I WAS JUST THINKING . . .

THIS IS A DAY of wine and wonder.

It is a day to be taken tenderly on the lips and crushed like the grape, burnished in purple and dusted with velvet.

This is the day the hand of summer is taken into the grasp of autumn and I had not known it until I walked into the garden and tasted the breeze.

With the first fringe of flame on the maples, the glass of September is almost empty and October waits.

Long ago I sat here and felt the pain of it, the ancient arch of autumn which will open into winter. And I was saddened.

But it is so no longer. As I grow, if not in wisdom, still in the acceptance of age, I learn that it is not the seasons which govern joy, but joy which springs eternally from the living of them. And though blizzards beckon across the calendar and though hands will one day crack and bleed in the December chill, I am neither unhappy nor afraid.

It is not the sky which shuts out the world, nor the elements which bring loneliness. It is the heart, which sees in them the sterility mirrored by itself.

On such a day as this, I see the Indian-summer blue of the sky, the bronze of the fields, and eagerness rises in me like hunger.

A flight of birds arrows across the horizon and the smoke of a bonfire touches my nostrils. The first dying leaf is a caress against my cheek.

I suspect it may be something like this when my own autumn comes and when one day I rise and see the reflection of myself ravaged by the sighing skin.

Shall I then find agony as I have found it carelessly in the season's change? Or will I have then the knowledge of maturity and know it is not doom?

Beyond this first day of fall, beyond the winter it presages is the spring.

It is so for all years.

Can it be otherwise for me?

Hay Fever Patients now open Nose-Sinus Zone with New 3-Layer Tablet

Clear, free breathing restored in minutes as congested nasal zone is decongested—stops sneezing, watery, itching eyes

Chicago, Ill. (Special) Observers here are hailing a remarkable new advance against the most unrelenting misery of hay fever—congestion in the nose-sinus zone.

A way has been found to decongest this congestion. This is the central fact which has aroused so much interest on the part of hay fever sufferers who have never found satisfactory relief from other medications.

Up to now, nose drops, eye drops, inhalers, sprays and antihistamines have given some measure of relief. But today you can expect much more complete comfort. This new compound reaches all the congested nasal areas from all sides, through the blood stream. It opens stuffed-up, blocked nasal passages. Free breathing is restored in minutes. Stops unpleasant sneezing; watery, itching eyes are cleared.

New Tablet Discovery

It took a new kind of tablet—made in three separate layers—to combine the special ingredients which make this formula so amazingly effective. Among them is a new decongestant substance so effective it has become the single ingredient most prescribed by doctors for relief of congestion in the nose-sinus area.

Available without Prescription

Now available without prescription—this new 3-layer tablet is called Dristan®. Its unique combination of ingredients—(1) opens up blocked breathing, (2) stops unpleasant sneezing, (3) clears red, watery, itching eyes. At the same time, Dristan helps the body meet the great demands put upon it by the stress and strain of hay fever, and bolsters the body's resistance to infection.

Hay fever sufferers who want faster, more complete relief than they have ever before obtained are advised to try Dristan Decongestant Tablets—satisfaction guaranteed, or money refunded.
