Soup on the Rocks Good for Summer

Summertime and the living is easy. Family activity moves to the coolest part of the house or yard, and quicky meals are very much in order. It takes imagination to serve meals which require a minimum of cooking heat and yet have the appeal to lift heat-jaded appetites.

The beverage is important to all hot-weather meals and the most exciting idea to make a splash in that field recently is "Soup on the Rocks," a good summertime thirst-quencher. Delicious flavor and low calorie content make this one of the best coolers you can serve with meals or at any time of the day.

To make Soup on the Rocks punch two holes in a can of beef broth. Place several ice cubes in a glass mug. Pour undiluted beef broth over ice cubes. Garnish with lemon. One can makes two or three servings.

College students average about three colds a year.

En route home, the Medford couple passed Oregon's Centennial wagon train near Baker.

Hemline Debate Raging

By PAT HERMAN
United Press International

Paris - (UPI) - Dressmaker Guy La Roche unleashed a "no holds barred" campaign today against baring the kneecap - a move by the House of Dior that sent the fashion world into acrid debate on the length of skirts.

La Roche, left skirts at the midcalf, thus falling into step with very other designer in the Paris fall showings except Yves Mathieu Saint-Laurent who became the sensation of the season by decreeing hobble skirts and above-knee hemlines.

La Roche also went along with the others of the Paris pack by showing suits with long jackets. Some had fur-trimmed collars, one doubling as a hood. One hip-length jacket in lilac plaid had a button panel down the right side of the back to emphasize length.

The models wore pale makeup, some of them hardly any lipstick, and wore high fur hats. A debate on the Dior hemline raged through Europe and in the United States almost as violently as the debate over Christian Dior's "new look" of 1947 - a style condemned by many and worn by all.

The Duchess of Windsor, perennially one of the world's 10 best dressed women, was reported in favor of Dior's "1960 look" though she did moan, "How will I get in and out of taxicabs?"

If you were male and French the reaction was "excellent!"

If you were female with pretty legs the reaction was coy but affirmative: "The short skirts are lovely - if you can afford to wear them."

CORN CUSTARD

New York (UPI) - Fresh corn makes delicious custard. Combine 2 cups of fresh corn cut off the cob with 3 lightly beaten eggs, 2 teaspoons of finely chopped onion, 1 1/2 teaspoons of salt, 1/2 teaspoon each of ground black pepper and garlic powder and 1 cup of milk. Turn mixture into buttered individual custard cups, using 1/2 of a cup to each container. Place cups in a pan of hot water and bake in a preheated 325-degree oven 1 hour or until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean. Serve hot, garnished with fresh parsley. Serves 6.

Castillo Work Now on Display

A picture painted by Mrs. A. J. (Ada) Castillo, of the old Kubli grist mill, is on exhibit at Mon Desir Inn.

The grist mill is located three miles from Applegate and 12 miles from Jacksonville on the Applegate road. Now called the Applegate grist mill, it was built in 1857 by Elder Kubli, and it was used as a grist mill and trading post for the settlers of the now Applegate valley.

All supplies at that time were brought in by pack train from Crescent City via Gasquet, Waldo, Holland and down Williams creek en route to Jacksonville; there was no Medford or Ashland.

Supplies continued over this route until the railroad was built to Ashland in 1883. Prior to this, supplies came up from the south by wagon and from Roseburg in the late 70s. Later on the grist mill in Eagle Point came into production to help supply the needs of the early settlers during the Modoc war.

Mrs. Castillo is a member of the Southern Oregon Society of Artists, and this is one of her recent pictures.
