Moscow Subject to Elastic Earth Tides

By JOSEPH MYLER
United Press International
Washington—(UPI)—Moscow is a throbbing, pulsating, not to say jumping city.
Twice a day it rises straight up more than a foot and a half.
This semi-daily phenomenon is due to "elastic earth tides," according to Soviet Academician A. N. Nesmeyanov.
Earth tides, like those of the sea, are caused by the gravitational pull of the sun and moon.
Nesmeyanov, president of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, noted the effect of the earth tides on Moscow in an article published by Pravda on International Geophysical Year (IGY) research. The article has been translated and distributed here.
New Method of Study
Investigation of these ripples in the planet's crust, Nesmeyanov said, is "one of the comparatively new methods of studying the internal structure of the earth."
"It is known," he said, "that in Moscow the tidal wave in 12 hours can reach 50 to 60 centimeters (1.65 to 1.98 feet)."
"This means that the whole city is raised in a vertical direction by half a meter each day."
Such tides, of course, affect the whole of the earth's crust and not just that part around inland cities like Moscow.
Hard To Observe
But the crustal effect is much less apparent than the great liquid tides in the world's oceans and so may be hard to observe in its own right near the seashore.
Study of earth tides during the IGY, Nesmeyanov said, "showed the importance of conducting observation at the points remote from oceans."
This work, he suggested, could be done with special profit "in central Asia where the indirect effects caused by the shifting of the water masses of the oceans are not felt."
This and other research done during the IGY, he said, will lead to "substantial expansion of our knowledge of the earth."

Forest Products Sales Top $2 Million

Salem—(UPI)—State Forester Dwight L. Phillips said Thursday income from sale of forest products on state lands under jurisdiction of the State Forestry Department reached a total of $2,210,195 for the fiscal year ending June 30.
Tillamook county kept its lead in total revenue produced with timber sales totaling $836,766. Most of this came from sale of fire-killed timber in the Tillamook burn.
Other counties in the top brackets included Douglas with $297,401, Clatsop with $233,221, Lincoln with $171,931 and Lane with $171,771.
Income from sales in other counties included: Marion $164,809, Benton $97,888, Coos $57,810, Linn $49,210, Umatilla $36,121, Polk $28,458, Washington $23,172, Clackamas $22,572, Jefferson $18,287, Lake $439, Klamath $150, Josephine $119 and Curry $64.
Texas has about 300,000 acres of state park lands.
