

Hopes, Fears Aroused by Khrushchev Visit Reflected in Special Prayers

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Correspondent
Washington—The widely divergent hopes and fears aroused in the U.S. religious circles by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's approaching visit will be reflected in special prayers offered in thousands of American churches during the next few days.

Although all of the intercessions will be designated "Prayers for Peace," there will be considerable differences in emphasis.

Some church leaders strongly endorse President Eisenhower's attempt to "thaw" U. S. Russian relations. They will stress the hopeful aspects of the Khrushchev visit, and pray for a fruitful outcome.

Other vigorously object to bringing the Communist dictator to America. They fear that Americans may be taken in by Khrushchev. Their prayers will dwell on the suffering of captive peoples behind the Curtain, and the need for Americans to be resolute in their resistance to Red tyranny.

Hopeful Theme Dominant
The hopeful theme is dominant in a special prayer written by the Rev. Dr. Edwin T. Dahlberg, president of the National Council of Churches, and distributed to 100 local churches of 33 major Protestant and orthodox denominations to be read at services today.

An altogether different view is taken in calls to prayer issued by two leading Roman Catholic Cardinals and by some Protestant conservatives and fundamentalists.

Francis Cardinal Spellman, Archbishop of New York, has urged by the 1,500,000 Roman Catholics of his city to participate in a "Holy Hour of Prayer for our Beloved Country."

In announcing the special prayer hour, Cardinal Spellman said:

"Our blessed America is again facing a crisis no less menacing than that day of barbaric betrayal at Pearl Harbor when the honor, the security and the salvation of our country were treacherously endangered."

Special Novena
Richard Cardinal Cushing, Archbishop of Boston, has called for a special Novena (nine days of prayer) beginning when Khrushchev sets foot on American soil today. Cardinal Cushing referred to Khrushchev as "The Butcher of Budapest," and said that the U.S. government, by inviting him here, may help to "canonize Communism."

Protestant clergymen throughout the country also have been receiving letters urging them to take part in a nationwide "Day of Prayer" today. This proposal originated at a meeting held in Washington on August. Participants in the meeting included the leaders of "For America," "The American Coalition," "Americans for Constitutional Action" and several other right wing patriotic groups.

Retired Adm. Ben Moreell, former board chairman of Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., and now head of "Americans for Constitutional Action," issued a statement after the meeting.

"Refrain from Hostility"
He said the participants had agreed that "While we should refrain from any demonstrations of hostility, it would be right and proper that Mr. Khrushchev's arrival in this country should be set aside as a day of prayer in all the churches of the land, so that American patriots may remember those who met death at the hands of the Russian dictatorship, and pray for the salvation of those now in slavery, for the safety of our own people and for the preservation of our freedom against this oppression . . ."

Moreell's proposal has been endorsed by several clergymen, including Evangelist Billy Graham; Dr. Frederick Brown Harris, Chaplain of the U.S. Senate; Dr. George L. Ford, executive director of the National Association of Evangelicals; and the Rev. John Edwards, assistant minister of the National Presbyterian Church in Washington, where President Eisenhower worships.

Hatfield Suggests Leisure Time Study
Portland—Gov. Mark Hatfield has suggested that labor unions do something about the problem of leisure time.

Hatfield spoke to the biennial convention of the Amalgamated Lithographers of America.

Other protestant clergymen warned that prayer should not be used for propaganda purposes, even against atheistic Communism. The Rev. Dr. Charles D. Kean, rector of the Episcopal Church of the Epiphany in downtown Washington, said it would be "perversion of our Christian heritage" to "strike a pose of moral superiority" through ostentatious public prayers at the time of Khrushchev's visit.

The Rev. Dr. Albert P. Stauderman, associate director of "The Lutheran," official weekly news-magazine of the United Lutheran Church, said in an editorial:

"It is hard to understand the attitude of some Roman Catholic Bishops and some fundamentalist fanatics who are trying to stir up opposition to Khrushchev's visit. Whether they know it or not, they are doing a disservice to their country and are playing directly in the hands of the Reds."
