

Police Report Two Mishaps in Area

State police reported two accidents last night, in both of which they said drivers made turns into the wrong lane of traffic, struck other vehicles, and then kept going and had to be brought to a halt.

Police said Charles Bowe, 64, of route 1, box 167, Eagle Point, will be charged with either failure to leave name and address at the scene of an accident or failure to operate on the right side of the road, following an accident about 8 p.m. yesterday on Crater Lake highway near the Butte Falls turnoff.

Bowe's car struck a car driven by Dorothy A. Herbert of 2495 West Main st., Medford, police said, and Bowe left the scene but was forced to the side of the road by another driver, whose name was not given.

The Herbert vehicle was towed away by a wrecker, officers said.

Torrence T. Judy, 70, of San Francisco, was lodged in the county jail last night on a charge of drunk on a public highway, following an accident about 10:30 p.m. at the intersection of Thomas rd. and Sunset dr.

Police said Judy's vehicle struck a car driven by Ernest I. McDonald, 401 West Second st., Medford, and that McDonald turned around the gave chase and finally stopped Judy on Griffin Creek rd.

Police said a complaint would be filed against McDonald for no operator's license.

Plentiful Oregon-Grown Onions Give Zest

The onion in its many varieties has been cultivated as an article of food from the earliest period of history. The Bible (Numbers 11:5) records that the Israelites complained to Moses as they were being led out of Egypt: "We remember the fish which we did eat in Egypt freely; the cucumbers and the melons, and the leeks and the onions and the garlic."

The onion family is a big one and has continued to add zest to menus through the centuries. California is surpassed in onion growing only by New York and Texas; grows approximately 6 million of the nation's 2 billion pounds grown annually. Oregon ranks fifth among onion growing states with close to 4 million pounds. Onion tonnage is surpassed only by potatoes and lettuce which also loom large among west coast-grown crops.

Know Your Onions
There are the yellow onions with which we are all so familiar. There are the small white onions which so often accompany roasts. There are the decorative red onions, some mild and some strong depending on variety. There are garlic and chives and leeks, popular relatives of the family, and the long slender green onions that enliven the menu.

Onions vary in flavor according to varieties. Garlic has, of course, the strongest flavor. A tiny clove of it will permeate a large dish. Leeks, on the other hand, are mildly flavored and sweet. They are the basic ingredient in famed French Vichysoisse.

In between these two extremes of taste come the bulb onions which we call "dry" onions. The Globe onions, yellow, white and red varieties are generally strong while the sweet Spanish, yellow and white varieties are mild. Color alone is not an indicator of taste.

When using onions to season a recipe, the stronger yellow ones should be used. The milder ones are good served as a vegetable. Large sweet Bermudas are delicious in salads or sliced in sandwiches.

Dried Onions, Garlic
Rapidly taking a place alongside the salt and pepper shakers on the kitchen range, are instant minced onion and other forms of dried onion and garlic; a revolutionary trend in seasoning convenience. Processors are capturing the true onion flavor, maintaining flavor control so essential in carefully balanced gourmet recipes and in foreign recipes.

Garlic galaxy is growing. Instant minced garlic, small nuggets of pure garlic with concentrated pungency locked in and ready for instant use has recently joined the familiar garlic powder and garlic salt on our grocery shelves. Chicken-Leek Soup Scotch Main Dish Scotsmen call this "cock-a-leekie" soup. Tops and bulbs of leeks and other good seasoning combine with a fricassee chicken to make this famed Scotch soup, a savory one-dish meal to make nine servings for five or six persons.

- 3 to 4 pound fricassee chicken, cut up
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 2 quarts (8 cups) water
- 4 teaspoons salt
- 3 cups finely chopped leeks, tops and bulbs
- 1 cup finely diced carrots
- 1 cup finely diced celery
- 1/4 cup chopped fresh parsley
- 1/4 teaspoon crumbled whole thyme leaves
- 1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder

Have chicken disjointed or cut up and fry gently on all sides in butter or margarine. Add water and salt. Cover and simmer 1 1/2 to 2 hours or until meat falls from bones. Lift chicken from pot and remove meat from bones. Skim off excess fat from stock. Return meat to pot. Add vegetables and seasonings. Cover and cook 15 to 20 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Serve hot. Nine servings, one cup each.

Herbed Creamed Onions and Peas
An herbed medium white sauce gives flavor interest and creamy texture to a combination of small white onions and fresh shelled or frozen peas. Six servings.

1 1/2 pounds small white onions
1 teaspoon salt
1 pound fresh shelled peas or package frozen peas
Herbed cream sauce
Pour boiling water over onions, let stand five minutes and then peel. Place in a saucepan with salt and one inch boiling water. Bring to boiling point uncovered and boil five minutes. Cover and cook 15 minutes or until tender. Add peas five minutes before onion cooking time is up. Drain and mix lightly with herbed cream sauce. Serve at once.

Herbed Cream Sauce. Melt three tablespoons butter, blend in three tablespoons flour. Remove from heat and stir in 1 1/2 cups milk. Cook over medium heat until of medium thickness. Add salt, freshly ground black pepper and one-half teaspoon ground basil. Pour sauce over vegetables.

Onion-Orange Salad
Fresh orange slices and red onion rings make a salad of fine flavor when topped with chived French salad dressing. Six servings.

Cut two medium size red onions into slices one-fourth inch thick and separate into rings. Place in a bowl of ice water to crisp. Peel three medium size oranges and cut into cartwheels one-fourth inch thick. Arrange over lettuce or other greens. Serve with chived French dressing made by stirring two tablespoons chopped fresh chives into one cup French dressing. Gravenstein Apples Super When Sauced
Fragrant green Gravenstein apples are round with irregular red stripes. Flesh is crisp, white, sweet and juicy as an apple can be. For best eating out-of-hand, store them in the refrigerator. Enjoy them now. Sauce Variations
Freshly made apple Sauce can be easily packed when cooled, in liquid-tight containers, labeled and stored in the freezer for future enjoyment.

For a smooth sauce, apples may be used without paring. Simply core and quarter and cook until soft, then force through sieve. Add sugar and simmer.

For spicy sauce, substitute five tablespoons brown sugar for granulated sugar; add one-fourth teaspoon mace, dash of cinnamon and grated lemon rind.

For cinnamon sauce, cook two tablespoons cinnamon candies with the apples.

For flavor fillip, especially good for serving warm with ham, add a bit of butter and chopped ginger to apple sauce while it is heating.

Fried Apples-Onions
Seasoned onion rings and sliced cooking apples are fried in a skillet for serving with pork, chicken or lamb. Six servings.

A new kind of blanket is made of paper, bound in saten.
