

October 3 Big Day For Hunters; Deer Season Will Begin

Portland—It's a big day for some 250,000 Oregon nimrod come Saturday morning, Oct. 3, with the general state-wide deer season slated to open. Guns will begin ringing through the forest and range lands one-half hour before sunrise as hunters pull down on fast moving mule deer and elusive blacktail targets.

The general deer season is scheduled to run through Oct. 25 with an either-sex season for permit holders scheduled the last nine days. Only holders of permits may take either-sex deer, with each hunter restricted to the unit for which the permit was issued. General season tag holders may hunt for buck deer throughout the season.

Further restrictions are in order for the Silver Lake unit and the Wendling Basin unit. These two areas are scheduled for either-sex deer hunting during the entire season, Oct. 3 through 25, but are open to hunting only to those hunters holding permits for each respective area. Any hunter holding a Silver Lake permit may hunt in the Silver Lake unit, but only 800 McKenzie permit holders will be allowed in the Wendling Basin at one time. The two areas have been established as experimental units to determine the effects of either-sex deer hunting during the entire season.

Good Prospects

Prospects for hunters look exceptionally good, and if weather cooperates and hunters can score, the final tally when the season is over should again be around 100,000 animals. And, if past success ratios are any indication, a little over one-half of the hunters will have venison in the freezer at the season's end.

The best hunting areas for west side gunners will undoubtedly be along the fringe areas adjacent to the Willamette valley. Hunters will do well to search out the brushy ridges adjacent to agricultural lands or the isolated brush and timber pockets on the valley floor. Often a half-dozen or more skulking blacktails will be found in these brush patches, miles away from mountain ridges or timberlands.

The Tillamook burn is not expected to be a hot spot this year although a fair number of blacktails will be found throughout. Good producers, though, include the oak and conifer ridges of Polk county and the brush and brackentern slopes of the Alsea drainage.

Best bets in the south Willamette include the tree farms adjacent to Springfield, Eugene, and Cottage Grove and the fringe areas around Fern Ridge reservoir, north to Marys Peak.

To the south, the Applegate should produce many blacktails as should the Green Springs country and the Butte Falls area. Again, the brushy bottom lands will produce bouncing blacktails for those hunters who give the fringe areas a try.

The interstate looks like a hot spot in south central Oregon, as counts this spring show the interstate mule deer herd up considerably from a year ago. The consistent Klamath country will also be a top-notch producer.

Popular mid-central Oregon should be about on a par with last year with the better local areas around the Fort Rock area, the Maury mountains, Ochoco, and on north into Grizzly and Wheeler. Hunting pressure will undoubtedly be heavy in this popular hunting country, but individual hunter success will probably be lower than anywhere else in the state.

Consistent Success

Sled Springs and the Chenamus in northeastern Oregon should produce some excellent buck hunting, although Wallawa county throughout should be one of the top producers. Farther to the south, the Keating, Baker, and Beulah areas are expected to be good. This country and the Willows consistently produce the highest hunter success of anywhere in the state.

The high desert lands of the southeast include some of the best mule deer country in the state. The Malheur, Owyhee, Steens, and Whitehorse areas all have an abundance of mule deer with top buck hunting prospects in store for those who travel the high desert mesas. Hot spots in these areas include the Malheur drainage, the Mahogany mountains rimming the Owyhee reservoir, the Steens mountains both on the east and west sides, and the Pueblo, Trout Creek, and Whitehorse ranges within the Whitehorse unit.

It's a long jaunt into this country, but it will pay handsome dividends for those hunters who spend the time and effort in the rim-rocked desert canyons. Buck deer, big and bench-legged, are the rule rather than the exception.

Drag Racing Ends Season In Valley; Black Top Speeder

Drag racing activity for 1959 concluded last Sunday on the Camp White drag strip. Southern Oregon Timing association concluded another of organized speed trials and competition by sponsoring the annual Unite Fund races.

All proceeds of the meet will go to the United Medford Crusade and the Ashland-Talent Youth Fund.

With only a fair turnout of constantenists competing for meet honors times were fast and new records were established in six classes.

Noel Black, Medford dragster skipper, recorded the fastest time of the meet behind the wheel of the Roberts, Black and Medcalf A class dragster. Black toured the measured one-fourth mile strip twice in excess of 138 miles per hour; his best mark being 138.46 mph. This is the fastest time ever recorded by this machine, but because he was burning a special alcohol base fuel he was not eligible to compete for the top honors of the meet which must go to gasoline powered cars according to the rules of the drag strip.

With the Black, Roberts and Medcalf entry ineligible for top eliminator honors, several competition class winners vied for this trophy. Chuck Strawn's A cycle set 107.27 mph. Phil Miles B altered Chrysler-powered Ford coupe broke class records all day and finally ended the new class record holder at 109.83 mph. Zombie, the Buick-powered A competition coupe equalled its own strip record of 113.20 mph during the morning time trials. Ashlander Lou Wolff's quick-starting Ford-powered B dragster held at 111.24 mph.

As it turned out it was Wolff who challenged all and beat all for the coveted top eliminator gold. First he edged Strawn's cycle by less than a length, then dusted off the faster Zombie by getting a quick start out of the chute and staying ahead all the way, and finally eliminated the Miles altered coupe by building up an early lead and holding it through the time traps.

Little eliminator was Rex Clark, Redding, Calif., who skipped his 1940 Ford coupe powered by a supercharged Chevrolet engine past all comers and also won his class trophy and set a new class record in the B gas division of 109.63 mph. This speed is only a few miles off the national mark for this class. He broke the mark of 104.40 mph set at the championship meet two weeks ago by Dave Skeans, Vancouver, Wash.

Top time of the meet in the gas division went to the Southern Oregon Wheelers Zombie with a mark of 113.20 mph. This marked the fourth time of the season that Zombie has equalled its own record.

Many of the local and regional drag racing fans will be traveling to Redding, Calif., on Sunday, Oct. 18, to participate in the final meet of the season in northern California.

LSU Keeps Top Spot In Ratings

New York—(UPI)—Louisiana State's defending national college football champions retained the No. 1 spot in the United Press International ratings today with Northwestern and Iowa, a pair of Big Ten powers, second and third.

The first big week of the season produced a shakeout of the leading teams in the ratings of the 35 leading coaches who comprise the UPI board. Beside Northwestern and Iowa, two teams which made big advances in the second weekly rankings were Southern California and Notre Dame.

LSU, which has yielded only three points to its opponents in winning its first two games, was the No. 1 choice of 25 coaches on the 35-member UPI rating board. The Tigers' total of 330 points also was 87 more than Northwestern's.

Army was ranked fourth behind Iowa and Mississippi was fifth, followed in order by Southern California, Clemson, Texas and Wisconsin, with Notre Dame and Ohio State tied for 10th place.

Northwestern, which drubbed an Oklahoma team recovering from food poisoning, 45-13, was the top choice of six coaches; Iowa, 42-12 conqueror of California, attracted two first-place ballots. Southern Cal and Texas each received one.

The ratings are bound to be shaken up more following next week end's games. Northwestern and Iowa clash in a meeting of the No. 2 and 3 teams. LSU plays Baylor Army meets Illinois, while Southern California and Ohio State clash Friday night in another of this week's leading games. Clemson takes on 12th-ranked Georgia Tech.

Georgia Tech headed this week's second 10 group in 12th place, followed in order by Tennessee, Syracuse, Navy, Georgia, Indiana, Oklahoma, Purdue and Penn State.

Other teams which received votes were: Air Force Academy, Texas Christian, South Carolina, UCLA, Auburn, Florida, Washington and Arkansas.

Five Area Athletes Duck Frosh

Eugene—(UPI)—One of the "finest groups" of freshmen athletes to enroll at Oregon in years started fall classes Monday.

Athletic Director Leo Harris said the number of frosh athletes on hand "further enhances our feeling we have a bright future ahead of us."

The football enrollment includes some of the top line men in the West, led by prep all-American Mickey Ordling of Richmond, Calif., Ron Snidow of San Rafael, all-northern California player of the year, and Dennis Prozinski of Portland's Jefferson high school.

The backs are led by Duane Cargill of Springfield; Jack Shanley, younger brother of ex-Cub ace Jim Shanley, from North Bend, and Walt Hunter, speedster from Marshfield.

The Frosh basketball list is headed by Gordon Scott, 6-5, of Astoria; Dave Ross, 6-4, from Cleveland of Portland; all-stater Tom Tuttle, 5-11, from Sioux City, Iowa; Everett Jackson of Los Angeles, and Bill Turner of Myrtle Point.

Frosh baseball enrollees include pitchers Dennis Barr of Medford, George Spencer of Lincoln, Ron Stevens of Jefferson, John Livingston of Glide and Larry Kincheol of Twin Falls, Idaho. Others include catcher Bob Pond of Medford, infielders Ken Scales of Lincoln and Eric Hardin of Parkrose, and outfielders Henry Mendazona of Adrian and Ron Peery of Medford.

The Frosh track list is topped by Vic Reeve, a 4.11 prep miler from South Burnaby, Calif.; Dave Steen, a shot putter from the same school; weight man Mike Murray of Medford; javelin thrower John Burns of Central Point; and sprinters Bill Jensen of Eagle Point and Cal Jensen of Boise, J.C.

Lee Flinks Low Gross In Tourney

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Flink with a 79 took low net honors yesterday in the "Me and Mine" golf tourney for husbands and wives at Rogue Valley Country club.

Low net laurels were claimed by Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Gasteau with a 70.

Second low gross were Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Simmons with an 82 and Dr. and Mrs. William Miller were next with an 84. Runners-up in low net were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Scroggins with 70 1/2. Net scores also included Mr. and Mrs. Deane Lambert 71. Mr. and Mrs. Dick Knight 72 1/2 and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hogan and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Reventeria 75 1/2 each.

Mickelson Have 65

Low net for non-established handicap players were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mickelson with a 65.

Long drive prizes for women were won by Mrs. Miller for low handicappers and Mrs. Lambert for high handicappers and Mrs. Scroggins took closest to the pin for high handicappers.

Russ Acheson nabbed long drive and KP awards for men low handicappers. For high handicap men Galen Sanner had long drive and Walt Shaylor was closest to the pin.

Fall Handicap Starts at RV

Men's fall handicap golf tournament play at Rogue Valley Country club began Saturday and will continue through Nov. 8.

Men will play 54 holes, three rounds of 18.

Harry Withrow is defending champion.

Several members of RVCC are participants in the Centennial Open in Portland. Clayton Lewis, Deane Lambert and Dr. Robert Buck were entrants in amateur qualifying play today. Lee Flink will vie in the pro-amateur on Wednesday and club pro Ron Caperna will play in the pro-am and the regular tourney starting Thursday.

California Hunt Gets Eight Deer

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baker, 128 South Keene Way dr., Medford, were members of a hunting party which killed eight buck deer Saturday in the Marbles area of Scotts Valley in California.

Baker said that the group brought back three forked horns, three three-pointers and two large four-point bucks. He reported that the party hunted in a hard rain storm at 7,000 feet elevation, above timberline.

The group of eight hunters included Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Baker, son and daughter-in-law of the Medford couple.

Eugene, Ore.—(UPI)—Len Casanova drilled his charges on defense today.
