Alcoholism No. 3 Health Problem

Washington (Science Service)–Alcoholics are being produced at the rate of 500,000 annually in the United States. Their life expectancy is 20 years less than the national average, a University of Illinois scientist said here.

"Alcoholism is now the nation's number three health problem from the standpoint of incidence, lives lost and people disabled," Dr. Andrew C. Ivy reported at the Fourth Annual Institute of Scientific Studies for the Prevention of Alcoholism.

Dr. Ivy said there are 8,000,000 persons afflicted with alcoholism — 5,000,000 outright alcoholics, and another 3,000,000 "pre-alcoholics." He pointed out that 350,000 alcoholics die annually with the average life span being about 51 years compared to a life expectancy of around 70 for non-alcoholics.

After a person has become an alcoholic, he can expect to live an average of 16 years, according to Dr. Ivy. These figures are based on medical records and life insurance statistics.

He stated there had been a 12% decrease in the number of adult drinkers in the past 13 years, but an increase in the consumption of alcoholic beverages. Most of the decline in drinking is traced to women, who accounted for eight per cent of the decrease.

"Increasingly, women are deciding it's not worth the price to keep up with the hard-pouring Joneses," Dr. Ivy pointed out.

HARRY GRESHAM VESTAL

Harry Graham Vestal, 80, of route 2, box 655, Central Point, died Saturday night in an Ashland nursing home.

A Tribute To . . . The Footlighters
This group of hard-working thespians is constantly striving to bring live theatre to Medford. It is an excellent workshop for all who are interested in any phase of drama. Although small in number, the group is large in spirit. The Footlighters have produced many plays in the twelve years they have been in existence, and through their own efforts, plus the assistance of several civic-minded business men, have managed to obtain their own little theatre building which is located at the Fairgrounds.
Their next presentation will be "On the Bridge at Midnight," an old fashioned mellodrama. The play will begin at 8:00 p.m., and is scheduled to run for ten days, August 18 through 22, and August 25-29.
Support the Footlighters . . . attend their next play. You'll be glad you did, and once you do, you'll be back!
