The Medical Roundup
by Walter Alvarez

Cannot Cure Man Against Will

I get so many sad letters from women who tell me of a husband or brother who is obviously psychotic and perhaps even physical violence, would do well to leave a psychotic or alcoholic man before her nerves crack completely.

Family Counselors

Many wise family counselors say that it is well that a home be broken when the children are becoming neurotic because of the distress they are suffering every day. Perhaps a sensitive boy is being terribly upset seeing his father abusing his mother, either physically or mentally. I can quite understand it when I read every few days that some boy has taken a gun and killed his brutal father while he was beating the mother.

Sometimes the poor wife of a psychotic devil of a man has a terrible time leaving him because he threatens to kill her if she leaves, and he is quite capable of carrying out his threat. The worst of it is that usually Society has no method of handling him in such a way that the wife and children will be safe.

Actually, in many of these cases, the man ought to be confined in one of the island colonies which I have been asking for. There, he would be given facilities for earning enough money to support him and his family. But he would not be allowed to go back to his home to beat up his wife and children.

The Family Council

Editor's note: The Family Council consists of a judge a psychiatrist, three clergymen and two newspaper editors and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual report. The Family Council does not give advice; it merely reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counselors.

Martha G.—My friend Sue and I are both in our early 20's. We go out a lot on double dates and have had some very good times. I think that Sue has gone out with very nice men, but she tells me they are all the same—no good. She says when they are alone they all only want to talk of sex. This, of course, is just the build-up to overtures.

I personally don't have that problem and frankly I'm beginning to worry. Do I lack sex appeal?

Sue M.—Martha's just being funny. She knows she's attractive and has always been popular.

But seriously, I don't know why it is that I run into this problem all the time and Martha doesn't. She says she steers the conversation away from sex. I have tried to do the same, but it never seems to work.

The strange part of it is that I have always been very proper in my conduct. I don't smoke, drink or indulge in heavy petting. I don't know why they talk to me like that.

The Council: It takes two to make a conversation. This is always the case—even when one of the two is simply a listener.

Sue must, therefore, consider herself equally responsible with her men friends for creating the sex talk.

It is true that the man is more likely to take the initiative in such conversations, but that doesn't mean the girl must go along with it.

This talk is no tribute to any girl's sex appeal, but it may be a comment on her abilities as a companion and conversationalist.

When conversation lags or is dull many men feel called upon to stir up a little interest in that popular subject—sex. If the subject is not quickly disposed of by a second party it gathers momentum, usually winding up beyond the area of mere words.

Senate Refuses to Give Exemption

Washington—UPI—The Senate refused Tuesday to give radio and television panel shows an exemption from the equal time requirements of the Federal Communications act.

By voice vote, it eliminated such programs from a bill that would exempt radio-TV newscasts, documentaries and public event broadcast from the equal time rule.

Greensboro, N. C. — (UPI) — Judge L. Richardson Preyer found Henry Murphy, 19, a Negro, guilty of stealing watermelons Tuesday, and then suspended sentence. "Watermelons are generally regarded as such an overwhelming temptation that the boys are usually shown mercy," Preyer said.

PUC Authorizes Stock Splitting

Salem—UPI—Public Utility Commissioner Jonel C. Hill said he has approved an application of Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company to split its common shares on a seven-for-one basis.

No proceeds will be realized for the stock conversion, nor will there be underwriting fees or commission paid in connection with the transaction.

The utility which operates in Oregon, Washington, California and parts of Idaho, filed the application June 24. The company said splitting of the stock will result in a "broadening of public interest in the firm."

French philosopher Peter Abelard is considered the founder of the University of Paris.

Salem Minister Named to Synod

Portland—UPI—The Rev. J. Dwight Russell of Salem on Monday was named executive for the Oregon area by the Synod of Oregon of the United Presbyterian church.

The Rev. Mr. Russell succeeds Dr. John Furnas, who recently left for San Anselmo, Calif., to take over as field director of the San Francisco Theological seminary.

Mr. Russell is moderator of the first sessions of the new United Presbyterian Church Synod in Oregon.
