German Boy Sends Coin For Relief at Roseburg

Roseburg—UPI—A small boy in the German city of Hamburg, which was bombed heavily in World War II, has opened his piggy bank to send a contribution to the Roseburg relief fund.

City officials said a letter containing a coin equivalent to two marks—about 50 cents—had been received from Horst Mahncke.

The letter said, "I just returned from the beach. My mother and father read me the news of the Roseburg disaster. Dinner didn't taste so good any more after we heard the news. We had to think about those poor people who suffered so much."

The boy added, "opened my piggybank and although there wasn't much in it I'm sending it to the city of Roseburg and hope that many other people will do likewise."

Helicopter Lays Battlefield Cables

Nutley, N. J.—(Science Service)—Battlefield telephone cables can be laid by helicopter at speeds up to 100 miles an hour—five to ten times faster than by present methods. The cable is packed in a five-foot box in a zig-zag fashion so that it can be payed out without snagging at high speeds. Ten miles of cable fit in the box. The lightweight cable can carry simultaneously 96 two-way conversations. It was developed by the International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation at its laboratories here and the Army Signal Corps.

Many, many small coins add up to a lot.

The letter was written in German and was translated by the bride of a local serviceman.

A local radio station, KRNR, plans to auction off the coin to the highest bidder with the proceeds going to the relief fund.

An explosion and fire Aug. 7 wrecked a large part of the business district here.

Burnett Promoted To General Agent

Robert L. Burnett, district freight and passenger agent here for the Denver and Rio Grande Western railroad, has been promoted to general agent, it was announced today.

The announcement was made by W. M. Kirkpatrick, Portland, traffic manager for the railroad in this area.

Kirkpatrick said the promotion is in recognition of the excellent job Burnett has done in the 4½ years he has headed the railroad's office in Medford. He will remain here doing much the same type of work, Kirkpatrick said, but now becomes one of the two general agents of the Rio Grande in Oregon. The other is stationed in Eugene.

Kirkpatrick was in Medford this week in connection with the announcement of the promotion. Burnett's office is in the Davis building.

Applying Fears Cluttering of Primary Ballot

Salem—UPI—Secretary of State Howell Appaling said Tuesday that people circulating petitions to put the names of their favorite candidate on the Oregon preferential primary ballot have "every right to do so under law."

However, he warned "the result of their efforts may very conceivably be to make a travesty of the entire Oregon primary ballot test insofar as the presidential race is concerned."

Required by law Oregon's new law requires Appaling to place on the ballot names of all "generally advocated and recognized candidates."

It also provides that a candidate's name may be placed on the ballot without his consent by a petition of 1,000 registered Oregon voters of the same major political party.

Appaling was fearful that if too many favorite-son and divisionary candidates were entered by petition, there would not be a clear-cut showing of voter preference. "The people of Oregon have a right to make a clear choice from among those who are nationally recognized as leading candidates, he said.

"Such an expression is possible under our new law and it would have some real meaning if other states followed the same procedure," Appaling continued.

"But cluttering of the ballot with a lot of otherwise meaningless names can only serve to cloud the significance of the primary results."

One Psychiatrist For Every 16,400

New York—(Science Service)—If someone in your family should become mentally ill, you may have a good deal of trouble in finding a specialist to treat him.

Although the total number of psychiatrists in the U. S. has gone up 21 per cent in the last three years, there are still very few in proportion to the population, especially in remote regions away from the big cities.

The man with a sore throat or an earache has a better chance of finding a specialist to treat him, it was announced by the National Association for Mental Health here. The U. S. now has on an average one psychiatrist for every 16,400 population. But in North Carolina and Alabama also have ratios of over 65,000 population to each psychiatrist.

The psychiatrists in the U. S., few in number though they are, do not devote all their time to treating patients, the Association reported. Only 15 per cent are engaged solely in private practice. Others must devote part of their time to other occupations including teaching, research, hospital work and clinic work.

Transistor Speeds Electronic Computer

Somerville, N. J.—UPI—Mesa splashes of etched-out germanium that look like the flat-topped mesa hills of southwestern U. S.—may soon be used for high-speed switching in electronic computers. Under development by RCA, the Mesa transistors are reportedly exceptionally rugged and dependable. An RCA spokesman predicted that the transistors will become "key components" for high-speed military and commercial electronic computers "in the very near future."
