Sounding Off on Wrong Numbers

Answering the telephone
Will someday drive us crazy.
I say, "Hello" (a deep bass tone)
And hear some dame say, "Daisy?"

Next time my wife (whose voice is high
And feminine and trilly)
Responds to hear some brilliant guy
Come back at her with, "Willy?"

We're thoroughly convinced by now
That if we once reached over,
Picked up the phone and said, "Meow,"
Some dope would query, "Rover?"
—Hal Chadwick

During preliminary inspection at a Boy Scout camp, the director found an umbrella neatly rolled inside the bedroll of a small camper. This was not on the Scouts' list of needs, and the director asked for an explanation. The youngster had a logical one: "Sir, did you ever have a mother?"

The last resort usually turns out to be the one you should have stayed at.

One blistering hot day when they had guests for dinner, Mother asked her four-year-old to say grace. "I don't know what to say," the youngster replied.
"Well, just say what you've heard me say," she told him.
The boy bowed his head and solemnly recited, "Oh, Lord, why did I invite those people here on a hot day like this?"

A distraught mother rushed down the street carrying a howling baby in her arms. "He's swallowed a nickel," she told the crowd that assembled. "He has to gasp for breath. Somebody help!"

About all anybody could do was volunteer to drive the baby to a doctor. Then one man pulled up in an auto, took in the situation, and grabbed the child. Holding him by the feet, the man gave the baby a couple of whacks on the seat and out popped the coin. He was back in his car and off before anybody realized what had happened.

"Was that seal on his car a doctor's?" asked the stunned mother.

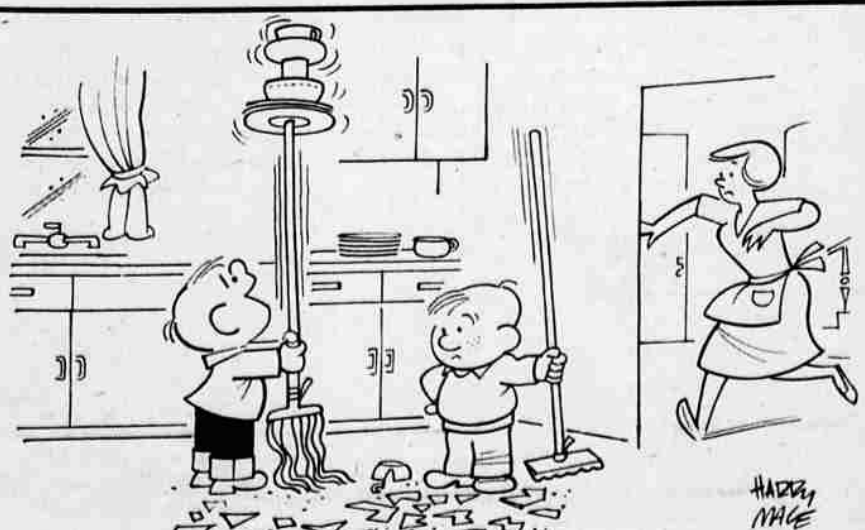

"Even better," reported a bystander. "It was the Collector of Internal Revenue."

The surest way to give a kid a bad name is to let a maiden aunt pick it.

Yes! I know what you're thinking!
And how very right are you.

CONSTIPATED?

If lack of bulk is causing trouble, go to your pantry shelf ...not the medicine cabinet

When you find that, for one reason or another, you are off schedule, it seems easy to try to remedy the trouble with a harsh laxative.

But even though this brings temporary relief, it often starts a dangerous habit. You usually find yourself taking laxative drugs with greater and greater frequency.

As you probably know, one of the common causes of constipation is lack of bulk in the diet. And in these cases, laxative drugs can't correct the cause of the trouble. But an appetizing cereal food can correct it. That food, as millions of people have discovered, is Kellogg's All-Bran.

Kellogg's All-Bran is whole bran—and bran is nature's best bulk-forming food. It is so effective that a half-cup of Kellogg's All-Bran with milk gives you all the good bulk food you need each day for consistent, natural regularity.

If you'd like to keep on schedule the common-sense, good-food way without resorting to harsh medicines, try eating Kellogg's All-Bran once a day for just 10 days. But be sure you get the original whole bran cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran. It's America's most popular whole bran cereal 3 to 1!
