Bandit Placed On FBI's List Of Most Wanted

Washington — (UPI) — A heavily-tattooed midwestern bandit who once stole his mother's life savings and left her penniless, was placed on the FBI's list of 10-Most-Wanted criminals Friday.

The fugitive is Frederick Anthony Seno, who has been sought since fleeing from a Chicago court room where he was awaiting trial. Described as "armed and extremely dangerous" he has threatened to murder his ex-wife.

Seno, 52, is known to police as a "walking art gallery" of tattooing. Here is a list of his needlework: Boxing gloves inscribed with the name Freddie, a cat and 1930 on his left arm; A heart between the thumb and forefinger of his right hand; The word "love" on the fingers of his left hand; the word "true" across the fingers of his right hand; A rose inscribed "Della" and a cross on his left shoulder.

'Career' Started in 1926
Seno's criminal career dates back to 1926 when he was sentenced in Illinois for grand larceny. He has pursued his stick-up activities mainly in the midwest and has served prison terms in Minnesota and Indiana.

The escapade which placed him on the FBI list occurred last December. Held on charges of holding up two Chicago supermarkets, Seno broke out of a confinement area in a Cook county (Chicago) courtroom and escaped. The FBI gives this account of his dealings with his mother:

After deserting his wife, he lived with his mother for a short time. He allegedly persuaded her to transfer her life savings and proceeds of the sale of her home to an account under his name. Seno promptly withdrew all of the money and vanished, leaving his mother destitute.

Likes High Living, Gambling
The fugitive is known to like high living and is an avid gambler, particularly on horses. He is reported to attend regularly the annual Mardi Gras celebration in New Orleans and has expressed a desire to live in California.

Seno, born in Chicago, has worked as a construction laborer, bricklayer and maintenance man but prefers employment as a short-order cook. He wears bifocal glasses and is unable to go without them for any length of time.

Physically, he stands 5 feet, 5½ inches and weighs between 123 and 135 pounds. He has dark brown hair, brown eyes, a ruddy complexion and a medium-slender build.

Poling Candidate For Demo Chairman

Salem — (UPI) — Dan W. Poling, Salem attorney and former Marion county Democratic chairman, has announced his candidacy for chairman of the state Democratic party. Poling said his aim would be to keep the harmony achieved by the late Dave Epps.
