

Morse Charges First Session Was Inadequate

Portland—(UP)—Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) said Thursday night that work of the first session of the 86th Congress was "totally inadequate for the times."

Morse charged that "retrenchment has been the watchword of the Eisenhower administration, and the Democratic Congress has not had the fortitude to offer anything else."

The senior senator, who arrived in his home state earlier in the day, said: "We must have a reversal of the policy of national retrenchment and have it soon, if we are to avoid that grave in which Khrushchev once said Communism is going to bury us."

Morse particularly cited failure of Congress to act on education, civil rights, tax reform, minimum wage, World Court and farm and natural resource legislation.

Morse planned to speak at a luncheon meeting in Eugene and tonight at a meeting of the University of Oregon Foreign Relations club.

He will hold a series of conferences in Eugene Saturday morning and attend the Oregon-WSU football game in the afternoon. He plans to drive to Bend after the game and remain there until Monday. He will go from Bend to Pendleton and then fly to Cleveland later Monday to address a labor group. He plans to go from Cleveland to Milwaukee.
