Moose Plan Day to Honor Area Youth

Medford Moose Lodge 178 has announced plans for a "Youth Honor Day" Oct. 31, Cochairmen Don Carlson and John Kenner said today.
An essay contest will be held among high school age youth in Medford with special awards going to participants whose entries are judged best. Plans also are being completed for a special parade for all children of grade school age, they said.

Climaxing the day's activities will be a teen-age dance at the Medford armory for valley youth. There will be no charge, the cochairmen said. Music will be provided by the local musicians union with special guest performers scheduled.
They said the local Moose lodge feels that a day should be set aside to honor the youth, and the lodge hopes to enlist the aid of other organizations and individuals.

Hearing on Circuit Court Suit Reset

A hearing on the Eagle Point irrigation district's injunction suit against Mrs. Ann Todd, district water user, and her husband Howard Todd, has been rescheduled in circuit court next Monday.

The hearing, on whether a temporary restraining order against the Todds should be issued, was originally slated for last Monday, but was continued by Circuit Judge Edward C. Kelly because of a crowded court schedule that day.

The district is seeking in the suit to have the Todds enjoined from causing alleged "disturbances" at the public meetings of the district's board of directors.
