40 Bodies Found In Italy Wreckage

Barletta, Italy.—UPI—Rescue workers dug feverishly through the rubble of a five-story apartment building today, fearful they would find the bodies of many more residents of the new building which collapsed Wednesday at dawn.

The bodies of 40 men, women and children, some of them crushed beyond recognition, already were found. Thirteen persons, all severely injured, were pulled out of the wreckage but it was feared the final death toll might be anywhere from 60 to 100.

The job of digging through the huge mass of concrete, rock and twisted metal went on through the night under powerful spotlights.

"The only ones who can possibly survive this tragedy are the 13 injured who are now in the hospital," a police official said.

About 600 soldiers, firemen, policemen and monks worked around the clock clearing away layer after layer of rubble. Occasionally a horrified shout of "eccone uno!" (here is one!) went up and rescuers crowded around another twisted body.

Centennial To Close Tonight

Portland.—UPI—Oregon's 100-day Centennial Exposition and International Trade Fair will come to a close at midnight tonight.

The gates will be locked by the guards at midnight. Centennial officials were hopeful that total attendance for the event will reach 1,330,000.

Governor and Mrs. Mark Hatfield will visit the International Garden of Tomorrow during the exposition's final day.

The governor and his wife were to be presented with roses cut from a special bush in the garden.

Another bush of the same variety will be sent to President Eisenhower, ex-presidents Harry Truman and Herbert Hoover and the other 49 governors of the states.

Tonight also marks the last showing of the "Oregon Story" at the Centennial arena.

Herblock Suffers Heart Attack

Washington.—UPI—Herbert Block, Pulitzer prize winning editorial cartoonist for the Washington Post and Times Herald, suffered a heart attack last week end and will be hospitalized a few weeks.

The Post said the cartoonist, who signs his work Herblock, was ordered to the hospital early Sunday after he exhibited heart attack symptoms Saturday night.

The newspaper said examinations disclosed no permanent damage but that Block would be in the hospital for several weeks, followed by several weeks more convalescing.

Herblock's editorial cartoons have been a regular front page feature of the Mail Tribune for several years.

Liberal Arts Question Shelved

Portland.—UPI—The Oregon State Board of Higher Education has shelved any action on the liberal arts question at Oregon State college until a study of all aspects of the problem can be made.

The board adjourned here until its annual curriculum meeting in January.

OSC's request for liberal arts degrees in two divisions met opposition by the University of Oregon.
