

President's Europe Trip Seen A Diplomatic Test for 'New Ike'

Washington - (UPI) - President Eisenhower's trip to Europe Aug. 26 is shaping up as a delicate diplomatic test for the "new Eisenhower," officials said Saturday.

These officials do the spade-work for high-level conferences such as the President will have in Bonn, Paris and London. Bonn and Paris are pinpointed as especially sensitive spots. Officials acknowledge that West German suspicions and French pride are two major factors with which Eisenhower will have to cope.

In contrast to the past, when he relied chiefly on the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, the President is making an all-out personal effort to crack the stalemate in the cold war with Russia. In this role he has emerged as what veteran White House correspondents term "The New Ike."

The President himself has described the trip as designed to get the views of British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, French President Charles DeGaulle and other Allied leaders before he confers here next month with Russian Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

No Concessions
His problem is to reassure western leaders, particularly German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, that he will make no concessions to Khrushchev that might damage their interests. At the same time he wants to avoid an appearance of "rigidity" that might chill the atmosphere of his talks with Khrushchev.

In his meeting with DeGaulle, Eisenhower can hardly avoid sensitive issues which trouble Franco-American relations. These include refusal of the United States to take sides in the Algerian question, DeGaulle's demand for veto power over American use of nuclear weapons as the price for full French cooperation with NATO, and lesser matters.

Adenauer and DeGaulle are both reported to believe that no good can come from the exchange of visits between Eisenhower and Khrushchev but have refrained from any public expression of their views.

Some Misgivings
There are some misgivings

in the state department over Eisenhower's decision to make a special trip to Bonn instead of meeting Adenauer in London.

Officials recognize that Adenauer is at or near the top of Khrushchev's "hate list." They say the Soviet leader probably thinks the German chancellor is out to sabotage any Soviet-American accord which might ease tensions. For that reason, some officials fear that Eisenhower's special trip might seem "provocative" to Khrushchev.

But all in all, officials said, they think Eisenhower's excursion through the complexities of Allied relations in Western Europe will give him a real workout in the diplomatic sense before he returns to Washington shortly before Khrushchev arrives.

'Almost Hopelessness'
The President, in explaining why he has stepped up his diplomatic efforts, "told reporters earlier last week that he was doing so because the long cold war stalemate had bred an atmosphere of 'almost hopelessness for people' and he believed the time had come when no individual effort should be spared.

"I am trying to end the stalemate and to bring people together more ready to talk," he said at Gettysburg last Wednesday.

International Loan Agency's Plans Told

AWAITING confirmation by Senate is Maj. Gen. David M. Shoup, nominated by President to be Commandant of U. S. Marine Corps.

Washington - (UPI) - The United States made public this week end plans for setting up a new international lending agency designed to help under-developed countries in the cold war economic struggle.

The proposed new agency - The International Development Association - would be an offspring of the World Bank. It would provide development loans to countries which ordinarily have difficulty getting money from private sources or the World Bank. The recipient nations could pay back the loans in their own currencies rather than pounds or dollars.

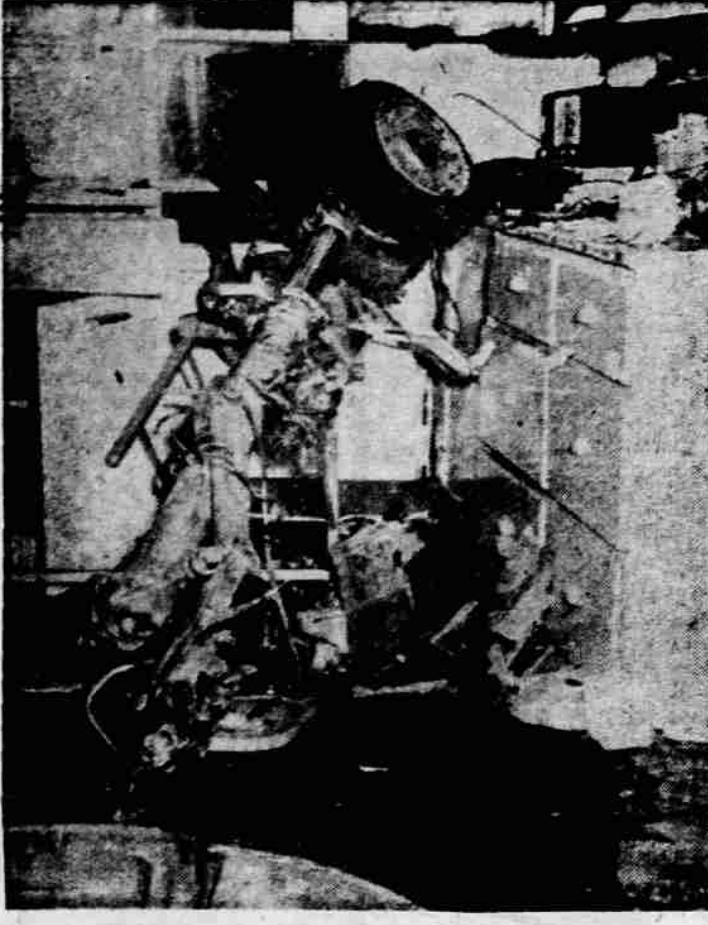

The setting up of IDA has been discussed by experts of World Bank member countries for about a year.

The outline of the program was prepared by the National Advisory Council and submitted to President Eisenhower by its chairman, Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson.

The agency was first proposed by Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.) in February, 1958. The Senate instructed the National Advisory Council to study the idea. Monroney said yesterday the report clearly recognizes the need for a new agency to provide capital for underdeveloped nations through cooperative effort. He praised Anderson for interesting other nations in the plan. He voiced concern, however, over the report's proposal for an initial capital of $1 billion over five years. He complained this would only permit loans of $150 million in the first years of operation.

'Individual Concerns'
The council said the general reaction of most countries consulted had been favorable, although a number of countries had expressed "individual concerns." It did not name these countries.

The proposal will be submitted to the World Bank governors at a meeting here Sept. 28. U.S. officials are hopeful IDA can be formally set up within a year.

WHEEL IN THE HOUSE—Kyle Anderson, 68, was killed when a nosewheel of a F-100 jet plane sailed through a screendoor into the kitchen of his home. Anderson's daughter, 20, was seriously injured as the couple sat down to dinner when a pilotless plane crashed near their home, setting their barn afire. The engine from the plane was thrown into a garage a quarter of a mile away. The pilot had bailed out of the plane moments before when his controls locked. He escaped injury.

Early Senate Approval Seen Likely For Compromise Public Works Bill

Washington (UPI) - Early Senate approval appeared likely this week end for a compromise $1,206,748,549 public works appropriation bill passed by the House.

The measure, adopted by voice vote in the House Friday, ignores President Eisenhower's plea for "no new starts" and includes money to begin construction of 52 new flood control, rivers and harbors and reclamation projects.

The administration had requested $1,176,677,000 for the current fiscal year which began July 1 and had proposed no new projects.

The Senate was expected to act on the bill this week, probably without changing it. There was no move in the House to make alterations, although some members were dissatisfied with the measure.

The House originally passed a $1,177,177,000 bill and the Senate approved a measure carrying $1,256,836,500. The compromise legislation was worked out Tuesday by House-Senate conferees.

Construction projects in the compromise bill include:

Army Engineers:
Arizona-Painted Rock Reservoir $5,171,000.
California-Black Butte Reservoir $2,500,000; Carbon canyon dam and channel $2,000,000; Devil, East, Twin, Warm and Lytle creeks $2,000,000; Eel river $508,000; Halfmoon Bay harbor $1,500,000; Los Angeles county drainage area, $15,500,000; Lower San Joaquin river and tributaries, $1,000,000; Middle creek $650,000; Mill creek levees $500,000; New Hogan reservoir $1,500,000; Pine Flat reservoir $75,000; Playa Del Rey inlet and basin $500,000; Port Bueneme harbor $3,000,000; Redwood City harbor $1,378,000; Russian river reservoir $250,000; Sacramento river $2,500,000;

000; Sacramento river and major and minor tributaries $1,100,000; Sacramento river deepwater ship channel $6,500,000; San Antonio and Chino creeks $1,800,000; San Jacinto river and Bautista creek $225,000; San Joaquin river-Stockton deepwater channel $250,000; San Lorenzo creek $1,700,000; San Lorenzo river $274,000; Santa Clara river $1,300,000; Santa Maria valley levees $2,200,000; Success reservoir $4,000,000; Terminus reservoir $5,500,000.

Oregon
Oregon-Columbia river between Vancouver and The Dalles $1,611,000; Columbia river local protection, Malheur river, Vale unit $250,000; Cougar reservoir $9,000,000; Hills creek reservoir $8,300,000; Interstate bridge $1,130,000; John Day lock and dam $20,000,000; Multnomah county drainage district $203,000; Rogue river harbor at Gold Beach $1,500,000; The Dalles lock and dam $7,000,000; Willamette river basin bank protection $800,000.

Montana-Fort Peck dam $8,250,000.

Nevada-Truckee river and tributaries $550,000.

Utah-Salt Lake City $1,339,000.

Washington-Chief Joseph dam $1,100,000; Howard A. Hanson reservoir $6,000,000; Ice Harbor lock and dam $32,000,000.

Wyoming-Jackson Hole $650,000; Sheridan $300,000.

Reclamation Bureau projects:
Arizona-Gila $3,449,000; Colorado river front work and levee system $450,000; Parker-Davis $400,000; Boulder canyon $2,900,000.

California-Central valley $44,565,000; Solano $307,000;

Ventura river $392,000.
Montana-Fort Peck $2,902,000.
Nevada-Washoe $1,000,000.
Oregon
Oregon-Crooked river $2,833,000; Klamath $522,000; Rogue river basin, Talent division $2,747,788; Wapinitia, Juniper division $39,700.
Utah-Provo river $632,000; Weber basin $5,835,000.
Washington-Columbia basin $8,000,000; Chief Joseph dam, Greater Wenatchee division $500,000.
Wyoming-Shoshone $110,000.
Reclamation Bureau's Missouri river basin projects:
Montana-East Bench $1,000,000; Helena valley $2,182,000.
Wyoming-Glendo $2,118,000; Owl creek $1,007,859.

Auto Crash Claims Roseburg Resident

Grants Pass (UPI) - George Hanson, 53, of Roseburg, was killed Friday evening in an automobile accident 12 miles north of here on Highway 99.

Deputy coroner Bill Hull said Hanson's car apparently collided with an auto driven by Edward Romano, 46, of Vancouver, B. C. Romano was injured along with his wife, 39, and son Robert, 14, who were passengers in the car he was driving. They were taken to Josephine county hospital here. Hanson died before he could be taken to town.

One of eight trucks produced in the U.S. is for export purposes.

TRAFFIC JAM—A truck and trailer loaded with tons of beer cases, careened off the Soto St. overpass 30 feet above the heavily-traveled San Bernardino Freeway in Los Angeles, Calif. The accident, killing the truck driver, Michael Steck, occurred during the homeward rush hour. Toshiyoshi Oni, 37, of Claremont, Calif., whose car lies hidden underneath the truck trailer, miraculously escapes with only minor injuries.

It's Goodbye to STAINING PEELING CRACKING . . .

On Stucco, Masonry and Asbestos Shingle Siding!

SPRED Glide-On

The wonderful finish for exterior masonry surfaces, can be brushed, rolled or sprayed. Dries in minutes to a beautiful soft finish, forming a tough vinyl film that resists hottest sunshine, driving rains, mildew, smog, dust and chemical fumes. Colors stay bright, new looking, longer. Check with us this week!

S&H Green Stamps!

FRAKE & SMITH
PAINT & WALLPAPER

315 E. Main Ph. SP 2-4564
Artists Supplies
Custom Picture Framing

WARDS
MONTGOMERY WARD

Shop in one spot for BACK-TO-SCHOOL needs

shop Wards catalog

For easier, more economical back-to-school shopping, shop Wards Catalog. Yes, whether the kids are headed for kindergarten or campus, you'll find almost all their needs in this one convenient spot. So, shop it today!

BRIEF BAG in strong Nylonite.....3.99
RING BINDER; zipped; accessories1.79
DRAFTING SET; 13-pc. beginners' set 4.98
OIL PAINTS; 12-color set in case.....3.19
TYPEWRITER; Royal portable model 88.88

SHOP BY PHONE CALL SP 3-6641
SHOP IN PERSON - 117 S. Central

Theft and Assault Bring Two Terms

Tillamook (UPI) - Billy Gene Yarbrough, 19, of Roseburg, was sentenced Friday by Circuit Judge Jack Bohannon to two five-year terms in the Oregon state correctional institution in Salem.

Yarbrough was charged with larceny of $122 at a Shell station here two weeks ago. He had been held in the Tillamook county jail since he was picked up the day after the robbery.

On Monday of last week he attempted to break out of jail by hitting the jailer with a sock with a piece of soap in it. He was apprehended, however, before he could escape.

He was sentenced to five years on the larceny charge and five years on charges of assault. The two terms will run consecutively.

A suspected accomplice, Charles Taylor, 22, from California, is still awaiting trial.

GRANDMA VOWS AID
Atlanta - (UPI) - An Atlanta grandmother whose daughter allegedly gave away her eight children, vowed Saturday to keep the children together.

The mother, Mrs. Opie Quesenberry, 28, said she gave the children away because she could not afford to feed and care for them. The grandmother, Mrs. Ovetta Turman, said she would take in washing and scrubbing to support the children, who range in age from seven weeks to 10 years.

The Rogue Valley Dairy Maids

The defending State Champions in the Oregon State Softball Association really have a wonderful record of which everyone in the Rogue Valley may be justly proud. Not only are they one of the most outstanding women's softball teams in the Pacific Northwest, but have become known individually as an example of cleanliness, integrity, fairness and high morality in the field of women's sports to the entire Northwestern sportsworld.

As they go into this week-end's tourney to vie for a berth in the Northwest Regional Conference, we are proud to have been their sponsor these past seasons as well as having been able to contribute to their character-building through training — and their HEALTH through the product we produce . . . MILK . . .

... for, as everyone should know, MILK is essential to young growing bodies and grown-ups alike. You never outgrow your need for milk. In observing the stamina and agility of the Dairy Maids, any admirer or fan would be inclined to make a resolution to DRINK AT LEAST 3 GLASSES OF MILK A DAY!

DRINK AT LEAST 3 GLASSES OF MILK A DAY!

MILK producers league

A Record To Be Proud Of!

Again . . .
Thank You!

All of us put together cannot muster enough words to express our deepest appreciation of your support this year — for your many words of praise and encouragement as well as your faithful attendance at our games. So, to you, our wonderful fans and friends and to our ever-thoughtful sponsors, The Milk Producers' League of Jackson County, we say again, "THANK YOU — EVERYONE!!"

The Rogue Valley Dairy Maids