DOUBLE DUNKING

Tonawanda, N. Y.—(UPI)—Leslie Schmidt, 16, fell into the Niagara river from an ice floe last winter but managed to climb out and hurry home to change clothes. A couple of hours later he returned to the river, got trapped on a floating ice floe and had to dive into the frigid water again and swim to safety.

Legislation Needed In Accident Battle

Salem — (UPI) — More legislation is needed to improve Oregon's battle against traffic accidents, Alton P. Bunderson, district director of the National Safety Council said Wednesday.

Bunderson presented a statewide traffic inventory analysis to the Oregon Traffic Safety Commission.

The Medical Roundup

by Walter C. Alvarez

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic
Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Clinic

PATIENT IS AFRAID

It distresses me to keep getting so many letters from good people all over the country who say the same thing – they were told by their doctor that they or a loved one had some disease; and when, in an agony of anxiety, they asked what the name meant in plain English; what was it due to; was it curable; would it last long; was it contagious; was a research on the disease being done anywhere; would a change in diet help; would a change in climate help–their doctor said he had no time to answer all those questions, and walked away.

Dr. Alvarez

Many a person writes me saying, "I know you have no time to read or answer the big pile of letters that come in every day, but please, please read and answer this one. I am so frantic to know what Huntington's Chorea is and if there is any hope for me and my children, but I don't dare ask my doctor; I am afraid to; he is so busy, and he gets so impatient with me."

Some people get so angry about this they say they have started praying for the day when there will be Socialized Medicine in America and the doctor will be a slave of the state.

Unfortunately, I am sure the situation would then be worse, because if we would have the type of socialized medicine they have in England, the doctor would have only about five minutes to a patient, and so perhaps would not say even a word; he would only write a perscription and then his report to Washington in triplicate! He would not have time in which to make even a diagnosis.

But to get back to our unhappy situation here in the U.S.A. I cannot and I will not excuse it. As I travel about the country lecturing to medical societies, I keep begging my fellow doctors, first to devote more time to listening to patients–to getting a good history, and then to thinking a bit about it. Second, I beg the doctors to explain illness better to their patients – to use simple English words, and then to explain to the patient how he can help himself, perhaps by giving up some of his bad habits. Third, in many a case what the doctor needs most to do is to take away fear, and to give the patient every possible encouragement.

Many a time a patient has said to me, after I have taken away fear of heart disease, or cancer, or insanity, "If all I have is nerves and fatigue and insomnia, I can soon take care of that, so don't bother to give me any medicine."

Ohio's state capitol at Columbus took 22 years to build.

Inaudible Sound Checks Tubes

Stamford, Conn. – (Science Service) – Inaudible sound is being used to head off invisible breakdowns.

An ultrasonic testing device has helped electric utilities avert costly generator shutdowns. A boiler tube inspector used during routine checkups can spot faulty tubes before they fail, thus saving thousands of dollars in forced furnace outages. It is estimated an unplanned outage cost $10,000 a day.

The ultrasonic tester pinpoints boiler tubes that have fallen prey to hydrogen embrittlement and blistering. It does this by "seeing" inside the tube and distinguishing internal scale from true metal, reports Branson Ultrasonic Corporation here.

It takes nature up to 1,000 years to produce topsoil.
