Old Timers Hold Annual Meeting At SOC Campus

Ashland — Featuring the formal dedication and presentation of early-day picture collections, the election of officers, and a keynote address by Dr. Elmo N. Stevenson, Southern Oregon college president, the three-day reunion of the Old Timers branch of the SOC Alumni Association ended Sunday with a breakfast in the Commons.

After attending the Friday evening Oregon Shakespearean Festival performance of "Measure for Measure," the Old Timers, consisting of those who attended the Oregon State Normal school before its discontinuance by the legislature in 1910, attended a breakfast meeting Saturday prior to registration.

Addresses of welcome were extended at the noon luncheon by Worthy Harvey, Eugene, Old Timers' president; Hugh G. Simpson, director of alumni affairs; Arthur S. Taylor, chairman of the social science division; and Dr. Alvin Fellers, director of student affairs.

Dr. Frank D. Haines, Jr., requested that group members write their memoirs and forward them to the College for historical purposes.

Roll calls by classes disclosed that Louise Ganier Peruzzi, Ashland, as a graduate of the class of 1899, represented the oldest class having members at the reunion.

Professor Albert C. Joy and Mrs. Alice Applegate Peil, both Ashland residents, were the former faculty members introduced at the luncheon for special recognition.

Stevenson outlined the growth of the college in terms of land, buildings, enrollment, faculty, and civil service workers. He projected the future growth of the college in the same areas for 1970, predicting an enrollment in excess of 5,000, and a campus of more than 100 acres.

During the business meeting, it was decided that the old normal school bell would be placed between the Britt Student Center and Churchill hall on a permanent base with a bronze plaque honoring W. T. Van Scoy, teacher and president of the normal from 1895 until 1902.

Chicago — (UPI) — An American Airlines Boeing 707 jet with 100 persons aboard lost both its front wheels and skidded 7,000 feet while landing at O'Hare International Airport Tuesday.

The 92 passengers and crew of eight were shaken up but no one was injured and few passengers were aware of any emergency.

"I don't think any of us knew what was happening," a woman passenger said. "The non-stop Los Angeles to Chicago jet liner bounced 40 to 60 feet after the first impact and skidded in a shower of sparks down the runway at a speed estimated at 120 miles an hour.

Fire trucks and ambulances sped to the runway as the huge 120-ton plane came to a halt. The passengers were taken to the terminal in buses.

They'll Do It Every Time

Barbers in Unique Shop Often Too Nervous to Chat

San Francisco — (UPI) — There's a barber shop in San Francisco where the barber is often too nervous to chat and the customer is often too nervous to listen anyway.

It's the Modern Barber College, where you can get a free haircut and save by playing the guinea pig for student barbers.

The school is owned and operated by E. M. Robinson, still spry at 87 and a veteran of 74 years in the barbering business.

"I had to start the hard way," Robinson said. "At the age of 13 I began on the ground of this profession—by scrubbing it—for an old German barber in Odessa, Mo."

Robinson's teaching techniques are modern but the school itself has an archaic charm. The 30 students share four wash basins; plumbing facilities are noisy and shaving lather is whipped up in elderly soap mugs.

The college officially charges 75 cents for haircuts but there's no fee much of the time. The Salvation Army sends over volunteer "models" for the beginner students.

Occasionally a part-shaved customer gets the whips and jangles as the student bears down on him with unsharpened straight razor. One novice barber said two of his "patients" jumped out of the chair and fled without letting him remove the lather.

Three instructors Robinson, who said he published the first book on how-to-do-it barbering in 1900, likes to think that his students

Uncle Sam Willed Widow's Property
San Francisco — (UPI) — Uncle Sam was $7,997.18 richer to day because an adopted niece never forgot how he had taken her into his home.

Mrs. Anna F. Krinsk, of Brisbane, Calif., died in 1957 at the age of 70. She was the widow of a San Francisco municipal railway employee.

The money was sent to the government Tuesday by the U. S. attorney here in accordance with her will which she had hand-written and which read:

"I give all the property of which I possessed to Uncle Sam of America to help me to adopt me. I was so happy to live in America. I gratitude only to Uncle Sam and he will know what to do with my property."

MEDICAL LEADER DIES
Boston — (UPI) — Dr. Channing Frothingham, 78, a leader in the medical field for 52 years, died Tuesday. Frothingham had been chairman of the Committee for the Nation's Health and an overseer of Harvard College.

Wagons Depart Hillsboro for Stop at Dundee

Dundee — (UPI) — The On-to-Oregon Cavalcade left its camp at Hillsboro at 6:30 today and headed for a stop at Dundee, one of three remaining campsites before the end of the 2,000-mile journey from Missouri.

Tuesday night the wagon train members ate barbecued chicken at the Washington county fairgrounds and watched a war dance by Cub Scout "Indians."

The 59ers met a large number of Hillsboro area residents who were descendants of those who helped pioneer the Hillsboro-Forest Grove area.

One of them, Mrs. Eva Ritchey, 89, of Forest Grove, came out west on a wagon train in 1875.

Mules Purchased
The Hillsboro Chamber of Commerce and Junior Chamber announced they had purchased the dark brown pair of matched mules driven on the trip by wagoner Weaver (Pop) Clark, 66, of Hillsboro. At trip's end, the animals will be a gift to him.

Clark is the oldest member of the wagon train party. Greeting him here were his wife, Alma; his three sons and their families, and three stepchildren and their families.

Robert Finout, Clark's grandson, also was a member of the wagon train party. He drove the Hillsboro wagon

Silverton Rancher Eyes Senate Race

Silverton — (UPI) — R. F. Cook, local area rancher, says he is considering whether to seek the Republican nomination for the U. S. Senate from Oregon next year.

Cook said he was being urged by his friends to run. "I believe there should be a conservative candidate, and I am considering the matter. I have not yet decided whether to be a candidate," he said.

Cook, 59, was an unsuccessful candidate for the GOP nomination for Congress from the first district in 1956.

The six-year Senate term of Democrat Richard L. Neuberger expires next year.

Wall Street Chatter

New York — (UPI) — The bull market is in its 18th year. More surprising, it has not experienced a major setback in all this time.

James F. Hughes, analyst for Auchincloss, Parker & Redpath, has come up with some statistics on the market which help to explain the dour look of the Wall Street bears.

Unprecedented Rise
He notes the Dow-Jones Industrial Average has staged an unprecedented rise from the April 1942 low of 92 to an all-time high of 678.10, set on Aug. 3. This rise has been achieved without a single major decline.

In the past 21 months alone, he adds, the average has gone up some 60 per cent with only five minor corrections, excluding the recent setback.

Hayden Island Tip Will Be Auctioned
Salem — (UPI) — The State Land Board announced Tuesday that the east tip of Hayden Island in the Columbia Slough at Portland would go up for auction Aug. 31.

The sale to the highest bidder was announced after city of Portland and Multnomah county officials expressed doubt of being able to afford to develop the site as a park.

The state set a minimum price of $11,700 on the 37 acres. The auction will be in the capitol building here.

Gary Crosby Admits To Bitter Estrangement From Crooning Father

Las Vegas, Nev. — (UPI) — Gary Crosby, eldest son of crooner Bing Crosby, admitted today he is bitterly estranged from his father.

"We just don't get along," he told United Press International in an exclusive interview.

Gary, 26, said Bing has not yet come to see him and his three brothers—Dennis, Philip and Lindsay—in their smash new nightclub act at the Sahara Hotel here.

No Invitation Planned
And, he added, he has no intention of extending an invitation to the crooner.

"The other boys can invite him if they want," he said. "Ain't gonna bother me in the least."

There have been reports from friends of the Crosby family that Bing might slip into town quietly some night to catch the show, which began July 28 and will end Sept. 3.

Anaconda Strike Slated Next Week

Butte, Mont. — (UPI) — The International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers has called for a strike against Anaconda Company properties in Montana and Utah starting a week from today.

The union's Joint Negotiating Committee announced the strike action after a meeting here Tuesday night.

Ernest Salvas, chairman of the Joint Negotiating Committee, said the decision followed "a most unsatisfactory" bargaining session Tuesday afternoon with company negotiators.

Salvas said the strike will begin with the day shift Aug. 19. It will affect company operations in Butte, Great Falls, Anaconda and East Helena, Mont. and Toole, Utah.
