

The "fountain of youth" at Rogue Valley Country club ran dry last Saturday evening before Pappy and Potpourri arrived. The fountain, set up by Dr. and Mrs. Bruce Stanley and the James Sheldons for the club's "Ship Wrecked" party, bubbled forth such a magic potion that the eager guests drank it dry in no time at all.

Even if it was dry, the fountain still looked cool and attractive. Set up on the terrace outside the clubhouse door, the committee arranged it in a setting of rocks, moss, plants and seaweed and arranged somehow for the punch to bubble out the top and trickle down over silver foil to a pool at the bottom.

Mrs. Darrell Miller and Mrs. Lee Flink, dressed as island girls in grass skirts and leis, ladled out the punch for the thirsty guests.

The clubhouse had been quite transformed by the Sheldons and the Stanleys. Fish nets, glass floats, chests spilling forth gold coins, artistic drift wood pieces and seaweed were arranged everywhere. In this interesting setting strolled club members wearing all manner of costumes.

Mrs. Edward Sickels wore a colorful sarong. Mrs. Sheldon had on a blue and white sun dress with a lei of fresh flowers and Mrs. Stanley, who said she didn't have time to change her clothing after working at the clubhouse all day, had on pedal pushers, a striped jersey and a straw hat with fruit on it. Mr. Sheldon achieved a light-hearted mood by wearing a brand new gaudy night shirt with little cap to match.

Others also chose to believe that they had been "shipwrecked" after retiring for the night. The R. E. Menckes were among these, with Mrs. Mencke wearing a frothy gown and negligee, and her husband the last word in warm weather short pajamas with plunging neckline.

Mrs. Allan Holmes wore a sarong and went to the trouble of dying her hair black and leaving it uncombed. One friend said admiringly, "She looked just real witchy."

Over all this gaudy Jimmy Dunlevy, club manager, presided with a benevolent air wearing blue denim, a close-fitting jersey and an admiral's hat. Or maybe it was a fireman's hat.

Actress Ginger Rogers told Potpourri last week that she will leave the Rogue valley soon in order to prepare for rehearsals of a new stage play. Miss Rogers, who with her mother, Mrs. Lela Rogers, has been spending a vacation at their ranch on the Rogue river, has signed for the leading role in "Pink Jungle."

This is the latest play of Leslie Stevens and is the story of a business woman who fights for the presidency of a large cosmetic firm. Stevens also wrote "The Marriage-Go-Round" which is playing on Broadway now with Charles Boyer and Claudette Colbert in the leads.

"Pink Jungle" will be directed by Joseph Anthony. Something new will be tried with this piece - it will be rehearsed and opened in San Francisco, and then taken to New York later. Miss R. says that this will be the first time she has ever opened a play in the Bay City, but the director and backers are hopeful because S.F. has the reputation of being a good show town.

Ginger said present plans call for rehearsals to start in September and for the show to open in San Francisco in late October or early November. It will be booked at the Alcazar.

There's always a new fish story going the rounds and yesterday John Parsons contributed the latest one heard around the news room. Mr. Parsons, son-in-law of Seth (Saturday) Bullis, said that recently he went fishing and came back with a real good catch - 12 or 15 good-sized fish.

Wary of his labors, Mr. Parsons put the fish down in the kitchen and took himself off to another part of the house for a nap. When he returned an hour later, the fish were gone. One of the Parsons children had put the whole kit and kaboodle down the disposal. Seems the culprit doesn't like fish.-O.S.

Precautions Against Accidents Urged By Public Health Service

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

Washington—UP—Nearly 16 million American children—one out of every three youngsters under 15—were injured last year in accidents.

This does NOT include minor wounds treated at home with love-and-liniment. It includes only injuries serious enough to send a child to a doctor, or to keep him out of school one or more days.

It also includes 15,000 fatal accidents.

Studies by the U. S. Public Health service show that a third of the fatal accidents, and more than half the non-fatal accidents, occurred while children were in the supposed "safety" of their homes.

Most accidents could have been prevented if parents had taken reasonable precautions, said Dr. Leroy E. Burney, surgeon general of the Public Health Service.

To cut down accidents among children, the Public Health Service and the Children's Bureau made a list of safety tips for parents.

Safety Rules

Here are some recommendations:

Use high shelves or locked cupboards to store lye, bleaches, garden sprays, rat bait, kerosene, insect powders, ammonia, permanent wave solutions, turpentine, moth crystals, cleaning fluids, and furniture polish. About 600,000 children, mostly under age two, are poisoned each year by swallowing household poisons.

Keep knives, icepicks, scissors, needles and other sharp utensils out of reach.

If you store lawnmowers, hedge clippers, saws or machinery in your garage or basement, keep the doors closed.

When cooking, turn the handles of pans on the stove away from the front, so that a child can't pull them over.

When young children are about, use table mats instead of tablecloths that hang over the table edge. A toddler's tug may bring hot coffee or soup down on him.

An adult should be present when small children play in bathtubs to prevent scalding or drowning.

Keep matches out of reach of young children. Teach older children to use matches safely.

Keep stairs free. Teach children to put away toys that might cause falls. Avoid high polish on floors. Small rugs should have non-skid backing.

Teach children to have a healthy fear of moving vehicles and to cross streets only at crosswalks with the traffic light.

Before crossing a street with your child, remind him to look in both directions—don't let him depend on you to look. Always make sure no child is playing in the driveway before backing out a car. Then check again.

Drain Bottles

Drain old medicine bottles down the toilet before throwing them away.

Never keep sleeping pills, aspirin, poisons or drugs in unlocked bathroom cabinets.

If you use flavored medicines, be sure to tell your child it is medicine. Don't trick him into thinking it's candy.

Never leave a sleeping child alone in the house, even for a few minutes.

Check window screens annually to make sure they are fastened securely and the wire is not rusted.

String clotheslines so high that children cannot run into them.

If you have venetian blinds, cut open the loop at the end of the cords to eliminate the chance of a child getting his head caught in a noose. (You'd be surprised how often it happens.)

Buy electric appliances that bear the safety label of Underwriters Laboratories. Replace worn cords promptly. Tape over unused electric outlets within a child's reach. Don't use portable electric heaters in bedrooms.

Inspect toys frequently to be sure they have not become dangerous from use. Don't put a child to bed with playthings.

Learn to recognize different cuts of meat chops. Blade chops have a flat bone located just under the outer rim of fat. Loin chops look like miniature T-bone porterhouse or sirloin steaks. Both blade and loin chops are prepared the same as center cut chops.

Small accidents could have been prevented if parents had taken reasonable precautions, said Dr. Leroy E. Burney, surgeon general of the Public Health Service.

To cut down accidents among children, the Public Health Service and the Children's Bureau made a list of safety tips for parents.

Use high shelves or locked cupboards to store lye, bleaches, garden sprays, rat bait, kerosene, insect powders, ammonia, permanent wave solutions, turpentine, moth crystals, cleaning fluids, and furniture polish. About 600,000 children, mostly under age two, are poisoned each year by swallowing household poisons.

Keep knives, icepicks, scissors, needles and other sharp utensils out of reach.

If you store lawnmowers, hedge clippers, saws or machinery in your garage or basement, keep the doors closed.

When cooking, turn the handles of pans on the stove away from the front, so that a child can't pull them over.

When young children are about, use table mats instead of tablecloths that hang over the table edge. A toddler's tug may bring hot coffee or soup down on him.

An adult should be present when small children play in bathtubs to prevent scalding or drowning.

Keep matches out of reach of young children. Teach older children to use matches safely.

Keep stairs free. Teach children to put away toys that might cause falls. Avoid high polish on floors. Small rugs should have non-skid backing.

Teach children to have a healthy fear of moving vehicles and to cross streets only at crosswalks with the traffic light.

Before crossing a street with your child, remind him to look in both directions—don't let him depend on you to look. Always make sure no child is playing in the driveway before backing out a car. Then check again.

Drain Bottles

Drain old medicine bottles down the toilet before throwing them away.

Never keep sleeping pills, aspirin, poisons or drugs in unlocked bathroom cabinets.

If you use flavored medicines, be sure to tell your child it is medicine. Don't trick him into thinking it's candy.

Never leave a sleeping child alone in the house, even for a few minutes.

Check window screens annually to make sure they are fastened securely and the wire is not rusted.

String clotheslines so high that children cannot run into them.

your CONTINUED STORY of a happy family

Keep a continual, living record of your family in professional portraits from our studio... all the milestones you pass so happily together.

Start today... tomorrow's picture will be different. Call for an appointment.

Phone SP 2-5238

Brainerd's
CAMERAS
PHOTOGRAPHS
120 East Main St.

Judges Named For High Court

Salem—UP—Two circuit judges were named Friday to be pro tem justices of the Oregon Supreme court starting in September.

Chief Justice William McAllister named Circuit Judges Dal M. King of Coos county and Charles W. Redding of Multnomah county.

They succeed Circuit Judges James W. Crawford of Multnomah county and Orval Millard of Grants Pass who have been serving as pro tem judges of the higher court for the past five months.

Learn to recognize different cuts of meat chops. Blade chops have a flat bone located just under the outer rim of fat. Loin chops look like miniature T-bone porterhouse or sirloin steaks. Both blade and loin chops are prepared the same as center cut chops.

MAIL TRIBUNE, Medford, Or.
Sunday, August 2, 1959

Pungent Snack

Slice cervelat sausage in paper-thin slices and spread the slices on several thicknesses of paper towels on a cookie sheet. Turn the gas oven heat control to 400 degrees and bake the slices in the oven for 10 to 15 minutes. The fat will be absorbed onto the paper towels and the resulting chips will be crisp and peppery. Cervelat chips will keep several days without deteriorating.

small enough to go into his mouth. Securely fasten buttons on stuffed animals, wheels on toy cars.

If you own guns, be sure they are unloaded and kept out of children's reach. Lock ammunition in a container or lamp.

closet. Children who see TV westerns may learn how to load a gun.

Always place a firescreen in front of a fireplace in use. Never leave a child alone with a lighted stove, candle

CALENDAR..

Today: 2 p.m.—Nevita chapter, Order of Eastern Star, Casey State park.

Monday: 6:30 p.m.—Christian Business and Professional Women, home of Mrs. Amos Huser, route 1, box 542, Talent.

6:30 p.m.—Westminster Guild, First Presbyterian church, Maple Grove park.

8 p.m.—Olive Rebekah lodge, Odd Fellows hall.

8 p.m.—Rogue Valley Coin club, Girls Community club.

Tuesday: 10 a.m.—Rogue Valley Navy

Mothers club, Girls Community club.

12 noon—Medford chapter, American Gold Star Mothers, Girls Community club.

1 p.m.—Central Point Royal Neighbors of America, home of Mrs. Adena Benson, Willow Springs rd., Central Point.

Wednesday: 11 a.m.—Townsend Harmony auxiliary, Carpenters hall.

1 p.m.—Past Chiefs club, home of Mrs. Joe Cook, Oak st., Jacksonville.

1:30 p.m.—Central Point Garden club, home of Mrs. Everett Young, Willow Springs.

1:30 p.m.—Eagle Point Garden club, Eagle Point park.

8 p.m.—Roxy Ann Home Economics club, home of Mrs. Carl Quackenbush, Foothills rd.

8 p.m.—Veterans of World War I, barracks and auxiliary, Girls Community club.

Friday: 1 p.m.—Gettogether club, Girls Community club.

1:30 p.m.—Eagle Point Garden club, Eagle Point park.
8 p.m.—Roxy Ann Home Economics club, home of Mrs. Carl Quackenbush, Foothills rd.
8 p.m.—Veterans of World War I, barracks and auxiliary, Girls Community club.
Friday:
1 p.m.—Gettogether club, Girls Community club.

HELP US!
We Need Clothing, Shoes, Dishes, Furniture. We Pick Up. HELP OTHERS!
The Salvation Army
Spring 3-7335

our finest "Wamsutta" sheets & cases

There's only one quality in SUPERCAL... the finest!

SPECIAL LOW PRICES FOR AUGUST

	PLAIN HEM	SCALLOPED
72 x 108 reg.	4.95 - 3.95	reg. 5.95 - 4.95
81 x 108 reg.	5.85 - 4.75	reg. 6.85 - 5.75
108 x 122 reg.	10.95 - 9.45	reg. 11.95 - 10.45
CASES 42x38 1/2 reg.	1.35 - .95	reg. 1.75 - 1.45
Twin Bottom Fitted	Reg. 4.95 - 3.95
Double Bottom Fitted	Reg. 5.95 - 4.75

"pillow parade"

ACRILAN PILLOW

- Always Buoyant
- Non-Allergic
- Three Colors

reg. 4.98 3.99

DOWN PILLOWS

- Superior Comfort
- Medium Firm
- 50% goose down, 50% feathers

reg. 12.95 2 for 17.50

FOAM PILLOWS

- Firm Sleeping Comfort
- Non-Allergic
- Completely Sanitary

reg. 5.98 4.99

"bonanza" table cloths

Styled by California Hand Prints. Rayon-cotton with nylon stripe. Washes beautifully. Colors to match every decor.

52 x 52	regular 2.98	2.49
52 x 72	regular 3.98	3.39
52 x 90	regular 7.98	5.89
NAPKINS	regular .59	.49

repeat of a sellout!

"salutations" bedspread

BY CANNON MILLS

regular 8.98 6.98

Beautiful smart styling... unbelievable study quality. Shrinkage controlled... completely washable. Always lint-free. No ironing... ever! Five colors in twin and full sizes.

white sale special! "quaker lace" cloths

For timeless beauty... enhances every decor. Sizes to meet your every need. Dries quickly. Can be laundered by machine or by hand. Irons easily.

54 x 72	regular 8.98	6.98
63 x 83	regular 10.98	8.98
70 x 90	regular 12.98	10.98
70 x 108	regular 14.98	11.98

special purchase "car robes"

Comparable Value 8.98

6.98

Long-wearing — warm. Vicara and Wool Combination. Generous size, 50x60. Fringed ends. Colorful plaids... in a robe of 1001 uses.

robes in handy travel bag 8.98

