By FRANK JENKINS

From Bonn, West German capital:

West Germans gave President Eisenhower a second tumultuous ovation as he headed for the first series of talks with the major European allies that will set the course of his meeting with Russia's Nikita Khrushchev.

Thousands of freshly scrubbed school children, freed from classes for the occasion, lined the shady streets to cheer the President. As his car rolled along, the crowds began chanting rhythmically: "Ike, Ike, IKE."

ALL THIS in Germany—with whom only a short decade and a half ago we were locked in bitter and deadly war. All this for the man who led our victorious armies then. War is strange business.

MORE on the same subject: Four and a half decades ago, we went to war to MAKE THE WORLD SAFE FOR DEMOCRACY. Democracy is now in graver danger than it was then.

Again—War is strange business.

STILL MORE of the same: We've fought the British. We've fought the Spanish. We've fought the Mexicans. We've fought the Germans. We've fought the Japs.

They're all NOW our firm friends. We've never fought the French. France is now one of our problems. We've never fought the Russians. Russia is now our greatest menace. War is CERTAINLY strange business.

QUESTION:

Why are the Germans so enthusiastic about us now?

Let's be realistic. There are two reasons — both of them logical:

1. We licked them in a fair fight and then treated them fairly and justly.

2. The Germans realize that we are their shield and buckler against Russian communism.

So they're for us. The same goes for Japan.

But—

This fact remains: War is strange business.

THE SMART FALL COSTUME IN EASY-TO-MAKE ORIGINAL BY COLE

PRINTED PATTERN A 930 by Richard Cole

Ingenious RICHARD COLE creates the perfect plan for fall dressing—a supple sheath that partners with a Chanel-inspired jacket for day, and travels on its own in the evening. The dress—utterly simple—is knowingly curved to dramatize the figure. The scooped neckline can be highlighted with a bib of pearls or ropes of bright beads. Add to its virtues the fact that it zips easily up the back, and has, not one, but two side pockets. We like this costume's air of easy elegance translated into wool knit, jersey, sheer wool, hubby tweed or cotton—the binding on the jacket color-matched to the belt. Sewing is ABC-easy, and the happy result is a costume you'll want to wear every day from this moment on.

Printed Pattern A930 is available in Misses' Sizes 10, 12, 14, 16 and 18. Size 16 dress requires 3 3/4 yards 39-inch fabric; jacket requires 1 1/2 yards, 1/2 yards contrast binding.

Send ONE DOLLAR for Printed Pattern A930 to Medford Mail Tribune, Pattern Department, P. O. Box 59, Old Chelsea Station, New York 11, N.Y. Please print plainly YOUR NAME, ADDRESS with ZONE, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE.
