Grange Notes

Applegate Grange
A potluck dinner, a "country store" and a program with a Centennial theme are planned by Upper Applegate Grange for Friday, Oct. 9, at 7 p.m.
Those attending are to bring table service and a food donation. Mrs. Edna G. Sawyer is home economics chairman.
Gold Hill Grange
An evening filled with many interests was participated in by members of Gold Hill Grange present with two visiting Grangers, Millie Walker of Live Oak and Master Herman Kamping of Griffin Creek Grange, at their regular meeting Thursday, Oct. 1.
The business meeting was called to order by Master Charles Foote. The charter was draped for Cecil B. Johnson, who was a charter member of Gold Hill Grange.
This is the second time in the last few weeks that the charter has been draped, the other time in memory of Carrie Puhl, who was also a charter member of the Gold Hill Grange.
Members were entertained by dancers from the Colleen Hope studio. The children, Debbie Taylor and Ricky Korner, live in Central Point and were accompanied by their mothers.
Also on the program were a couple of readings, "Today" by Leona Jenks and "Safety, First and Last" by Dorothy Eskew.
The Grange voted to receive Stanley and Ramona Foley as members.
Regarding agriculture, several members stated that there had already been frosts in the valley.
A. A. Walker gave some information on flood control and the different aspects of reclamation of the Rogue basin, and the Grange voted to stand back of this project.
Herman Kamping, insurance agent, reported on insurance rates, and the cost of rural fire protection. In regard to this last, the Grange is now circulating petitions to secure rural protection.
Don Morrow sent in a request to use the dining room for a breakfast to be put on by the Gold Hill Lions club Nov. 1. This request was granted.
Plans are in progress for the booster night program to be held at the hall Monday, Oct. 12.
Kamping also stated Griffin Creek is having its booster night Oct. 22.
Refreshments were served by the A. A. Walkers.
