

The Family Council

Editor's note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual report. The Family Council does not give advice; it merely reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and outsiders.

Myrna B.—Ernestine has chickened out.
Ernestine Y.—We won't be able to live with ourselves afterwards.

Myrna B.—My sister and I are women in our 50's and families and loads of responsibility. In recent years one of our biggest headaches has been our mother who is in her 80's.

Mother has lived with me and with my sister, Ernestine. But wherever Mother is living she seems to want to be at the other place. At last she said she wanted to go to a home for the aged.

After a year of hard work we found what we think is a good place for her. Now Mother says she doesn't want to go. I am fed up and I feel we should show a little spunk and make her go. But now Ernestine has chickened out.

Ernestine Y.—We have put up with Mom so I feel we should do it a little longer. We would never be able to forgive ourselves if we made her miserable and deserted her in her last years. I don't think we would be able to live with ourselves.

Anyway, I don't see how we can possibly force Mom to do anything. We can't drag her out of the house against her will. What is she absolutely refusing to go? She is staying with me just now and I have promised her I won't let anyone harm her.

I am just about worn out from this thing and I'm ready to put up with it and keep quiet. It's better than fighting Mom.

The Council: Under the guise of being good to their mother, both these women have been unkind to her for many years.

An elderly person who complains constantly wherever she is needs someone to make a few decisions for her and stick to them kindly but firmly. The mother in this case is really complaining about the steady waning of her strength and ability. She is dissatisfied with herself and refuses to accept life as it comes. When she can play her daughters against each other and get them to submit to her every whim she derives a false and temporary satisfaction. She imagines herself in her old position of power.

Myrna and Ernestine have probably often wished they could be free of this tyranny and feel guilty about this desire. Their mother can play on this guilt when she wants to extend her power one step further.

For their own sakes and for their mother's sake these women should come to a clear-cut decision about the best place for their mother. It will not be necessary to "drag her" anywhere by force if they are patient and use common sense, tact and moral authority. The elderly woman can be convinced that the home for the aged is the best place for her and she can be reassured that her daughters are not deserting her. They can prove this by frequent visits and remembrances of all sorts. They should accept her complaints in stride once they have convinced themselves that she is getting good care.

We do not necessarily recommend the home for the aged as the best place for the elderly woman. We recommend simply that the sisters come to their own decision and then stand firmly on it.

Salvage Logging in Aspen Flat Slated

Bend — (UPI) — Salvage logging operations will begin immediately in the Aspen Flat fire area near here, a spokesman for the U. S. Forest Service has announced.

Ashley A. Poust, supervisor of the Deschutes national forest, said salvage of killed or damaged timber would be carried on by private operators.

Possible as much as 50 million board feet of pine timber will be sold for salvage. The fire, the largest in the history of the Deschutes national forest, blackened more than 21,000 acres. Poust said 9 million feet of timber which was involved in a sale earlier this month was lost in the fire.

Ottawa — (UPI) — Ronald A. Nickerson, 46, former Ottawa manager of United Press, died Tuesday night.

With the Information Service division of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation since the summer of 1957, he had been ill for the past eight months.
