

D.A.'s Remarks Lead to Mistrial

Salem - (UPI) - Circuit Judge George Duncan Friday declared a mistrial in the case of two young men and a girl because of publicized remarks by Marion County District Attorney Hattie Kremen.

The three young people were charged with being involved in an attack on two Salem railroad employees last month.

Mrs. Kremen had told a Salem organization Wednesday that public apathy, easy money and too-lenient juries were prime causes for increased juvenile vandalism in the Salem area.

Her remark about the juries caused Judge Duncan to reset trial of the trio for October. They were returned to Marion county jail.

Mrs. Kremen had told the Salem Soroptomist club that "juries are too prone to return verdicts of innocent in many cases." Her remarks were reported in the press.

Hatfield Calls Attention to Week

Salem - Gov. Mark O. Hatfield has asked Oregonians to "renew our dedication to our nation's basic document which undergirds our free society" in calling attention to Constitution Week.

President Eisenhower has proclaimed the week of Sept. 17 through Sept. 23 as Constitution Week on the 172nd anniversary of the adoption of the constitution.

Governor Hatfield said it is appropriate to "renew our dedication" in view of a "high foreign official of a government that does not enjoy the freedoms of citizens provided in our Constitution."

Change in Board Selections Asked

Salem - (UPI) - The State Board of Agriculture Thursday gave consideration to some way to relieve the governor of appointment of numerous Commodity Commission members.

Gov. Mark Hatfield had asked the Board to work on this problem.

No definite action was taken, but the Board decided to send letters to Commodity Commissions asking them to suggest some means of transferring the appointing power and arriving at a decision before the next Legislature meets.

There was general agreement that the governor should be relieved of this duty. The Board itself might make the appointments.

Long Lost Brother Identified by Filler

North Bend - (UPI) - Mrs. Retta Thomas of North Bend Wednesday read a filler item in her newspaper telling how Ira Wiggs, 69, of Los Angeles, had swallowed poison rather than have his remaining leg amputated. He had lost the other because of an auto accident.

Mrs. Thomas then learned that Wiggs had a flower and the word "Mother" tattooed on an arm.

The man, said Mrs. Thomas, was a brother she had left heard from when he left for Alaska 17 years ago.
