PLAN POLAR TRIP

Moscow—(AP) The All-Union Arctic and Antarctic Research Institute in Leningrad has begun preparations for the Soviet Union's fifth expedition to the Antarctic. The Soviet news agency said the expedition ship "Ob" would leave within two or three months to relieve members of the preceding group on the frozen continent.

Roosevelt's Picture Hung in Clerk's Office

A picture of Franklin D. Roosevelt, presented to the Democratic party in Jackson county by the late L. Peers Wilmeth, Ashland justice of peace, has been hung in the office of County Clerk Marvin Madden.

Also left to the party is Wilmeth's library of political writings. A committee of local party members will determine its use, Madden said.

Homosexual Problems

Every so often when people scold me for talking about homosexuality in this column, I search my soul, but always I decide that I am doing the right thing because, today, there is such a tremendous need for more knowledge in regard to this very common mental quirk—a quirk which causes terrible unhappiness to hundreds of thousands of men and women.

I recently received a letter from a woman—a letter which cheers me because she says that her sheltered upbringing, would have been outraged at seeing in the paper an article on homosexuality. But today she thinks very differently, and she awaits with great interest every column I write on this subject. What has changed her is the fact that recently, when she kept asking her big handsome son why, at 30, he does not seem to be interested in getting married, he told her he couldn't marry because he is so decidedly homosexual in what little love interest he has. Naturally, this was a terrible shock to her, and ever since, she has been heartbroken about it.

Wondered About Son
Now she is remembering the many times she wondered about her son. Even as a little boy, he liked dolls and he preferred to play with girls rather than boys. He was gifted artistically, and he much preferred painting or playing the piano to baseball. In later years, she often wondered why he always drew away from a lovely girl as soon as she showed signs of getting much interested in him.

Now, she confesses to me that she suspects that the boy's father was homosexual because he never showed her much affection; he rarely came to her bed, and he quit by the time he was 40. I am glad to hear that Peter Wilbedell's splendid book, "It's Against the Law" is now going to be re-published in this country. Everyone interested in sexual difficulties should read this moving story of a fine, sensitive and gifted journalist who was railroaded into prison by the police.

A Maker of Braces
William M. McDonald, of the Children's Memorial Hospital, in the University of Oklahoma Medical Center, is a very able maker of braces. Each year he helps scores of children to walk again, instead of just sitting or crawling or lying helplessly and hopelessly. A while ago he met little Gregory, a boy of 12 who was born with hands and wrists and legs so deformed that he could only shamble along the floor like some sort of animal. McDonald designed special hand rests for the boy's crutches and today the lad is walking upright, like a man.

McDonald and his staff of four are constantly modifying children's shoes with cork extensions or elevations or arch supports, and they keep making all sorts of braces, splints, and crutches. Last year they fitted 3,700 such appliances. I read that 95 per cent of this work is financed by the National Foundation, and the Crippled Children's Commission. It is a great work and blessed are the men who, in this way, use their mechanical skill. In Dr. Howard Rusik's institute in New York City, I met the brilliant head of his brace shop, a man who himself is badly crippled and on crutches.

Diagnosing by Machine
For many years I've been fighting a losing battle, trying to get many of my fellow physicians to see that one cannot trust entirely to diagnoses made by a laboratory test, or an x-ray film, good as these tests and films may be. There are any number of difficulties in the way of making all diagnoses mechanically. Many physicians today think that if they will only order at least 100 tests, they surely make the diagnosis, and find a way to cure the patient. Actually, in a high percentage of cases, they cannot do this. Why? Because, as I often have said in this column, there is no test that will show that a woman is dying of a broken heart, due to a delinquent son or a son killed in Korea, or a daughter who has made a most unfortunate marriage, or a husband who is drinking or chasing.

Stage Sitdown Strike

Salt Lake City—(UP)—More than 115 inmates of Utah State prison staged a brief sit-down strike Thursday because of grievances over prison laundry and items which visitors could bring in to the inmates.
