

Rigney Is Looking For 90 Victories

St. Louis, Mo. — (UP) — San Francisco Manager Bill Rigney and a lot of other baseball experts are saying 90 victories will be enough to win the National league pennant.

If that's the case, the league-leading Giants have only to compile a 26-17 mark over the rest of the season.

The Giants moved closer to the magic No. 90 Monday night as they got their 21st game road-trip off to a successful start with a come-from-behind 3-2 win over St. Louis.

Johnny Antonelli (16-6) will take the mound for the Giants against the Cardinals tonight and probably will be opposed by Wilmer Mizell 11-7.

Came From Behind
It appeared as if the Giants were going to have their league lead cut to a mere game over the idle Los Angeles Dodgers Monday night. With the Cards ahead, 2-0, pinch-hitter Leon Wagner delivered a one-out single in the ninth inning. Jim Davenport followed with another one-baser and Willie Mays clutched a third single to score Jose Pagan, who had gone in to run for Wagner.

That marked the end of Cardinal starter Larry Jackson, who had held the Giants to only five hits during the first eight innings. Reliever Dean Stone got Willie McCovey to hit an infield grounder, but a late throw to the plate attempting to get Davenport left all hands safe and the score tied.

Ernie Broglio then came in to pitch and he struck out Orlando Cepeda.

But then Willie Kirkland showed just how hard it is to pitch down the power packed Giants' batting order as he lashed a double that scored McCovey and gave the Giants the winning run.

Little Stu Gets Win
Stu Miller, who took over for Giant starter Sam Jones in the seventh, was credited with the win. He blanked the Cards for two frames and was lifted for pinch-hitter Wagner in the ninth.

Mike McCormick, who had his troubles in the last of the ninth when the Cards got runners on second and third, managed to end the contest with a strike out and a game-ending grounder.

St. Louis took a 1-0 lead when Alex Grammas tripled in the third and scored on an infield grounder. The Cards added their other tally when McCovey kicked a grounder by Hal Smith at first and Don Blasingame and Gino Cimoli followed with singles.

League Leaders

United Press International
Player & Club C. A. R. H. Pct.
Kearney, Det. 97 382 67 132 346
Woodruff, Bal. 104 330 110 330 330
Kalinine, Det. 94 325 110 325 325
Fox, Chi. 110 452 59 146 323
Runnels, Bos. 107 416 67 130 313

NATIONAL LEAGUE
Aron, Mil. 107 434 81 159 346
Cagham, St. L. 105 322 157 340
Temple, Cin. 109 437 74 140 320
Pinson, Cin. 109 458 89 144 314
Cepeda, S.F. 109 434 72 136 313

Runs Batted In
American League—Killebrew, Senators 86; Colavito, Indians 85; Jensen, Red Sox 81; Malone, Red Sox 73; Maxwell, Tigers 71.
National League—Banks, Cubs 102; Robinson, Reds 90; Aaron, Braves 89; Bell, Reds 78; Cepeda, Giants 76.

Home Runs
American League—Killebrew, Senators 35; Colavito, Indians 23; Allison, Senators 27; Lemon, Senators 28; Jensen, Red Sox 24.
National League—Banks, Cubs 32; Matthews, Braves 31; Aaron, Braves 29; Robinson, Reds 24; Cepeda, Giants 23.

Pitching
American League—Shaw, White Sox 11-3; McLish, Indians 14-5; Pappas, Orioles 12-5; Mossi, Tigers 11-3; Wynn, White Sox 15-7.
National League—F.C.C. Pirates 15-0; Antonelli, Giants 16-8; Drye, Dale, Dodgers 13-5; Law, Pirates 12-7; Newcombe, Reds 10-6.

Columbus Jets Win To Keep Position In IL

All of a sudden the Columbus Jets are in a solid position to gain a playoff berth in the International League.

The Jets reached that healthy state Monday night when Al Jackson hurled them to a 6-1 victory over the Rochester Red Wings.

The victory was Columbus' fourth straight and its 10th in the last 14 games. It also kept the club in a tie with Richmond for third place when the Virginians defeated the league-leading Buffalo Bisons, 1-0, on a combined one-hitter by Jim Bronstad and Dick James.

Four Hits
Jackson spaced out four hits in notching his ninth victory against four losses. Dick Ricketts, knocked out in the sixth inning, was the loser. His record is 3-7.

The Virginians got only two hits off Chris Short and Max Surkont but they made the most of them to gain their narrow victory. The victory ran Bronstad's record to 5-6. Short, the loser, has a 12-6 record.

Giants 3, Cards 2; Yanks Beat Bosox

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press International
Rack up another win for Willie.

Only this time it was Willie Kirkland who supplied the blow that won the game and increased the Giants' lead to two full games in the National league race.

Actually San Francisco's 3-2 victory over St. Louis Monday night was a team effort—a team of Willies.

Willie Mays drove in the first run, Willie McCovey the second and Kirkland the winning marker. The Giants, if you'll pardon the pun, won the game in wild and Willie fashion.

Starts Rally
Larry Jackson had them shut out on five hits and led, 2-0, until the ninth. Leon Wagner started the rally with a pinch single and Jim Davenport followed with another single. Mays then singled home the first run.

That brought in Dean Stone, who got McCovey to hit an infield grounder. In an attempt to make a play at the plate, however, the Cardinals missed Davenport and McCovey was safe at first. Ernie Broglio relieved Stone and struck out Orlando Cepeda but Kirkland slammed a double that scored Mays and gave the Giants their fifth victory in the last six games. Stu Miller, second of three Giant pitchers, was the winner.

It was the only game scheduled in the National league.

Yankees Win
In the American league, the Yankees tied the score with four runs in the ninth and then scored three more in the 10th to beat the Red Sox, 7-4, for their fifth straight while the Indians topped the Athletics, 6-4. They were the only games scheduled.

Frank Sullivan, the Red Sox starter, retired 16 men in a row before the Yankees capitalized on two errors to tie the score at 4-4 in the ninth.

The Yankees scored their three runs in the 10th on two walks and singles by Yogi Berra, Elston Howard and Hector Lopez.

Whitey Ford pitched the last two innings and gained his 12th victory against six defeats. Al Schroll was the loser.

Rocky Colavito was the big man in Cleveland's win over Kansas City, which has now lost seven in a row. Colavito collected four of the Tribe's 12 hits, including his 33rd homer of the season.

Cal McLish went the first seven innings, gave up two runs and eight of Kansas City's 11 hits, to post his 14th victory in 19 decisions.

RESULTS:
National League
San Fran., 000 000 003—3 9 1
St. Louis, 001 010 000—2 8 0
S. Jones, Miller (7), McCormick (9) and Landrith, Jackson, Stone (9), Broglio (9) and Smith, Winner (11)—Miller (5-6), Loser—Jackson 9-11.
Only games scheduled.

AMERICAN LEAGUE
W. L. Pct. GB
Chicago 66 42 611
Cleveland 65 48 215
New York 56 54 309 11
Baltimore 56 55 305 11 1/2
Detroit 54 58 482 14
Kansas City 52 59 488 15 1/2
Boston 50 61 490 17 1/2
Washington 44 68 393 28

Monday's Results
New York 7, Boston 4 (10 innings, night)
Cleveland 6, Kansas City 4 (night)
Only games scheduled.

Tuesday's Probable Pitchers
New York at Boston—Ditmar (7-8) vs. Casale (8-7).
Chicago at Detroit (night)—Latham (5-7) at Detroit (10-10).
Cleveland at Kansas City (night)—Grant (7-4) vs. Daley (12-7).
Only games scheduled.

Wednesday's Games
Chicago at Detroit (11-8).
Cleveland at Kansas City, night.
Boston at Baltimore, night.
Washington at New York, night.

PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE
W. L. Pct. GB
Portland 62 55 330
Vancouver 62 58 317 1 1/2
Salt Lake 61 58 313 2
Sacramento 61 59 308 2 1/2
San Diego 60 61 492 4 1/2
Spokane 59 62 488 5
Seattle 54 64 453 8 1/2

Monday's Results
Portland 4, Phoenix 3
Spokane 5, San Diego 3
Vancouver 5, Salt Lake 1 (10 innings)
Seattle 6, Sacramento 5

Tuesday's Probable Pitchers
San Diego at Vancouver (Stigman (6-13) vs. Estrada (10-4).
Salt Lake at Spokane—Hanlon (2-8) vs. Ortega (5-6).
Sacramento at Portland—Un-announced vs. (11-8).
Phoenix at Seattle (2)—Rentfro (5-5) and Zanni (0-0) vs. Rudolph (3-1) and Stenhouse (8-10).

A. Olmedo Looks Good In NJ Play
South Orange, N.J. — (UP) — Alex Olmedo may have been in a slump recently, but it now appears that the Wimbledon champion will be in top form to defend the Davis Cup.

Olmedo, U.S. Davis Cup star from Peru by way of Los Angeles, showed his good form Monday when he easily defeated unseeded Mike Green of Miami Beach, Fla., 6-4, 3-6, 6-0, 6-2, in the final round of men's singles in the Eastern Grass Courts tennis championships.

Olmedo and Earl Buchholz, Jr. of St. Louis, Mo., who may comprise the U.S. Davis Cup doubles team, then won the doubles title by defeating Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn and Indian Davis Cup ace Ramanathan Krishnam, 6-2, 11-13, 6-4, 8-6.

The victory here was the first for Olmedo since he won the Wimbledon crown earlier this summer, following disappointing showings in two recent tournaments. In early rounds here, too, he failed to play his best tennis. But Olmedo appeared every inch the champion against Green.

LEAD FIELD
Portland, Ore. — (UP) — Dr. Arthur Butler, of Pasadena, Calif., and Portland's Dick Yost led a field of 107 today as the Western Amateur Golf championships moved into the second round. Butler and Yost fired identical rounds of 35-34-69 Monday.

About one-third of Canada's 16 million people live in Ontario province.

Butler Cops Senior Golf Crown at Rogue Valley

Larry Butler blew a three-hole lead then recuperated to trim George Stacey 2 and 1 Sunday in the finals for the senior club golf championship at Rogue Valley Country club.

Butler had a 2 up lead after a two-under-par front nine and led 3 up after taking No. 11 with a par. However, Stacey pulled even with pars when Butler double bogied on No. 12 and No. 14 holes and single bogied on 13.

A par on No. 15 put Butler back on top. The contestants halved No. 16 with bogies and split No. 17 with pars to end the match. Playing out the 18th hole each collected a birdie.

Over the first six holes Butler had three birdies and gained a 3 up margin. Stacey birdied No. 7 and parred No. 8 to slice Butler's lead to 1 up. On No. 9, however, Butler was in the cup in the standard number of strokes and Stacey triple bogied on the hole.

For the whole 18 Butler was three over par at 75 and Stacey had a 79 card.

MATCH CARD:
Par out 544 344 544-37
Stacey out 545 445 447-42
Butler out 533 343 554-35
Par in 444 443 433-33-72
Stacey in 454 444 334-33-42-79
Butler in 446 363 534-40-35-75

Waltonians to Seek Additional Funds For Basin Studies

Jackson County chapter of the Izaak Walton league will ask Congress to provide more time and funds for further study of the Rogue river and its tributaries by Army Engineers.

A resolution that this request be made and that the Oregon Congressional delegation be urged to work toward this end was passed by members attending the regular meeting of the chapter at Medford Golf club last night.

Object of the resolution and the additional study it proposes is to secure an acceptable project on the main stem of the upper Rogue which would benefit fish, wildlife and recreation. Waltonians signified their favor of a dam at Lost creek or above properly constructed and operated beneficial to those three factors and to flood control. However, their resolution stressed several matters which have been brought out in recent presentations and discussions on Rogue basin project data of the Corps of Engineers.

Important Project
The most important flood control project, a dam at Lost creek, the resolution points out, is unacceptable to the U.S. fish and wildlife service under the proposed operating plan because of possible damaging effects that might result in total loss of the fish runs.

A statement of Henry Stewart, Engineers' representative that the Corps has "substantially completed studies for a plan of development" of the Rogue basin is mentioned in the Waltonian measure along with the report that the Engineers have only enough time and funds left for conducting hearings and making recommendations. At the same time the desire of Travis Roberts, fish and wildlife service man, to work with the Corps on an alteration of the plan is emphasized.

Roberts has stated, according to the resolution, that the temperatures of the lower Rogue already are critical and that it is possible that the present plan for Lost creek dam would further aggravate the problem. The fish and wildlife man, it was said, is of the opinion that alteration of the plan is "required." He would like to work to provide flow and temperature adequate to maintain fish life.

Lack of Data
The resolution also states that Stewart and Roberts both admit that the lack of temperature data is the "weak link" in the project. It reports that the fish and wildlife service is planning a complete temperature study of the Rogue during the next two years.

Waltonians contend that, if the dam is built, the regulated streamflows at Raygold down the river would be just equal to or less than natural flows in June, July, August and September. They stress that low stream flows occur at the same time as high water temperature.

Members bring out, too, that if all the water were used for power, streamflow and temperature control, the streamflows could be doubled at Lost creek and Raygold during critical low water periods and that the temperature would be lower than under the present plan.

The resolution maintains that without a storage project at Lost creek or above to furnish water for temperature control, the fish runs may be lost in due time because of high water temperatures.

$13 Million Industry
Waltonians showed that the Rogue fishery supports a $13 million industry and has an annual value of $2,155,000 to Oregon. They pointed to 30.64 per cent fishery benefits in the cause of the proposed Copper project on the Applegate river.

Finally listed is the contention that the present study of the Rogue river basin is incomplete and cannot be properly presented by the Nov. 15, 1959 date set to get a basin plan before Congress.

Desirability for a guaranteed increase minimum flow in the lower Rogue below Grants Pass from a Lost creek project was expressed by Cole Rivers, Oregon game commission field agent and fish biologist.

Football Clinic Here Tonight
Ed Ryan, assistant secretary-treasurer of the Oregon School Activities association, will conduct a clinic for football officials at 8 o'clock this evening at the senior high school here. He will show a training film and will discuss rule changes and grid rules and the mechanics of officiating generally.

ATHLETICS WIN HONORS
Kansas City, Mo. — (UP) — The Kansas Athletics will be honored on Aug. 29 for their recent 11-game winning streak, the longest in the major leagues this season. Each player will be presented with an engraved watch and the club will receive a plaque.

FINAL SWIM DAY
East Lansing, Mich. — (UP) — Trials for the United States swimming team in the Pan-American Games entered their final day today. A total of five new records were set in action Monday.

One-fifth of all farmers in the U.S. grow cotton.

SPORTS

Butler Cops Senior Golf Crown at Rogue Valley

Larry Butler blew a three-hole lead then recuperated to trim George Stacey 2 and 1 Sunday in the finals for the senior club golf championship at Rogue Valley Country club. Butler had a 2 up lead after a two-under-par front nine and led 3 up after taking No. 11 with a par. However, Stacey pulled even with pars when Butler double bogied on No. 12 and No. 14 holes and single bogied on 13. A par on No. 15 put Butler back on top. The contestants halved No. 16 with bogies and split No. 17 with pars to end the match. Playing out the 18th hole each collected a birdie. Over the first six holes Butler had three birdies and gained a 3 up margin. Stacey birdied No. 7 and parred No. 8 to slice Butler's lead to 1 up. On No. 9, however, Butler was in the cup in the standard number of strokes and Stacey triple bogied on the hole. For the whole 18 Butler was three over par at 75 and Stacey had a 79 card.

Waltonians to Seek Additional Funds For Basin Studies

Jackson County chapter of the Izaak Walton league will ask Congress to provide more time and funds for further study of the Rogue river and its tributaries by Army Engineers. A resolution that this request be made and that the Oregon Congressional delegation be urged to work toward this end was passed by members attending the regular meeting of the chapter at Medford Golf club last night. Object of the resolution and the additional study it proposes is to secure an acceptable project on the main stem of the upper Rogue which would benefit fish, wildlife and recreation. Waltonians signified their favor of a dam at Lost creek or above properly constructed and operated beneficial to those three factors and to flood control. However, their resolution stressed several matters which have been brought out in recent presentations and discussions on Rogue basin project data of the Corps of Engineers.

Important Project
The most important flood control project, a dam at Lost creek, the resolution points out, is unacceptable to the U.S. fish and wildlife service under the proposed operating plan because of possible damaging effects that might result in total loss of the fish runs.

A statement of Henry Stewart, Engineers' representative that the Corps has "substantially completed studies for a plan of development" of the Rogue basin is mentioned in the Waltonian measure along with the report that the Engineers have only enough time and funds left for conducting hearings and making recommendations. At the same time the desire of Travis Roberts, fish and wildlife service man, to work with the Corps on an alteration of the plan is emphasized.

Roberts has stated, according to the resolution, that the temperatures of the lower Rogue already are critical and that it is possible that the present plan for Lost creek dam would further aggravate the problem. The fish and wildlife man, it was said, is of the opinion that alteration of the plan is "required." He would like to work to provide flow and temperature adequate to maintain fish life.

Lack of Data
The resolution also states that Stewart and Roberts both admit that the lack of temperature data is the "weak link" in the project. It reports that the fish and wildlife service is planning a complete temperature study of the Rogue during the next two years.

Waltonians contend that, if the dam is built, the regulated streamflows at Raygold down the river would be just equal to or less than natural flows in June, July, August and September. They stress that low stream flows occur at the same time as high water temperature.

Members bring out, too, that if all the water were used for power, streamflow and temperature control, the streamflows could be doubled at Lost creek and Raygold during critical low water periods and that the temperature would be lower than under the present plan.

The resolution maintains that without a storage project at Lost creek or above to furnish water for temperature control, the fish runs may be lost in due time because of high water temperatures.

$13 Million Industry
Waltonians showed that the Rogue fishery supports a $13 million industry and has an annual value of $2,155,000 to Oregon. They pointed to 30.64 per cent fishery benefits in the cause of the proposed Copper project on the Applegate river.

Finally listed is the contention that the present study of the Rogue river basin is incomplete and cannot be properly presented by the Nov. 15, 1959 date set to get a basin plan before Congress.

Desirability for a guaranteed increase minimum flow in the lower Rogue below Grants Pass from a Lost creek project was expressed by Cole Rivers, Oregon game commission field agent and fish biologist.

Football Clinic Here Tonight
Ed Ryan, assistant secretary-treasurer of the Oregon School Activities association, will conduct a clinic for football officials at 8 o'clock this evening at the senior high school here. He will show a training film and will discuss rule changes and grid rules and the mechanics of officiating generally.

ATHLETICS WIN HONORS
Kansas City, Mo. — (UP) — The Kansas Athletics will be honored on Aug. 29 for their recent 11-game winning streak, the longest in the major leagues this season. Each player will be presented with an engraved watch and the club will receive a plaque.

FINAL SWIM DAY
East Lansing, Mich. — (UP) — Trials for the United States swimming team in the Pan-American Games entered their final day today. A total of five new records were set in action Monday.

One-fifth of all farmers in the U.S. grow cotton.

Ingo Asked To U.S.; Kayo Called Okay

New York — (UP) — The new head of Rosensohn Enterprises Inc. wants heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson to come here "immediately" to complete a deal for a Sept. 22 return bout against Floyd Patterson, but Johansson seems in no rush to accept.

"There is no reason for me to go there," said Johansson at Goteborg, Sweden. "I am the world champion, and they have to come here if they want anything."

Johansson's statement was made Monday just before Vincent Vellella, new president of Rosensohn Enterprises, disclosed he has cabled the champion an invitation to come here expense-free to "close the deal immediately."

Vellella wired Johansson that a decision must be made now concerning "three possible locations, two of which offer large guarantees." Vellella told the champion that these "firm cash guarantees" and assurance of large closed circuit television make it certain the bout can be held as originally planned on Sept. 22, but warned that present doubt about Johansson's intentions are "seriously hurting the promotion."

Whether Vellella's wire would move Johansson to come here remained to be seen, but the champion was emphatic Monday in stating that he isn't planning a trip now.

Johansson said he was willing to fight Patterson Sept. 22 "if everything is in order," but added that he is "very disappointed over the American conditions."

New York — (UP) — Ingemar Johansson's knockout of Floyd Patterson was "strictly on the level," in the opinion of Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan, but Hogan has a lot more questions he wants to ask about the promotional side of the June 26 bout.

Hogan made that clear Monday after Frank Erickson, convicted gambler and bookmaker, was quizzed in the DA's office for about an hour. Erickson, pudgy 64-year-old New Yorker who once ran a bookmaking business whose annual handle was estimated at $10 million, probably will testify today or Wednesday before the New York grand jury which is investigating underworld influence in boxing, Hogan said.

Hogan stressed that he is not investigating the action in the ring that night at Yankee Stadium when Johansson's thundering right fist knocked the heavyweight crown off the brow of New Yorker Patterson.

In "fairness" to both battlers, Hogan said, he wanted to make it clear that there is not "a scintilla" of evidence to indicate any possibility of a "fix" in the bout.

The Utah lad, who meets Carmen Basilio here for the world middleweight championship on Aug. 28, was equal to the occasion. Accompanied by his manager, Marvin (mink farmer) Jensen, Fullmer was on his best behavior. He spoke in a well-modulated voice, raised the right pinkie when he drank from his coffee cup and he didn't slurp his soup (which is more than can be said of the sports writers.)

Big Gate Expected
"We expect to gross a gate of $250,000 to $300,000 for this fight at the Cow Palace," chorused co-promoters Benjie Ford and Norman Rothschild, the latter from Syracuse, N.Y. "That would mean every seat in the house would be sold out from the $30 ring-sided own to the $5 for the bleachers."

Which was reason, of course, for holding the luncheon in the financial district.

Great Britain has about 10 million head of cattle and 19 million sheep.

But for the sports writers, most of whom usually eat off dime-store chinaware anyway, there is no better eating future after the gold plate service.

"Hey, Fullmer," yelled one uncouth sportswriter, "with this kind of living, are you going to follow in the footsteps of Ingomar and bring your wife, family and friends to camp. And go dancing in the evening?"

"No, sir," replied the smooth Fullmer. "I can't take dancing even when I'm not in training."

Gene was asked if it was true that he was training with a baseball bat.

Swings Bat at Bag
"Yes, that's true," said Fullmer. "I swing it at the punching bag. It's in the same manner that old-time fighters used to chop down trees when training."

"However, as a matter of fact, maybe it would be a good idea to bring the bat into the ring with me against Basilio."

Rothschild, an easterner, may have thought he was roughing it in the West, eating off gold plates, with a luncheon of crab salad, filet steaks, etc.

"I hope the fight is a sell-out," said Rothschild. "Then we'll all eat rather in the future."

But for the sports writers, most of whom usually eat off dime-store chinaware anyway, there is no better eating future after the gold plate service.

At A Gold-Plate Dinner

By HAL WOOD
United Press International
San Francisco — (UP) — Well, sir, there sat Gene Fullmer, bashed-in beak and all, surrounded by bowing waiters and eating off a solid-gold plate.

The place was "His Lordship's Room" at a restaurant called Paoli's in the San Francisco financial district, and the reason for the grandeur was to introduce Fullmer to the press.

The Utah lad, who meets Carmen Basilio here for the world middleweight championship on Aug. 28, was equal to the occasion. Accompanied by his manager, Marvin (mink farmer) Jensen, Fullmer was on his best behavior. He spoke in a well-modulated voice, raised the right pinkie when he drank from his coffee cup and he didn't slurp his soup (which is more than can be said of the sports writers.)

Big Gate Expected
"We expect to gross a gate of $250,000 to $300,000 for this fight at the Cow Palace," chorused co-promoters Benjie Ford and Norman Rothschild, the latter from Syracuse, N.Y. "That would mean every seat in the house would be sold out from the $30 ring-sided own to the $5 for the bleachers."

Which was reason, of course, for holding the luncheon in the financial district.

Great Britain has about 10 million head of cattle and 19 million sheep.

But for the sports writers, most of whom usually eat off dime-store chinaware anyway, there is no better eating future after the gold plate service.

"Hey, Fullmer," yelled one uncouth sportswriter, "with this kind of living, are you going to follow in the footsteps of Ingomar and bring your wife, family and friends to camp. And go dancing in the evening?"

"No, sir," replied the smooth Fullmer. "I can't take dancing even when I'm not in training."

Gene was asked if it was true that he was training with a baseball bat.

Swings Bat at Bag
"Yes, that's true," said Fullmer. "I swing it at the punching bag. It's in the same manner that old-time fighters used to chop down trees when training."

"However, as a matter of fact, maybe it would be a good idea to bring the bat into the ring with me against Basilio."

Rothschild, an easterner, may have thought he was roughing it in the West, eating off gold plates, with a luncheon of crab salad, filet steaks, etc.

"I hope the fight is a sell-out," said Rothschild. "Then we'll all eat rather in the future."

But for the sports writers, most of whom usually eat off dime-store chinaware anyway, there is no better eating future after the gold plate service.

"Hey, Fullmer," yelled one uncouth sportswriter, "with this kind of living, are you going to follow in the footsteps of Ingomar and bring your wife, family and friends to camp. And go dancing in the evening?"

"No, sir," replied the smooth Fullmer. "I can't take dancing even when I'm not in training."

Gene was asked if it was true that he was training with a baseball bat.

Swings Bat at Bag
"Yes, that's true," said Fullmer. "I swing it at the punching bag. It's in the same manner that old-time fighters used to chop down trees when training."

"However, as a matter of fact, maybe it would be a good idea to bring the bat into the ring with me against Basilio."

Rothschild, an easterner, may have thought he was roughing it in the West, eating off gold plates, with a luncheon of crab salad, filet steaks, etc.

"I hope the fight is a sell-out," said Rothschild. "Then we'll all eat rather in the future."

But for the sports writers, most of whom usually eat off dime-store chinaware anyway, there is no better eating future after the gold plate service.

"Hey, Fullmer," yelled one uncouth sportswriter, "