SOC president; Dr. Bill Sampson, chairman of the education division; William Dawkins, Medford public relations executive; and Leonard Mayfield, Medford school superintendent.

Hugh G. Simpson, college director of information, will serve as the last consultant for the series, Dr. Graham announced.

Rogue River Sets Water Rationing

Rogue River—City authorities of Rogue River last week went from house to house to ask gardeners not to use any more water than absolutely necessary.

The move was made as the result of the city's first water shortage in years.

Mayor John Leyen urged residents to be careful with water and offered a voluntary ration plan for irrigation purposes which was suggested by the city council.

Residences west of Oak st. were asked to use water Mondays and Thursdays; Oak st. east to Cedar st., Tuesdays and Fridays; Cedar st. east, Wednesdays and Saturdays.

Water in one of the city's two wells dropped five feet over the week end, it was reported, and the well on Ward's creek will be lost to city use when the highway construction begins next fall.

An investigation committee of Councilmen C. B. Willoughby, Victor Friden and Joe Golding was appointed by the mayor to investigate possibilities for a new well.
